PREFACE

This book on the descendants of Dr. John Viets of Simsbury, Connecticut, is a compilation of information collected by three different descendants of three different generations: Francis Hubbard Viets, Harriet Isabella Viets, and Dorothy Dean (Viets) Schell.

Francis Hubbard Viets, 1854-1934, was a minister in the Congregational denomination. [See No. 338.] In the preface to his 1902 genealogy of the Viets family he wrote:

> . . . A genealogy is made up largely of names and dates, but this need not indicate that such a work is dry and meaningless. A name with two dates standing as sentinels, the one at the gate of entrance into life, the other at the gate of exit, means much. A name stands for a life with its joys, sorrows, labors, hopes. A mother as she gave the dates of the birth and death of her boy burst into tears; a love was there, a hope, yes, a life, whose history no pen can trace, which only the heart knows. . . .
> . . . Research has been made to learn as much as possible about the early fathers of the Viets family. Town and probate records have been searched, old letters and other papers have been brought forth to testify, gravestones have been conferred with, the oldest living members of the family have been consulted, and every available source of information resorted to. Only one thing is lacking to make the record of early generations complete and perfect in every instance, and that is some means by which the departed may be made to speak. . . .

Harriet Isabella Viets, 1874-1953, shouldered the task of carrying the Viets family history onward from 1902. [See No. 603.] The name on her birth and death registrations was "Harriet Isabella." However, she was known as "Isabel" to her family. Many of her letters were addressed to "H. Isabel." She collected much data, wrote many letters to descendants, but did not reach her goal of publishing before her death in 1953. She followed the style set forth in the 1902 history, starting at the beginning of that book, correcting errors, adding her new material, and continuing the generations. She was very accurate and organized. Before her death she had produced a manuscript beautifully hand-printed down through the sixth generation. In her research material, each line was written up and sorted by families, then filed along with the letters written to her. In her papers she had amassed almost complete data to carry the manuscript forward to about 1950.

She left a tiny spiral notebook in which she had quickly dashed off in pencil a rough draft of a preface. In this she expressed some of her feelings about her manuscript:

> After a visit to Newgate Prison and the home of Capt. John Viets in 1935 the compiler became more deeply interested in the Viets family. After a few months I felt that the Genealogy that had been published in 1902 should be written up to date as there was much to be added in 36 years. Consequently the following year the work of doing this was begun.

Among her research notes were many newspaper clippings of births, marriages, deaths, etc., many of them having been sent to her by various relatives. It seems to be a fact of life that most clippings of this nature have neither a date, nor the name of the publication where they were published!

Dorothy Dean (Viets) Schell, 1919-____: [See No. 857.] I became interested in my Viets heritage in the 1970s. I collected much material and in 1982 published a book on my direct line back to Dr. John Viets. [See Schell in the Bibliography.] Having delved into the early history of the family I took a trip to Connecticut and, like Frank Hubbard Viets and Harriet Isabella before me, visited Newgate Prison and the other areas where our ancestors lived. And the rest is history - presented between these covers.

My greatest pleasure was when Charles Kingsbury, a Viets' descendant living in East Granby, Connecticut, presented me with the mass of material that his great aunt, Harriet Isabella Viets, had left to him. This launched me on the monumental task of extending the Viets history a few more generations.

Since I had two compilers before me I tried to follow their plan as closely as possible. I know that a genealogy can never be complete, especially when there is no real beginning or end. The end seems to be when one lays down the pen for the last time (or in this modern age, turns off the computer for the last time). My biggest regret is that not every member of the family is interested in his or her heritage, and that dozens (hundreds?) of my letters have gone unanswered.

H. Isabel Viets planned to carry the female lines down two, or even three generations. I soon found that the inclusion of all the material amassed by her on some female lines was impossible. The reasons for this are several. The primary deterrents were economy and space. Had I included this material the book would have had to be published in two volumes and at a much greater expense. Since many female lines have not been traced I felt that to be fair to all families, the second and third female generations should not be included. [At a later time I plan to print copies of the data on the female lines and see that it is deposited in appropriate libraries.]

To emphasize this point I would like to quote Laird C. Towle, Ph.D., from Heritage Book News, No. 44.:

> Books showing the descendants of some early couple are usually of interest provided they begin at an early time. The best books of this type follow the male lines only, but for many generations and very completely. Such books should be limited to the male lines because that format makes the books much more useful. When female lines are included, they quickly outnumber the male lines and the book ends up containing hundreds of surnames which cannot possibly be listed on the spine of the book or in a library card catalog. The result is that the female-line data is effectively lost to future researchers. In addition, the inclusion of female lines almost always makes the book so big that it is extremely expensive, and most book buyers do not appreciate having to pay for a lot of data that doesn't interest them.

A statement must be made about the documentation for this book. Because much of the early part of the book comes from the 1902 Viets family history that part is poorly documented. Francis Hubbard Viets listed no specific references. H. Isabel Viets likewise failed to supply many references. She occasionally did quote from a book, and these, for the most part, I have left intact. They both, like me, wrote many letters to descendants, so that much of the data comes from the families themselves.

As I researched I added to the data of the early generations and documented some of the work of the other two researchers. I have added short references to much of my own work. The complete references can be found in the bibliography at the end of the book. In my opinion many references would clutter a book of this type and would be of no consequence to the reader. Therefore some have been omitted.

This has been truly a labor of love. I have had much pleasure in getting to know some of you, either in person or by correspondence. Some neglected to answer my pesky, prying letters, and that is their prerogative. I apologize for the "holes" or missing data in this tale of the Viets family. I assure you I tried to leave no stone unturned for documenting membership in the family. And I shall keep trying long after this book is published.

My best "friend" during the production of this book has been my trusty computer (a horse-and-buggy era Apple II+) without which I would never have attempted such an awesome job. I feel a very close kinship with both Francis Hubbard Viets and H. Isabel Viets. They both did very creditable jobs for which I am very grateful. I can but wonder what they would think of this "computer" age in which we live. It would have simplified their jobs immensely.

Since I know that some of you will read my book looking for errors, I have included a few. These I hope, are not too numerous. In this type of book, with many dates, some given from memory by older descendants, and the copying of material from many sources, mistakes are inevitable. When you find an error I ask that you call it to my attention so that the record may be corrected.

I gratefully acknowledge the help of each and everyone of you who sent material on your families. I could not have done it without you. A big thank you to those who sent detailed material on entire lines of the family. I have made a special effort to give credit to them by including their names with the appropriate sections in the book.

I would also like to express my appreciation to Mary Jane Springman and Betty Finnell Guinan, authors of "East Granby, the Evolution of a Connecticut Town" for permission to quote from their book.

I would never have undertaken this task without the help of two people. First, I would like to thank my husband, Stewart C. Schell, for his great patience. He assumed the running of our household to free my time for the preparation of "the book." He also accompanied me on many researching trips where I spent endless hours in libraries, court houses and cemeteries.

Secondly, I must acknowledge the great help from my genealogical colleague, Kathleen Peck Probasco. Her constant encouragement, her superb editorial ability, and her diligent proofreading made the whole thing possible. Thanks, Kathy, we have reached our goal!

EXPLANATION

This book is written in the same format as the 1902 Viets genealogy, using the numbering system of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, known as the "Register Plan": the number 1 is assigned to the earliest person (Dr. John Viets). His spouse is not given a number. Their children are assigned Roman numerals starting with "i" to indicate birth order. Children who marry are assigned linking arabic numbers. (In a few cases unmarried members have been written up in the following generation also.) I have deviated a bit from the "Register Plan" by not giving arabic numbers to any children who died young or for whom I had little or no data. These were not carried to the next generation. Thus each child listed who has an arabic number in front of his or her name will be found under that number in the next generation.

I have omitted the Viets surname from the listing of the children of a male Viets. The surname of the children of a female member of the family is included and underlined. I continued the practice of H. Isabel Viets of omitting "Connecticut" after the name of a town in that state unless I felt the omission may cause confusion.

Please note that there are variations in the spelling of the Viets name. Descendants of Herbert Leon Viets of Suffield, Connecticut, preferred to spell the name Vietts and some descendants of Russell Viets of Southington, Ohio, choose to spell it Veits. All given names, regardless of the spelling of the surname, are listed alphabetically in the index.

ABBREVIATIONS

AFN# - Individual's number, Ancestral File (Computer), Family History Library, Salt Lake City, Utah.
ca - circa, Latin for "about."
FHF# - Microfilm reel number, Family History Library, Salt Lake City, Utah.
FHM# - Microfiche number, Family History Library, Salt Lake City, Utah.
FHV, HIV, DVS - the material refers specifically to one of the three compilers: Frank Hubbard Viets, H. Isabel Viets, Dorothy Viets Schell.
IGI - International Genealogical Index of the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) Church. This contains approximately 120,000,000 entries for vital records, christenings, marriages, etc.
LDS Branch Library - libraries at local churches of the Latter Day Saints. These have the complete catalog for all material in the Family History Library in Salt Lake City; microfilms may be rented for reading in the branch library.
[sic] - indicates a word that appears to be spelled erroneously is correct.
Viets Genealogy - 1902 book published by Francis Hubbard Viets.
VR - Vital records. With a town name, indicates taken from town hall records. "Barbour" - the Barbour Collection, abstracts of most Connecticut town records of births, marriages, and deaths from colonial days to 1850. These are at the Connecticut State Library and on microfilm in many genealogical libraries including the Family History Library in Salt Lake City, Utah. "Hale" - the Charles R. Hale collections of cemetery inscriptions, 1640s to ca 1934, and of newspaper notices of deaths and marriages ca 1750s to 1900 abstracted from about ninety Connecticut newspapers. These are also on film as above.

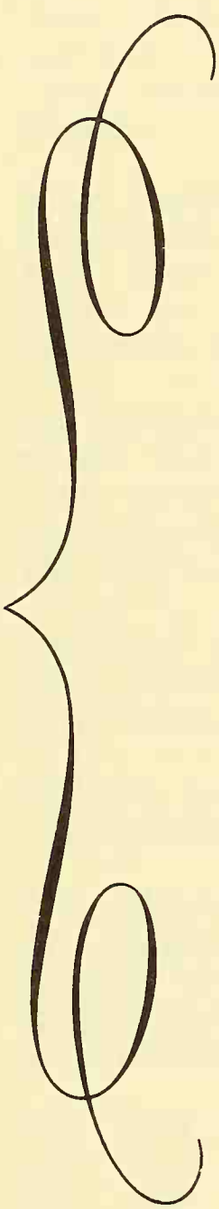
Lyrics written by Duane W. Griffin, a Viets descendant, to be sung to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne" at the Viets reunions:

AULD LANG SYNE

(New Version)



More than two hundred years ago,
The Vietses landed here;
And soon had made their humble home,
In this west hemisphere;
We, their descendants who remain,
Their memory would revive;
And keep it ever fresh and green,
That it may always live.

If farmers keep a pedigree,
Of horses, sheep and cows;
And even hens and pigs record,
And some their fine bow-wows;
Should relatives be soon forgot,
And never brought to mind?
If animals we prize so dear,
Why not the human kind?

Such "thoroughbreds" we value not,
For them we've little use.
Of ancestors alone we boast,
And offer no excuse;
For of our "stock" we are most proud,
We will not sell or trade,
Nor will we ever mix our blood,
With that of lower grade.

Nay, we will never more forget,
Our kin of long ago.
But tell of all their noble deeds,
And all their virtues too.
For blood like this we're proud to say
Now in our veins doth flow;
So this our fame, to bear the name,
If not--the nature show.

Name - Origin and Spelling

Among the nations of modern Europe, family names may in some cases be traced back as far as the tenth century. In early times each individual bore one name only, which, after the coming of Christianity, was usually given at baptism. The surname or overname (so called from the fact that it was at first written over the given name) like most innovations came into general use slowly.

When surnames came into use they were often found ready at hand in the occupation, place of residence, or some characteristic of the persons to whom they were given. The origin of such names as Tanner, Carpenter, and Smith needs no explanation. Some names had their origin in words no longer in use in common speech or in a forgotten dialect, and are more difficult to trace.

The origin of the name Viets may be looked for among the dialects included under the general term German or Teutonic. It seems probable, if not certain, that this name is from an old Teutonic given name Veit or Viet, which corresponds with the common English name Guy, a shorter form of Guido and of the same origin and meaning as the word guide.

Adelung in his Dictionary of the High German Dialect gives the following: Veit, Latin Vitus, a man's given name of ancient German origin, and contracted from Guido.

Calisch, an eminent scholar in Holland, informs us that Veit and Guy are corresponding Dutch and English forms of the same name.

The original meaning of the word Viet can only be inferred from the meanings of kindred words. The Gothic vitan, meaning to take heed; the Anglo-Saxon witan, to know; the English wit, the German witz, meaning wit, acuteness, good sense; the Latin video, to see; and the English guide are all akin, both in form and meaning.

The word Viet came to be used as a boy's given name, the original meaning of the word being at length lost sight of. This name gained wide currency from the fact that it was borne by a distinguished saint who died a boy martyr in the reign of Diocletian in the fourth century, known in Germany as Saint Veit, or Viet; in Latin, St. Vitus. Though he died in youth, such was his fame for good works that he became the Patron Saint of Saxony and Bohemia and throughout Germany was regarded in the popular superstition as one of the fourteen helpers in time of need. Evidence of the esteem in which he was held is seen in names of places, there being as many as four towns named St. Veit, also a St. Veitsberg and a St. Veit's mountain, and in Bavaria a place named Veitshocheim; while on the borders of Holland and Germany there is said to be a place called Veit's Flat. From the belief that this saint could cure the dancing malady, the disease came to be called St. Vitus' dance; in Germany Veitstanz. His day on the calendar was June 15th, hence the garden bean, which began to be edible about this time, was called in some regions the Veits bean. Among old German proverbs are: "Holy St. Veit, wake me in time, wake me neither too early nor too late; wake me when it strikes five." and "Rain on St. Veit's day brings a fruitful year."

The name St. Veit is sometimes spelled St. Viet in German, and in the high German of the Middle Ages was pronounced the same as Viet in Modern German.

Veit or Viet, in use for centuries as a common name, came at length to be applied as the surname of a family. How this came about is a matter of conjecture. St. was dropped from the name in the course of time and a final s added. In modern high German the correct spelling of the name as we pronounce it is Viet and Viets, for ie in modern German is pronounced ee while ei is pronounced i.

The father of John and Henry Viets spelled his name John Viet, or Viett, while in the records of the old Dutch Church in New York his name is written Veet. On the same records is also recorded the name of one Margrita Veets, who was sponsor at a baptism in 1702 and again in 1734. On the gravestone of the widow of Dr. John in Simsbury, the name is written Vets. This is the phonetic spelling of some stonecutter, as Phelps is sometimes spelled Felps in old records. John and Henry, the sons of Dr. John, added s to the name Viett, as the father wrote it, making it Vietts. A few years later one t was dropped, and the name since about 1750 has been written Viets by the descendants of John and Henry, with few exceptions. [Several families in Ohio spell it Veits.] The fact that this is the spelling of the name in public and family records, and in the almost unvarying usage of branches of the family widely separated from Nova Scotia to California, is good reason for preserving it without change.

Dr. Henry Viets of Boston, who visited Holland some years ago, met a Jan Viets who told him that he never heard the name outside of Holland - that in the vicinity where he lived there were many of the name. Also at the time of Princess (later Queen) Juliana's sojourn in Ottawa during World War II, a member of her household informed Robert Viets who lived close by that there were many "Wietses" in the Netherlands.

Family Characteristics

One of the speakers at a Viets' reunion named characteristics of the family as honesty, modesty, and oddity. The family is characterized by industrious and home-abiding qualities and by abhorrence of vice and crime. Those of this name are, as a rule, deliberate, just, and fair minded.

Historical View

Simsbury was settled about 1664 and became a town in 1670. The first settler was John Griffin, who came there to manufacture tar and turpentine from the pine woods. In 1786 the northern half of Simsbury was set off as a separate town under the name of Granby, and included the district of old Simsbury known as the Falls. In 1859 East Granby was set off from Granby. The center lies east of the mountain. The district known as "The Falls" is west of the mountain in the extreme southwestern part of the town, and enjoys the eminence of being the earliest settled portion of East Granby, as it was of the mother town of Simsbury. In 1709 there were but two families living within the limits of the present town of East Granby, and these were the families of John Griffin and Joshua Holcomb, both living at the Falls. The next year, 1710, marked the advent of Dr. John Viets, who settled at the Falls, then a part of Simsbury. From his two sons have sprung all of the Viets' name in Connecticut, probably in New England, and most of those in the entire United States.

FIRST GENERATION

1. (Dr. John[1])

Possibly the earliest written colonial record of Dr. John Viets, the progenitor of the Viets family in America, is the following marriage notation from the First Dutch Reformed Church of New York City, now the Marble Collegiate church:

> A 1700 Apr. 24 Johannes Veet, j.m. Van Brisach, in Sweden, en Catherina Meyers, j.d. Van N. Yorck, beyde woonende alhier. ["Marriage Records from 1639 to 1801 in the Reformed Dutch Church," New York Genealogical and Biographical Record.]

J.m. and j.d. are the Dutch abbreviations for "young man" and "young woman" respectively, indicating that this is likely the first marriage for each; "beyde woonende alhier" translates as "both living here," i.e., New York City. Notice of the marriage, bearing a slightly different date, is also found in the public records of the province of New York:

> April 27, 1700, John Veet and Catharine Meyers.

It is the consensus of most researchers that John Viets was a German, and that the Viets family is of German origin, despite the fact that the church marriage record states that he was from Sweden. No "Brisach" has been located in Sweden, while there is a Breisach in the state of Baden, Germany. It seems likely that "Sweden" was erroneously entered for "Schwaben" which is a term used to designate an area of Baden-Wuerttemberg.

Breisach is on the Rhine in the Duchy of Baden, Germany. The family traditions point to Germany, never to Sweden. The library of Dr. John Viets, if we may trust the appraisers of his estate, was in the German language.

It should, however, be mentioned that in one branch of the family there is a tradition that Dr. Viets came from Holland. In the material written by H. Isabel Viets appears the following:

1950 Reunion [of the Viets Family]

> A letter was read from a professor in Holland who wrote Mrs. Thomas W. Viets of East Granby, while she was Secretary last year in the Dean's office at Dartmouth College. Mrs. Viets had signed a letter which he received, and being struck by her name, he wrote to tell her that the town where he lives was populated to a great extent by people of that name (Viets). All of the businesses were run by them and "they were upright, honest, trustworthy citizens."

> Since the spelling of the name is the same as that which is used by our family it seems to have some bearing on the discussion which is raised at intervals as to the origin of our ancestor, Dr. John Viets.
>
> It is my opinion that Dr. John Viets was a native of Holland and went to Germany to study medicine as many others have always done. After finishing his course he took a sea voyage before returning to Holland.

A descendant of Dr. John Viets, Frank Garfield Viets Jr. of Fort Collins, Colorado, wrote to Dorothy Viets Schell in 1975:

> . . . The country of his [Dr. John's] origin appears to be rather uncertain, but I am sure it was from one of the provinces in what we now call the Netherlands or West Germany. I have been around Wageningen and Arnhem in the Netherlands several times and noted that the name Viets is rather common and has identical spelling. . . .

In addition to the records of their marriage, other documentation can be found for their presence in New York. Church records of 1704 reveal that Catharine Vietts, listed as wife of Dr. John Vietts, took her first communion in the Lutheran Church of New York City. A sad notice in the same church records appears on July 11, 1706: Johann Viett's little son Lucas, born 19 June 1705 buried in our church here in New York. [Stryker-Rodda, New York Genealogical and Biographical Journal, v. 104 and 105.]

After carefully weighing such evidence as we possess, this may be said with confidence: John Viets or Viett was born in Germany, possibly in Holland, at a date not far removed from 1665; received more than a common education; studied medicine; came to America about 1690; brought with him to this country fifteen books in the German language, which in those days was a library; was entitled "Mr." which, as the term was used at the time, indicates that he belonged to the better class, and was a man of respectability and enterprise. Judging from his descendants, and from the race to which he belonged, we may picture him as a man of even features, good looks, physical force, and fair intellectual ability.

There is a tradition handed down by Mrs. George Viets, wife of Capt. George, which runs as follows:

> John Viets was a good linguist, able to read and write several languages; on completing his studies in Germany, including medicine, he took a sea voyage for pleasure and travel, and came to New York; three times he undertook to return to the Fatherland, but was shipwrecked and driven back on the American coast each time, and was thus led to the conclusion that Providence decreed that he should settle in this country.

A similar tradition is from Mrs. Andrew Clark, a great-granddaughter of Henry Viets I. She adds that the shipwrecked members "lived ten days on fish caught and roasted in the sun; a vessel laden with mahogany rescued them, but the captain and mate dying soon after of a fever, Dr. Viets, with such knowledge of navigation as he possessed, managed to bring the vessel into New York harbor."

That John Viets came first to New York and lived there several years, there is no doubt. There he married his wife, and there two or three of his children were born and one son, Lucas, died and was buried. He must have found in the mixed population of the place many of his own countrymen, the Germans, although the greater part of the inhabitants were English and Dutch.

He was probably led to remove to Connecticut by the same motives which are ever urging people to change their residence, the pursuit of fortune and a better place for himself and family.

The copper mines in Simsbury had been discovered a few years before Dr. Viets settled there, and made the place famous both in this country and in Europe, but there is no evidence that he ever was in any way connected with these mines. The statement made in a local history that he was connected with a company of German miners as physician and surgeon is undoubtedly without foundation, for his arrival antedated that of the German miners by eleven years. Residing as he did about three miles from the mines he may have been summoned there in cases of sickness or accident among the miners.

The earliest written reference to our ancestor in Connecticut is found in the Simsbury town records, under date Dec. 18, 1710, when the following vote was recorded: "Mr. Viett admitted to become an inhabitant here in Simsbury." This was the way newcomers were naturalized: by a vote of the freemen at a town meeting. The next reference to him is under date Jan. 5, 1711, eighteen days after he was admitted to citizenship, when the heirs of Sergeant John Griffin deeded to "Mr. John Viett, now resident of Simsbury, a certain piece and parcel of land situated within the township of Simsbury, at Samon Brokks, near the Falls, somewhat northerly of Thomas Griffin's house where said Thomas now dwells, and northeastward of said Thomas Griffin's field. . . . The said parcel of land is 11 acres, 3 roods, 8 perches, be it a little more or a little less."

By "Samon Brokks" is meant Salmon Brook, a name applied in that day to the region bordering on the brook of that name, and extending from the Farmington River at Tariffville, northward into the present town of Granby. The land referred to could not have been a great distance from the intersection of the Granby and Simsbury roads a mile north of Tariffville. Here our forefather settled, and built, unless there were buildings on the place when he received it from the Griffins (the deed mentions none). December 11, 1712, he was "granted liberty by the town to keep a house of public entertainment for the year ensuing."

The next reference to him bears date April 9, 1713, when he mortgaged the land received from the Griffin family to Mrs. Hannah Merriman of Windsor, "with the dwelling-house, linseed-oil mill, and other buildings standing thereon for the sum of ten pounds current money." In April 1723, a few months before his death, he received a grant of eighty-two acres of land from the town. This land was bounded "on the north by the highway leading from Salmon Brook mill towards Windsor, and on the west by William Hays' and Joseph Lamson's land."

In the probated inventory of Dr. John Viets' estate are articles which show that he was a man of sufficient enterprise to have provided himself with the implements in use in those days. This inventory mentions seventy-eight acres of land, part of a building, and lumber, but has no reference to any other real estate. From this it may be inferred that he had disposed of his home place, and was beginning to build on his new grant of land.

Dr. Viets died in middle life, it is said of a fever. He left a widow and family of children, the oldest of whom was perhaps sixteen years of age and the youngest eleven. There are three records of his death: the Hartford probate record, the Simsbury town record, and the record made by his son, Henry. These agree except that the two official records write the name Viett, while the son, who probably made a note of his father's death some years later, wrote the name Vietts. He died in Simsbury, November 18, 1723. The grave cannot be found, as no stone marks the spot. The most probable conjecture is that his remains lie in the Simsbury burying ground, for there his wife is buried. Her stone bears the inscription: Catron Vets, ye wife of Dct. John Vets, died March 5, 1734, Ae. 68. This gives 1666 as the date of her birth. Her son, Henry, leaves a record of her death as occurring on March 6th, as does the town record. Children:

i. Lucas, born January 19, 1705, in New York City; died there July 11, 1706.

2. ii. Catherine.

3. iii. Henry, b. 1709.

4. iv. Mary.

5. v. John, b. November 3, 1712.

6. vi. Benoni, born December 7, 1714. Illegitimate son of Margaret Wilcoxson, raised in the family of Dr. John Viets and given the name of Viets. [See Appendix A.]

SECOND GENERATION

2. (Catherine[2], John[1])

Catherine Viets, daughter of Dr. John and Catherine (Meyers) Viets, was probably born in New York City, date unknown. She married on August 17, 1738 John Hoskins of Windsor, born there December 5, 1701, son of John and his second wife, Ruth Atkins. According to Stiles' History of Ancient Windsor he was fourth in descent from John Hoskins who came to Dorchester, Massachusetts, in the Mary and John in 1630 and was made a freeman in 1631. He appears to have been past the middle age of life on his arrival and was called "Goodman." He removed to Windsor probably with the first party and was there called John Hoskins, Sr. Lands were granted to him in 1640; he was a delegate to the Connecticut General Court in 1637. He died in 1648.

There being several John Hoskins in Windsor, the John who married Catherine Viets was called John II and was distinguished from the others on the Windsor Church baptismal records as "of this [i.e., the main] Street." He died in 1765; his widow died on November 8, 1776. Children [VR, Windsor]:

i. John Hoskins, born May 5, 1740; supposed to have died young. A John Hoskins in 9th Co., 1st Regiment 1758, died in 1765. This may have been he.

ii. David Hoskins, born and baptized May 24, 1741; settled in Colebrook in 1771.

iii. Simeon Hoskins, born January 1 and baptized January 2, 1742/3; married Phoebe _____. Two daughters, Nancy and Polly. Nancy was baptized by Rev. Roger Viets in Scotland [Bloomfield] on September 11, 1768.

iv. Daniel Hoskins, baptized September 9, 1744; settled in Colebrook in 1771.

v. Mary Hoskins, born January 31 and baptized February 1, 1746/7; married David Viets, May 24, 1764 at "Henry Viets' in Turkey Hills by Rev. Roger Viets." [See No. 9.]

vi. Ezekiel Hoskins, born January 3, 1748; married about 1775 Elizabeth Skinner of Simsbury. She may have been the daughter of David and Elizabeth (Ellsworth) Skinner who was born 1750 and married about 1775. Five children (Hoskins).

vii. Catherine Hoskins, born September 16, 1750; died at the age of 15 years.

viii. Benjamin Hoskins, born December 7, 1752; died in infancy.

ix. Benjamin Hoskins, born December 25 and baptized December 30, 1753; died unmarried.

3. (Henry^2, John^1)

Henry Viets was born in 1709, probably in New York, and came to Simsbury in 1710 with his parents, Dr. John and Catherine Viets. He obtained a practical education. His account book, still in a good state of preservation, was last known to be in the custody of his descendant Jonathan M. Viets of Bryan, Ohio. It shows that Henry was a good penman and accountant. He made use of Latin expressions, which he may have learned as a lad from his father. On the first page of the old book may still be seen the following: Henry, alias Henricus Viett, of Simsbury, Connecticut, his book of accounts or accompts, 1729. Henry Viets and his brother John are both said to have been stout, strong young fellows and given to practical jokes, as was the case with young men in the frontier settlements in those days.

Henry, after the death of his father, which took place when he was but thirteen years old, was for a time connected with the copper mining industry at Newgate. He soon, however, came into possession of considerable real estate, and settled down in the northern part of the town, at what is now the little village of Copper Hill, where he was a shoemaker as well as a farmer. Henry's house is no longer standing. The home now on this property was built by Henry's son, James, and stayed in the family until 1915.

Henry Viets married first, September 22, 1735 Margaret Hoskins of Windsor, daughter of John and Ruth (Atkins) Hoskins (and sister of his brother-in-law, John Hoskins). She was born May 10, 1712 and died September 28, 1750. He married second, May 22, 1751 Margaret Austin of Suffield, born March 5, 1712/13, daughter of John and Agnes (King) Austin. [Ancestral File, Family History Library, #AFN:4KMR-44.] She died October 15, 1783. Children, by first marriage:

7. i. Henry, born January 13, 1737.
8. ii. Margaret, born May 9, 1739.
iii. Luke, born June 17, 1743; accidentally shot and killed in October 1757 while hunting in Becket, Massachusetts.
9. iv. David, born February 18, 1746.
10. v. Jonathan, born September 26, 1750.

By second marriage:

11. vi. James, born August 28, 1752.

4. (Mary^2, John^1)

Mary Viets, daughter of Dr. John and Catherine (Meyers) Viets, was probably born in New York City (date unknown). She married in October 1732 Ephraim Goff (or Goffe), born March 4, 1699, son of Moses and Mercy Goff. His grandfather, Philip Goff, was the first of the name in Wethersfield. He settled there before 1649 and built the first house within the present bounds of Rocky Hill in 1655. After the death of his father Ephraim chose his cousin, Philip Goff, to be his guardian in 1714. Ephraim died in 1744 and the administration of his estate was granted to the widow and to Aaron Goff [Hartford County Probate Records, XIV, p. 54].

From Capt. John Viets' account book [Archives, Manuscript Collection, Connecticut State Library] it appears that some of the Goff family (and perhaps all) went to live with Capt. John and family. Mention is made of Mary and David who worked for him. David Goff began working for his uncle December 18, 1754 when he was sixteen years of age. One account between Capt. John and Mary indicates that she was about to be married, as numerous items of expensive clothing as well as an elaborate pillion are mentioned. Whether this "Mary" was his sister or his niece is not known. Children [VR, Wethersfield]:

i. Ephraim Goff, Jr., born January 11, 1734.
ii. Mercy Goff, born June 22, 1735.
iii. Mary Goff, born January 24, 1737.
iv. David Goff, born May 9, 1738. He married Mary _____ and had at least three daughters and one son. The daughters were: Irene, born January 9, 1770; Sarah, born February 10, 1771; and Esther, born November 10, 1772.

David Goffe joined the 1st Church in Winchester in 1772 by profession, and afterwards his wife Mary was admitted into full communion. He is occasionally named on the records as holding subordinate town offices - one being a surveyor of highways.

v. Jacob Goff, born March 11, 1740; married Mehitable _____ and had ten children. Of these, Lucy, Tertullus, and Alvin are in the baptismal records of the Reverend Roger Viets. The family lived in Pittsfield, Massachusetts. ["Jacob Goff of Connecticut and Massachusetts," Family Records of Washington Pioneers Prior to 1891.]

From Massachusetts records:

Jacob Goffe of Pittsfield was dismissed with a number of others on July 26, 1777 under Capt. John Strong and Lieut. Caleb Goodrich who marched to Fort Ann on June 30, 1777. He was reported killed October 19, 1780 (perhaps in the battle of Stone Arabia in New York).

vi. Benjamin Goff, born September 20, 1745; died September 11, 1746.

5. (John^2, John^1)

Captain John Viets, son of Dr. John and Catherine (Meyers) Viets, was born in Simsbury, November 3, 1712. He gives evidence of having had a practical education for those days. John worked for a time, with his brother Henry, in the Simsbury copper mines at Newgate. It is said that while working in the mines at Newgate he met Lois Phelps, an unusually charming girl. She had come with others to visit the caverns which then, as now, were objects of curiosity. Lois afterward became his wife. The copper mines were destined to become Newgate Prison during the Revolutionary war.

John Viets passed some years of his early life in Westfield, Massachusetts. He possessed great energy and considerable business sagacity. He settled on an estate near Newgate and became a farmer, a store and hotel keeper, and an extensive trader. His house and other buildings, located opposite the prison, were built in the 1760s, although a part of the house was built later.

Two books in which Captain John Viets kept accounts of articles sold, horses rented, services rendered, etc., are in the Archives of the Connecticut State Library. Many different people had accounts with him including other members of the Viets family. The following gives a sampling of the items listed:

> January 22, 1753 Mary Goff begun to work Paid for weaving, money for cloth for pilion and labor of making same.
> May 1757 For gown. For Lace. For Fan. silk & lining & paper for bonnets.
>
> June 1750 Benoni Viets Contra credit. My boy and team little more than half a day to plow 1=0=0 Team to fetch your wheat. Fetch wood. Signed/ Benoni Viets, John Viets
> [Types of items sold, taken from various accounts: "Sugar, vinigar, molases, pidgeons, tobacco, cheese, cyder, buck wheat, turnops, potatoes, flax, oats." Shoes were frequently listed, sometimes of sheepskin, perhaps made by his brother Henry. Another notation gave a credit to tailor John Holcomb Jr. "for cutting out a coat for Jonny my boy."]

His early account book shows that he and his partner in the trading business, Abel Forward, made trips as far as Schenectady and Albany, New York; to Boston, Cape Cod, and Martha's Vineyard, Massachusetts; and Rhode Island.

From Springman and Guinan's East Granby, the Evolution of a Connecticut Town, we learn that Almond B. Phelps, who married into the Viets family, purchased in 1912 the Captain John Viets' home from Virgil E. Viets, a descendant of Captain John. He had previously bought Newgate from Samuel D. Viets in 1904 and reopened the prison to the public, holding dances in the guardhouse. He renovated the old historic house across from the prison and turned it into a summer resort hotel. Mr. Phelps continued the prison tours and ran Newgate Lodge until his death in 1925. The property was then sold to the Clarence W. Seymour family.

[In September 1986 I was privileged to be shown through the home. Many rooms had been divided off in the upper story. I was intrigued by a fireplace in a room on the lower floor on which was carved "Lois Viets 1760." The 1760 may refer to the year the house was built. --DVS]

In 1968 the state of Connecticut bought Newgate Prison, renovating it and providing better access to the caverns below. The state also purchased the Viets property across the road. The prison is now open to the public as a tourist attraction and future plans call for the renovation of Captain John's home. Newgate Prison was placed on the National Historic Landmark registry in 1973. A record number of visitors, 36,000, toured the facility in 1976.

[A letter to me from Natalie (Noyes) Viets, the widow of John Bartlett Viets, written in June 1984 states, "Did you know he (Captain John Viets) was written up in the novel Drums Along the Mohawk in such a dastardly manner that Dr. Henry Viets wrote an objection to the author but later had to admit that it was alas! true." Below is an excerpt from the book. --DVS]

From Drums along the Mohawk by Walter D. Edmonds:

> Author's (Edmond's) note: The description of Newgate Prison at Simsbury Mines is strictly according to facts--most of them offered by the patriotic party, at that. It was, however, no worse than British prisons, and the prisoners, I suspect, had infinitely more to eat. . . .

V.

John Wolff's Journey (1777)

I

The Cavern

> John Wolff had been in Newgate Prison for over a year, but he wasn't sure of himself how long it was. He seemed to have lost the sense of time. There were days when he couldn't have said offhand whether it was today, or yesterday; they were days beyond track.
> Sometimes he would catch himself saying the days of the week, "Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday. . . ." Or the months of the year. There were many things he used to say. "Lucy Locket, lost her pocket. . . ." Sometimes he would wake up some of the near-by prisoners and they would throw odd pieces of rock at his bed and yell. It was awful when the men yelled. It started the echoes whirling in the high air shaft, seventy feet high. It was fifty feet across at the bottom, they said, though you couldn't find that out by pacing because the water lapped against the far side. But at the top the shaft was four feet across with an iron grating fixed into the stone; and what with the smoke from the charcoal braziers one could hardly tell where the sun was in the sky, except at noon. A little before and a little after the equinox, you could see the sun itself if you waded out into the water far enough to stand directly under the grating. You could even feel it on your head, very faintly warm. John Wolff had felt it, and the next man, walking out felt it also, but he started a convulsion, and they had to haul him out of the water for fear he would drown.

. . . But one night when the men were making their singsong, it happened that the guard was drunk. Maybe the guard went a little crazy himself. Anyway, he opened the trap and fired his musket. They could all see him, fifty feet above their heads in the lighted square of the trap, his furious red face, and the musket pointing down like the finger of wrathful retribution. The bullet striking made no sound through the yelling voices and they yelled twice as loud. Even John Wolff yelled that night. And the guard lost his head entirely. He fired again and again, and finally a ball ricocheted and killed one of the prisoners. He was the man who had come in with John Wolff, the man who had beaten a soldier for molesting his wife. But they did not notice he had died till it was time for them to go up the next day.

They had to haul him up with a rope and carry him to the smithy so that his irons could be taken off. Then he had been buried, and the commandant, Captain Viets, in a fury, had had half a dozen men flogged, choosing the ones the outraged guard who had committed the murder pointed out, and one man, who owed the guard three shillings, was hung by his heels for an hour and a half. Nobody had had any food for two days, but the guard did well instead, for it was necessary for the prison to consume its full ration of beef if the commandant were to receive his regular allowance.

Tradition gives John Viets the credit of introducing potato culture into that part of Connecticut; he is said to have brought the seed from Rhode Island in his saddle-bags. When the first crop of potatoes had broken the ground, the old men of the neighborhood were called together to decide how they should be hoed. After due deliberation it was decided that they should be entirely covered with fresh soil at the first hoeing. A fair crop was reported.

Mr. Viets bought horses about the country and took them to Boston for sale. It is said that he rode his mare to Boston in one day, a distance of a hundred miles. On one occasion he reached the east bank of the Connecticut opposite Windsor late in the day with a drove of horses. The ferryman being on the west side and unwilling to cross over for him at such a late hour, Mr. Viets, impatient of delay, urged his horses into the flood and swam them to the opposite shore, although he himself was not able to swim and the river high.

He was first a lieutenant and afterwards captain of militia. His appointment as captain is recorded in the Colonial Records May 17, 1746 when the following vote was passed: "This Assembly do establish and confirm Mr. John Viets to be captain of the fourth company or train band in Simsbury, and order that he be commissioned accordingly." In 1753 he was one of the selectmen of the town.

He was also a grand juror and a surveyor of highways. In 1754 a memorial was presented to the General Assembly by John Viets requesting abatement of taxes on unimproved land in northwest Simsbury. In 1773 Captain John Viets was appointed master or keeper of Newgate Prison for the ensuing year. In 1775 he was again appointed keeper of Newgate during the pleasure of the Assembly; he was paid this year, for his services as keeper, 149 pounds, 17 shillings, 8½ pence. During the early years of the War for Independence he did good service for the patriot cause by keeping Tory prisoners imprisoned at Newgate. [Trumbull, The Public Records of the Colony of Connecticut.]

It is said that he purchased large tracts of land in Becket, Massachusetts, owning at one time half of the town. His nephew Henry, who settled in Becket, bought land from him. Starting in life with little inherited wealth, except good blood and good health, he accumulated an estate which was valued at his death at the age of sixty-five at 2,243 pounds, 15 shillings, 1 penny, or about $10,000. He brought up a family of ten children, two of whom were fitted for college, and one was graduated from Yale.

In the inventory of his estate are three hundred and seven articles. Among the books were: Bible, singing book, Book of Common Prayer, law book, dictionary, Book of Martyrs, Psalter, Testament, and vade mecum. There were among his possessions a beaver hat, valued at 1 pound, 13 shillings, leather breeches, silver knee and shoe buckles, two great coats, a desk, and a set of China tea dishes.

Captain John Viets died of smallpox on April 8, 1777, age 65. He was buried a short distance north of his home, and there the remains of his widow were afterwards laid by his side. An iron fence erected by descendants encloses the two graves, and the spot was deeded by the owner of the farm, Virgil E. Viets, to the following trustees: Henry R. Viets of Newton, Massachusetts, Charles H. Barrows of Springfield, Massachusetts, and Virgil E. Viets of East Granby.

Lois Phelps was born March 10, 1718 and became the wife of John Viets December 12, 1734. She was a descendant of William Phelps, one of the early settlers of Windsor, Connecticut. There is a tradition that Lois was a daughter of Nathaniel Phelps of Turkey Hills (East Granby). Mr. A. T. Servin, the genealogist of the Phelps family, has determined that this Lois is the daughter of Nathaniel Phelps (and Lois his wife), who removed from Northampton to Granby, son of William Phelps (and Abigail Stebbins), of Northampton, son of Nathaniel Phelps (and Mrs. Elizabeth Copley), who came with his father, William, to Windsor, Connecticut, and later settled in Northampton, Massachusetts. Elizabeth Copley was an English lady of rank, whether by birth or by marriage to her first husband is not known. She had two children at the time of her marriage to Nathaniel Phelps. [Phelps and Servin, Phelps Genealogy.]

Tradition says that Lois was small, bright and active. When John Viets and his bride appeared at church they were spoken of as the most handsome couple that had ever entered the church. After the death of John Viets, his widow married, in 1778, Colonel Jonathan Humphrey. He died September 13, 1794, in Simsbury. [Judd, Militia Record Series 1-3. FHF#0003601.] She lived to age ninety-two, able to read and work without glasses, and died November 12, 1810. Children, born at the old homestead near Newgate:

12. i. John, born March 2, 1736.
13. ii. Roger, born March 9, 1738.
14. iii. Seth, born May 26, 1740.
15. iv. Eunice, born November 24, 1742.
16. v. Lois, born January 29, 1745.
17. vi. Abner, born February 15, 1747.
vii. Catherine, born August 7, 1749; died April 14, 1756.
viii. Dan, born 2 July 1751; is said to have left home, and was not afterwards heard from. (In the Phelps Genealogy the name is given as Damaris instead of Dan.) On February 18, 1779 Abner made an entry in his journal against his brother Dan for the use of his mare. He must have been in Connecticut at that time or not long before. This is the last knowledge of him.
18. ix. Rosannah, born May 13, 1755.
19. x. Luke, born June 6, 1759.

6. (Benoni^2, Dr. John^1)

Benoni Viets, son of Margaret Wilcoxson, was born in Simsbury December 7, 1714. He was given the name of "Viets" and raised in the home of Dr. John Viets. [See Appendix A.] He married June 20, 1745 Martha Moore of Simsbury, born April 5, 1722, daughter of Amos and Martha (Owen) Moore. In the Farmington land records is a deed to property that Benoni sold that came to him from his mother, Margaret Willcockson. He became a skilled blacksmith and a horse trader in partnership with Captain John Viets. The farm of Benoni Viets extended from near Newgate Prison southward about one-third of a mile on both sides of the highway. The house, now gone, stood on the east side of the peak. Benoni died October 7, 1795, age 80. His widow died in 1796. Children, born in Simsbury:

20. i. Martha, born February 27, 1746.
21. ii. Mary, born June 27, 1751.

THIRD GENERATION

7. (Henry[3], Henry[2], John[1])

Henry Viets, son of Henry and Margaret (Hoskins) Viets, was born at Copper Hill, East Granby, on January 13, 1737; died in Becket, Massachusetts, February 5, 1824. Northern Simsbury, when Dr. Viets settled at the Falls, contained but few families. There were in 1709 eleven families in the region now embraced in the town of Granby. The generous families of the early settlers, together with newcomers, soon changed the wilderness into thriving farms, with occasional taverns, shops, and stores; while roughly made carts drawn by oxen might be seen taking loads of produce to the cities or to the nearest boat landing on the Connecticut. About 1750 the sons of older families began to look for new regions in which to settle.

Henry Viets became the owner of a large farm in Becket, which remained in his family for several generations. He married first, August 18, 1763 Beulah Messenger of Becket, daughter of Benoni and Mary (Wood) Messenger, born December 29, 1745 in Norwich. [Reniger, Messenger Family in Portage and Geauga Counties, Ohio.] She died December 9, 1775. He married second, December 31, 1776 Abial Kingsley, who died May 10, 1813. Children [VR, Becket, Massachusetts]:

i. Chloe, born 25 May 1764; died May 25, 1764.
22. ii. Chloe, born May 18, 1765.
23. iii. Eunice, born February 20, 1767.
iv. Beulah, born November 23, 1769; died August 8, 1771.
24. v. Henry, born January 16, 1772.
25. vi. Beulah, born November 6, 1775.

By second marriage:

vii. Ruth, born April 16, 1778; died in infancy.
viii. Ruth, born November 18, 1782; died in infancy.

8. (Margaret[3], Henry[2], John[1])

Margaret Viets, daughter of Henry and Margaret (Hoskins) Viets, was born at Copper Hill, East Granby, May 9, 1739; died September 22, 1782. She married John Austin in Mansfield on April 21, 1759. Children, born in Mansfield:

i. John Austin, born January 25, 1762. [See No. 25 - may be the John Austin Jr. who married Beulah Viets as her second husband.]
ii. James Austin, born June 1, 1764.

9. (David[3], Henry[2], John[1])

David Viets, son of Henry and Margaret (Hoskins) Viets, was born at Copper Hill, February 18, 1746. He went into northwestern Connecticut and became a large landowner in the town of Colebrook in Litchfield County. His estate, which embraced several hundred acres, extended as far north as the Massachusetts line. He bought land there in 1766 from David Hoskins of Windsor. Colebrook records say that he settled there in 1770. Simsbury records give all of his children except the youngest as being born in Simsbury.

From Colebrook Church Records: "The Congregational Society on January 5, 1789, accepted 'a spot of ground of Mr. David Viets about 20 rods southeast of his dwelling for the use of a burying place where Mrs. Douglass was buried.'"

David Viets married May 24, 1764 Mary Hoskins, born in Windsor January 31, 1746/7, daughter of John and Catherine (Viets) Hoskins, the marriage being performed by the Reverend Roger Viets.

The History of Trumbull and Mahoning Counties, Ohio, records that David Viets went to Ohio in 1805 with his son Luke and wife. The Township of Southington, Trumbull County, was settled by people from Litchfield County, Connecticut, and particularly by several families from the town of Colebrook. According to the account book of his brother Jonathan, David Viets died "December 3d. near Connecticut." [Note: could near have been misread for new Connecticut, a term used for the Western Reserve section of Ohio?--DVS.] David Viets died November 3, 1815. Children, all except the youngest born in Simsbury:

26. i. Mary "Polly," born February 9, 1765.
27. ii. David Jr., born February 15, 1767.
28. iii. Luke, born December 9, 1768.
iv. Sibah, born May 6, 1771. No further record.
v. John, born August 4, 1772. In Trumbull County, Ohio, vital records a Jonathan C. Viets married Pheba Mileman (Uleman?) on August 1, 1828. This may have been John.
29. vi. Catherine, born June 18, 1775.
30. vii. Benjamin, "son of David and Mary, born October 17, 1783." [VR Colebrook.]

10. (Jonathan[3], Henry[2], John[1])

Jonathan Viets, son of Henry and Margaret (Hoskins) Viets, born at Copper Hill, September 26, 1750 died February 18, 1837 in Suffield. He served in the Revolutionary War, in the Sixth Brigade, Eighteenth Regiment, made up in Simsbury and vicinity, under Captain Job Case and Colonel Phelps. His home was in Suffield, west of the mountain just north of the Granby line. With his brother James, he worked his mother's farm and was employed in the copper mines.

On October 3, 1793 he married Caroline Munsell who is thought to have been born September 14, 1767, daughter of Calkins and Mary (Booth) Munsell who settled in Windsor. "On October 24, 1793," Jonathan wrote in his account book, "we moved into our house in Suffield." His wife died January 19, 1813 [VR, Suffield]. Children, born in Suffield:

31. i. Jonathan Munsell, born September 2, 1794.
ii. Henry, born June 19, 1801; died August 23, 1803 in Suffield [Hale, FHF#0003217].

11. (James^3, Henry^2, John^1)

Captain James Viets, son of Henry and Margaret (Austin) Viets, was born at Copper Hill, August 28, 1752 and died December 23, 1827. He remained at home while his older brothers found places elsewhere, finally inheriting the old homestead. He built a new and commodious house, which was later the home of his son Festus, and still later of his grandson James H. Viets. James bought land of his brother, or nephews, in Colebrook until he owned some four hundred acres there. He was a surveyor of the highways. He married May 10, 1780 Elisabeth Brown (daughter of Joseph Brown?), of Simsbury who died February 23, 1837. In 1796 he was appointed lieutenant and in May 1799 captain of Militia [Judd, Militia Records, Series 1-3, FHF#0003601]. Children:

32. i. Betsey, born September 6, 1781.
ii. Horace, born March 27, 1783; died January 16, 1870 unmarried. Buried at Copper Hill Cemetery.
33. iii. Achsah, born June 28, 1785.
34. iv. Festus, born June 12, 1790.

12. (John^3, John^2, John^1)

John Viets, oldest son of Captain John and Lois (Phelps) Viets, was born at the old homestead near Newgate, March 2, 1736 and died at his home at Hop Meadow, in lower Simsbury, September 27, 1765 at the age of twenty-nine, leaving a wife and four children. His father Captain John Viets was appointed guardian on May 5, 1770 for the three youngest children, all under the age of fourteen [Hartford County Probate Records, FHF#0005641]. John, with his brother Roger, attended a school at Salmon Brook [Granby] where both were fitted for college. As the boys came home from school one Saturday, it is said that in fun they passed through a forked tree that stood by the road, but on returning to school Monday morning, they found that they were not able to go between the forks of the tree.

John did not enter college with his brother but instead became a farmer. He wrote verses of some merit. Two printed copies of one poem are still extant: "'A Prospect of the Final and Awful Judgment,' written by John Viets Jr. not long before his death, which, in his last hours, he expressed a strong desire might be published to a sinful, careless, and stupid world." The work contains three hundred and twenty-two heroic verses, printed on one side of a single sheet in four columns. At the end is the following acrostic on the author, written by an unknown hand:

J ust and upright, religious and sincere,
O f judgment deep, of understanding clear,
H is chief delight was in God's holy word,
N othing he loved so much as Christ his Lord.

V irtues fair paths continually he trod,
I n various science studied nature's God:
E nvied by few, respected by mankind,
T o all men civil, to his friends most kind,
S o great and good a man our age can seldom find.

On his stone in the Simsbury burying ground is the following epitaph:

"In memory of John Viets, son of Captain John and Mrs. Lois Viets, and brother of the Rev. R. Viets, Missionary, a man of great understanding, exemplary piety and prudent behavior. Living and dying he bore testimony against all popular errors, and in these points, what his conscience dictated, his reason was able to defend."

From the Hartford Courant, October 7, 1765:

On Friday last died & Monday was buried Mr. John Viets in the XXX year of his age, son of Capt. John Viets. He was a young gentleman of well known abilities & usefulness, in good esteem with almost as many as were acquainted with him. The very great number of people who attended his funeral was an evidence how generally his death was lamented.

John Viets married in Simsbury July 1, 1755 Elizabeth, daughter of Hezekiah and Dorothy Phelps of Simsbury. Children:

35. i. Deborah, born June 25, 1757.
36. ii. Hezekiah Phelps, born December 24, 1759.
37. iii. Elizabeth, born February 15, 1762.
38. iv. John, born about 1764-5.

The births of only the first three of this family are recorded on the town records. The existence of the fourth, John, rests upon evidence afforded by the probate record which refers to Hezekiah P. Viets and John Viets as heirs of John Viets Jr. Also in the will of John Viets Jr. are mentioned "my beloved sons, Hezekiah P. Viets and John Viets." On August 5, 1766 Elizabeth (Phelps) Viets was married to Deacon Amasa Case by Reverend Roger Viets. They were the parents of six children. She died in Simsbury October 17, 1783. Amasa Case was born October 18, 1731, son of Captain James and Esther (Fithin) Case. He was married five times: first, Elizabeth Hoskins; second, Elizabeth (Phelps) Viets; third, Abigail Phelps; fourth, Charity Pettibone; and fifth, Sarah Humphrey.

13. (Roger^3, John^2, John^1)

Roger Viets, son of Captain John and Lois (Phelps) Viets, was born at the old homestead at Newgate, March 9, 1738. He attended school with his brother John at Salmon Brook [Granby] where he prepared for college. He was graduated from Yale College with an A.B. degree in 1758.

His parents were Congregationalists. [In some of the early literature about Roger Viets the family, including Dr. John Viets, is said to have been Presbyterian. This is surely an error as records for Dr. John Viets are found in the Dutch Reformed Church and the Lutheran Church in New York City. This error seems to have been perpetuated in several articles over the years.] It seems likely that Roger entered Yale with the intention of studying for the ministry in the Congregational church of his boyhood, which was the mother church of New England.

While in New Haven he attended services at Trinity, the Episcopal Church, and was so impressed that he began to read on Episcopacy and later joined this denomination. After his graduation he was employed as lay reader in the parish of St. Andrew's at Scotland [now North Bloomfield] in Simsbury. After several years as lay reader, the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel agreed to grant him an allowance of twenty pounds a year as soon as he should be ordained and take charge of the parish.

Ordination in those days required a trip to England as there was no bishop as yet in this country. Thus he set off across the Atlantic, a trip of three months' duration. Upon his arrival he discovered that the ceremony had taken place two weeks before, and he was obliged to wait six months for another opportunity. The Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge befriended him during his stay. At last he was ordained April 17, 1763 in the Chapel Royal at St. James's Palace by Frederick Cornwallis, Bishop of Coventry and Litchfield, at the request of the Bishop of London. ["Anglican Clergy in Colonial America," Proceedings of the American Antiquarian Society.]

Roger Viets landed at Boston, June 26, 1763, and served as the faithful pastor of St. Andrew's parish in Simsbury [now Bloomfield] for more than twenty-four years. He took into his own home as a pupil his nephew, Alexander Viets Griswold, who later became an Episcopal Bishop of the Eastern Diocese. [See No. 15.]

Note from unknown source in H. Isabel Viets' material:

> Rev. Roger Viets held services in Hartford sometime about 1764. Apparently the first baptism actually performed occurred January 16, 1764 and was performed by the Rev. Roger Viets. The first marriage took place Dec. 16, 1764 and the first burial at which a Church of England clergyman officiated was in June 1766. In each of these cases the officiating clergyman was the Rev. Mr. Viets.

From Beardsley, History of the Episcopal Church in Connecticut:

> The libraries of the clergy, furnished, to some extent, by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel and by individual munificence in England, were small. That of Viets at Simsbury was one of the largest and best selected in the colony; and though an excellent scholar, and a man of considerable culture and refined taste, yet his salary was so slender that he was compelled, besides his clerical duties to attend to agricultural pursuits in the summer, and occupy himself in teaching a sort of parochial school in the winter. The people among whom his lot was cast were for the most part poor, but "honest and well-behaved"; and being the only Missionary in what now constitutes Hartford County, he had a wide field to watch and cultivate, and was, therefore, like St. Paul, "in labors abundant."
> The Congregational ministry around him was intellectually strong, and the opposition with which he was forced to contend was charged with all the bitterness which had been manifested in other parts of the colony. As the storms which preceded the Revolution gathered in blackness, he continued, like his brethren, to devote himself to his sacred duties, and found occasion to support the hopes of his parishioners living within the limits of adjoining towns, because "of late they had been distrained of their goods, and some of them imprisoned, for dissenting taxes or rates." But so much did the people under his pastoral care multiply that with the exception of Newtown and New Haven, the number of Episcopalians in Simsbury in 1774 was greater than in any other town of Connecticut.

The membership of St. Andrew's increased to nearly three hundred families during Roger Viets' ministry. It was not unusual for him to travel thirty miles on pastoral visitations. The Simsbury Mission assisted in the establishment of the parishes of Saint Michael's, Litchfield; Saint John's, Salisbury and Trinity Church, Bristol. The Reverend Viets produced many sermons, some of which have been published.

During the Revolution Roger Viets was suspected of sympathizing with the Loyalists. It is easy to see how this might have been true when one considers the close kinship he had established with England. Some fugitive British officers appealed to him at midnight for shelter. He did not dare give them lodging but did provide them with food. He was closely watched and summoned before the Superior Court on the charges of aiding the escape of prisoners and of holding treasonable correspondence with the enemy. He was sentenced to pay a fine of twenty pounds and to serve one year's imprisonment in the Hartford jail.

On August 4, 1785 Roger Viets wrote the following letter to Dr. William Morice, Secretary to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, in Hatton Garden, London [Archives, Connecticut State Library]:

> . . . I am resolved to live and die a true, active member & Presbyter of > the Church of England - I will use no book of Common Prayer, but the English Edition and altho it is criminal here to pray for the King, publickly yet no one doubts who has the secret Prayers of my Heart and Soul. I have never prayed in particular for any government but the British. I stand ready (& desire God willing always to stand ready) to pay complete obedience to the Lord Bishop of London. . . .

When independence became an established fact, the English withdrew their support from their missions in this country. However, they did offer parishes to their missionaries who would remove to the remaining British colonies in America. Roger Viets was invited to take charge of an extensive parish, not yet established, whose center was to be in Digby, Nova Scotia. This he decided to accept and in May 1786 set out to inspect his new post. In October he returned to Connecticut for his wife and children.

In a volume of sermons by him [Evans, National Index of American Imprints] is the farewell sermon to the Simsbury people, in which he says:

> Born as I have been, and nurtured among you, having led your devotions almost twenty-eight years, having been in holy orders twenty-four years, I have administered the sacrament of the Lord's Supper to a great number of devout and exemplary communicants, have admitted into Christianity by baptism no less than one hundred and twenty-two of riper years, and one thousand seven hundred and forty-nine infants, have joined in marriage one hundred and seventy-six couples, have committed to the silent grave, in full hope of their rising again at the last day, the bodies of two hundred and nineteen deceased persons, and have received by profession into the bosom of our excellent church two hundred and fifteen heads of families. From the year 1759 to the present time the number of conformists to the church has increased from seventy-five to more than two hundred and eighty families. Within the above period I have, upon a moderate computation, traveled by land and water more than the extent three times the circumference of the terraqueous globe.

In the summer of 1787 he chartered a boat to transport his family and some friends to Digby. For an account of the journey we are indebted to traditions handed down from his daughter Martha, known to later generations as Aunt Beyea (pronounced "B.A."). She died in 1872, age ninety-four, and was about eight or nine years of age at the time of the move to Nova Scotia. It is reported that the larder was well stocked and that music and dancing helped to relieve the tedium of the voyage. They arrived in Digby June 12, 1787.

The Reverend Viets travelled extensively to serve all the people in his mission. The area stretched from Clementsport to Yarmouth and down Digby Neck. He and his parishioners built Trinity Church in 1791. He was popular with the people and always conscientious in fulfilling his religious responsibilities. He kept a pair of horses and would himself drive to the forest, cut a load of wood and deliver it to a poor parishioner. One day he was accosted by some English officers. To their surprise they found the woodcutter a "gentleman and a scholar" and invited him to dinner at the hotel where he revealed himself as the rector of the parish. Each expressed himself as having spent a delightful evening.

It is of interest to note that Samuel Edison, grandfather of Thomas Alva Edison, was one of the Reverend Roger Viets' parishioners in Trinity church. It is recorded that Samuel Edison purchased pew No. 36 for the sum of thirteen shillings and sixpence in 1792. [Cardoza, A Short History of Trinity Anglican Church, Digby, Nova Scotia.]

[Note: Much has been written about the Reverend Roger Viets including his ministry in St. Andrew's church in Connecticut, his problems during the Revolutionary War, and his role in the establishment of Trinity Anglican Church in Digby, Nova Scotia. His life could well be the subject of a separate volume. See Appendix C for excerpts from some of his letters to members of his family. For further history of this most interesting member of the Viets family I would suggest that you consult the books listed in the bibliography.--DVS]

Roger Viets possessed the pen of an accomplished writer, is said to have been a good Greek scholar, and wrote smoothly flowing verses. One of his poems, "Annapolis-Royal," was the first poem to be published as a separate book in British North America, printed probably in Halifax, Nova Scotia, in 1788. Only two rare copies of the poem are known, one in the Douglas Library in Halifax and the other in the Boston Public Library. Another poem was entitled "A Father's Lamentation on the Sudden Death of an Amiable and Beautiful Child." [See Appendix D for the text of "Annapolis-Royal."]

Roger Viets visited his old parish and many friends in Connecticut in 1800 and the sermons he preached at that time have been published, as have many of his earlier sermons. He died at Digby, Nova Scotia, August 15, 1811 from "Quick Consumption" (pneumonia). He had been preaching on the Granville side of Digby Gut and had returned by open boat in a chilling fog. At his request, he was buried in an unmarked grave outside the east window of Trinity Church. He was succeeded at Trinity by his son Roger Moore Viets.

Roger Viets married November 19, 1772 Hester Botsford, born January 20, 1753, daughter of Captain Nathan and Sarah Botsford of New Milford, Connecticut. Captain Botsford held prominent town offices for many years and was an active and influential citizen. Roger, it is said, never regretted the move to Nova Scotia, but his wife, although she twice visited her old home, died broken-hearted, her delicate constitution breaking down under exile. After the death of his first wife on April 25, 1800 Roger Viets married in Kingston, New Brunswick, July 18, 1802 Mary (Pickett) Isaacs, born June 12, 1754, daughter of David Pickett of Norwalk, Connecticut, and widow of Benjamin Isaacs. She is said to have been a wonderful stepmother to his children. Children:

i. Catherine Sarah, born July 8, 1774; baptized August 14, 1774 in Scotland (now Bloomfield) by her father; died November 18, 1782.
39. ii. Anna, born June 6, 1776.
40. iii. Martha "Patty," born July 9, 1778.
iv. Nathan Botsford, born February 3, 1781 in Simsbury; died January 12, 1807 in Digby, Nova Scotia; unmarried.
41. v. Roger Moore, born November 29, 1784.
vi. Margaret, born November 21, 1786; died January 18, 1787 in Simsbury.
vii. Hester, born April 27, 1789 in Digby; married in St. John, New Brunswick, July 17, 1813 Calvin Camp. [Punch, Nova Scotia Vital Statistics from Newspapers.] The family lived in Alexandria, Virginia.
42. viii. Mary Eliza "Polly," born February 9, 1792.

14. (Seth^3, John^2, John^1)

Seth Viets, son of Captain John and Lois (Phelps) Viets, was born at the old homestead on Newgate Hill, East Granby, then Simsbury, May 26, 1740. He is mentioned in a will drawn up by his father in 1763 as "my third son, Seth," and given thirty acres of land, one-half of the house and barn, and one-half of all his other land in Simsbury not otherwise disposed of. This will, however, was set aside by another written later, of which Seth, Abner, and Luke were executors.

The Reverend Roger Viets leaves in his parish register a record of Seth's marriage: "At Turkey Hills, November 12, 1769, Seth Viets of Simsbury and Ruth Smith of Suffield." Ruth was a daughter of Simeon and Ruth (Harmon) Smith, both natives of Suffield. She was born September 23, 1753. Seth probably lived after his marriage on the farm directly south of Newgate prison. An item in his father's account book tells of work being done on Seth's house. A bill of sale of a "certain nursery of apple trees lying in Granby to Luke Viets" dated January 13, 1795 shows that he had reserved this when he sold his farm to Eliphalet and Nathan Phelps. Seth's name was on the "grand" list in Turkey Hills parish in 1785.

Vermont records state that he settled there in 1780 which is probably an error, as his youngest daughter Sarah was born in Westfield, Massachusetts, in 1798, and his son Jesse was married there. This shows that the family must have spent some time in Westfield on their trek to Pawlet. From Simsbury records: "At a freeman's meeting held in Simsbury, April 11, 1774, Seth Viets was admitted and sworn." He was a surveyor of highways and a tithing-man.

From Smith, Record of Service of Connecticut Men in the War of the Revolution: "Seth Viets was one of those members of 18th Regiment, Col. Phelps, Capt. Bates Co., who was to be ready for action." Seth Viets Sr. died January 4, 1825 in Pawlet, Vermont, and was buried in Bardwell Farm Cemetery, West

Pawlet. Seth Viets' grave is marked by the DAR. His wife died in 1817, age sixty-four. Children:

43. i. Ruth, baptized September 26, 1770.
44. ii. Seth, baptized December 20, 1772.
45. iii. Simeon Smith, baptized March 19, 1775.
46. iv. Lois, born May 28, 1777.
47. v. Deborah, born ____.
48. vi. Lydia, born October 12, 1779.
49. vii. Jesse, born February, 1781.
50. viii. Roswell, born December 30, 1784.
51. ix. Zopher, born January 30, 1790.
52. x. Julia, born 1794.
53. xi. Sarah, born July 16, 1798.

15. (Eunice^3, John^2, John^1)

Eunice Viets, daughter of Captain John and Lois (Phelps) Viets, was born at Newgate, November 24, 1742; married November 11, 1761 Elisha Griswold, born October 25, 1731, son of Samuel and Elizabeth (Porter) Griswold. He was descended from the Windsor branch of a large family, the descendants of Edward Griswold who came from Kenilworth, England, to Windsor in 1639. "Squire" Samuel Griswold was the first of the Griswold family to remove from Windsor to Simsbury, where he purchased a tract of 500 acres lying within the principal bend of the Farmington River. Elisha Griswold seems to have come into possession of the paternal estate with whom it remained unbroken until his death and its consequent apportionment among his various heirs. He was a man of quite good sense and remarkable home-keeping habits. His numerous sons and daughters, however, were a family of various talents, especially mechanical and literary.

For a time during the seven years of our labor for independence, Mr. Griswold was arraigned almost daily before the Committee of Vigilance and questioned as to the most common actions of his life. But such was his great and exemplary prudence that nothing was ever found against him. The Committee, therefore, contented themselves with forbidding him to go beyond the limits of his own farm. As his farm was something of a little territory, however, this gave him space for exercise and as he was a home-keeping man and seldom left his farm except for Sunday church, there was no great hardship. Indeed, ignoring the principle involved it was no hardship at all except that it abridged his religious freedom.

The marriage of Eunice Viets with Elisha Griswold brought together two of the most considerable families and estates in the town. Mr. Griswold died March 13, 1803; his widow died at the home of her daughter in Lanesboro, Massachusetts, August 20, 1823. Children, born in Simsbury:

i. Elisha Griswold, Jr., born December 26, 1762; married May 14 1787 in Scotland (now Bloomfield), by the Reverend Roger Viets, Arispha Mitchelson of Simsbury, a daughter of Eliphalet Mitchelson, a Revolutionary soldier. Three children (Griswold).

ii. Alexander Viets Griswold, born April 22, 1766 and baptized May 25, 1766 by his uncle, Reverend Roger Viets. He married May 6, 1786 in Roger's home in Scotland (Bloomfield), Elizabeth Mitchelson of Simsbury. She died September 10, 1817 in Bristol, Rhode Island. He married second, in 1828 Amelia Smith, a widow. He died in Boston February 15, 1843. Twelve children by first marriage, two children by second (Griswold).

From Dumas, Dictionary of American Biography:

. . . Alexander's early years were spent on his father's farm, but when he was ten years old, since he displayed more interest in books than in agriculture, his uncle, Roger Viets [see No. 13], then rector of the Simsbury parish, took him into his own home. He now assisted in the cultivation of the parish glebe, but had the advantage of his uncle's instruction and library by means of which he secured a good knowledge of the classics and mathematics besides much general information. The impoverishment of his father who endeavored to remain neutral during the Revolution, the removal of his Loyalist uncle to Nova Scotia after the war, and his own early marriage to seventeen-year-old Elizabeth Mitchelson in 1785, prevented him from entering Yale as he had planned. Until he was twenty-eight years old he cultivated a small farm, and read law though without expectation of practising it. Persuaded by his friends who believed his character and abilities fitted him for the ministry, in 1794 he offered himself as a candidate for orders. In 1795 he was made deacon, and later in the same year was ordained priest by Bishop Seabury at Plymouth, Conn. For ten years (1794-1804) he served at the same time the churches in Plymouth, Harwinton, and Northfield, eking out his small salary by farming and teaching. In 1804 he became rector of St. Michael's Church, Bristol, R.I. He was elected bishop of the Eastern Diocese May 31, 1810, and was consecrated at Trinity Church, New York, May 29, 1811. He continued to serve as rector at Bristol until 1830 when he took charge of St. Peter's Church, Salem, Mass., and it was not until five years later that he devoted himself wholly to his episcopal work. His first wife died Sept. 10, 1817, and some ten years afterward he married Mrs. Amelia Smith.

An interesting quotation from Bishop Alexander Viets Griswold is printed in the appendix of the Viets Genealogy:

About the time of my birth my mother's brother, the Rev. Roger Viets, returned from England in Priest's orders. . . . For several years he was an inmate in my father's family, and for most of the time till my twentieth year I lived with him. He was an excellent scholar, with a rare talent for communicating knowledge to others. . . . Even when laboring in the field together, as we did for hundreds of days, he would still continue his instructions.

iii. Ezra Griswold, born December 6, 1767 and baptized at Turkey Hills by his uncle, Roger Viets; died October 22, 1822 in Worthington, Franklin County, Ohio; married November 8, 1789 Ruth Roberts, born January 24, 1768 in Simsbury, daughter of Lemuel Jr. of Simsbury and Ruth (Woodford) Roberts of Farmington. She died May 31, 1847 in Worthington. The family moved from Tariffville to Worthington, Ohio, in 1803, joining with a friend's plans for emigration to Ohio under the Scioto Company's agreement. The place where they settled was an unbroken wilderness, in which they were the first white settlers. Ezra was a devoted adherent of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Although he had never received a liberal education, he was, with the aid of his excellent mother, mainly self-taught. He was admirably qualified for public employment, but was of a retiring domestic nature, and was never called to any higher office than that of justice of the peace in which capacity he served for many years. During the scarcity of money in circulation after the war of 1812, Ezra Griswold is known to have issued two series of paper money or notes. A photo of one of these bank notes, along with more details, two photos of the Griswold home in Worthington and data on the twelve Griswold children are included in the following reference: "Worthington Genealogies," Old Northwest Genealogical Quarterly.

iv. Eunice Griswold, born February 9, 1770; married May 30, 1790 for her first husband Oliver Holcomb, born 1769 in Simsbury, son of Asahel II and Sarah (Eno) Holcomb. Two children (Holcomb). She married, second, in 1797 Butler Pinney, born September 1765, son of Ensign Jonathan and Lydia (Case) Pinney. From Granby records: "Mrs. Butler Pinney (Episcopal) of Turkey Hills (78 years) died May 12, 1849." Mr. Pinney died December 18, 1850. Three children (Pinney).

v. Roger Griswold, born February 22, 1772; christened in Turkey Hills, April 23, 1772 (Easter Day) by the Reverend Roger Viets. Roger, with brother Elisha, operated the Rainbow Mills near the old home and failed. He married for his first wife, Salome Case and for his second, Widow Eunice Wright of Coventry in 1823. Six children by first marriage; two children by second (Griswold).

vi. Deborah Griswold, born August 27, 1776; married Bethuel Baker of Lanesboro, Massachusetts, July 12, 1811. Died September 13, 1850. No children.

vii. Samuel Griswold (Rev.), born January 1, 1780; was graduated from Yale College and was ordained deacon presbyter in the Episcopal church. He became a very able and popular minister. In 1844 he was settled at Volney, N.Y. He married first Thetis Gilchrist, daughter of Peter and Damaris Gilchrist, and second Maria, daughter of Samuel and Mary Riley of Great Barrington, Massachusetts. Four children by first marriage; three by second (Griswold).

viii. Sylvia Arabella Griswold, born November 17, 1781; married February 1802 the Reverend Jasper Davis Jones, a clergyman of the Episcopal church. She died January 27, 1858 at her daughter's, Mrs. Orville Griffin's, in Granby. Her husband died several years previous. Eight children (Jones).

16. (Lois^3, John^2, John^1)

Lois Viets, daughter of Captain John and Lois (Phelps) Viets, was born at the old homestead near Newgate, January 29, 1745; married there April 25, 1768 by the Reverend Roger Viets to Jonathan Buttels, born November 10, 1747 in Simsbury. He was the son of Captain Jonathan and Jerusha (Dibble) Buttels. Jonathan Buttels occupied the home farm at the "wedge of land" adjoining Simsbury on the north, which became Granby in 1786. For a time he conducted a hotel there. He served in the Revolution as a sergeant in his father's company of the 18th Regiment from August 18 to September 6, 1776; was made Ensign of Captain John Rice's Company in October 1780 and Lieutenant in May 1781. He died in Granby, December 13, 1823.

The pioneer ancestor of Jonathan Buttels or Buttolph was Thomas Buttolph, a leather dresser or glover, who came in the Abigail from London in 1635, age thirty-two years. He settled in Boston, was a freeman June 1641, constable 1647. His wife Ann, age twenty-four in 1635, joined the church in Boston in September 1639 with her husband. The name "Buttolph" in church records is Buttal and is printed Buttels in Massachusetts Historical Collections. Children:

i. Lois Buttels, born in Simsbury December 3, 1769; died January 17, 1775.

ii. Annis Buttels, born in Simsbury; baptized May 3, 1772; married May 24, 1791 Samuel Everett Jr. born April 30, 1769 in Torringford and died in Granville, Ohio, April 15, 1809. Annis died in 1852. Two children (Everett).

iii. Elihu Buttels, born in Simsbury; was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature. He later lived in Orwell, Pennsylvania, where he died.

iv. Jonathan, born June 9, 1778 in Simsbury; married November 20, 1798 Lucy Whitney, born May 1, 1779 in Simsbury, a daughter of Uriah and Martha (Hart) Whitney. Mr. Buttels was at various times a shoemaker, schoolmaster, millwright, and turner. He was Captain of a Militia (minutemen) in the War of 1812; died in North Lee, Massachusetts, September 15, 1851. His wife died there November 5, 1848. Five children (Buttels). [Phoenix, Whitney Family in America.]

v. Lois Buttels, born in Simsbury, March 18, 1782; married March 11, 1799 in North Granby, Samuel Platt Whitney, born November 8, 1775 in Simsbury, son of Uriah and Martha (Hart) Whitney. Mr. and Mrs. Whitney settled in Montville, Ohio, in 1834 where both died. Mr. Whitney died December 15, 1871, his widow in 1875. In 1870 they celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary at the home of their son John Viets Whitney. At that time they had nine living children, forty-one living grandchildren, and fifty-six great grandchildren. Mr. Whitney was a farmer. He served in the War of 1812. Twelve children (Whitney).

17. (Abner^3, John^2, John^1)

Captain Abner Viets, son of Captain John and Lois (Phelps) Viets, was born February 15, 1747 and died at his home, one mile from the place of his birth, July 27, 1826. His farm embraced some 400 acres in the western part of the present town of East Granby, extending over the Granby line. The homestead was in possession of his grandson Levi Clinton Viets until 1901, when it was sold and passed out of the family.

Abner Viets was an extensive farmer at a time when farming in Connecticut consisted of producing large quantities of rye, corn, and other grains, and dairy and orchard products. His papers show that in 1790 he leased for a term of four years, for sixteen pounds, land in Turkey Hills lying north of Roswell Phelps' land and extending to the top of the mountain. His name was on the "grand" list in Turkey Hills parish in 1785 for the sum of 70 pounds, 5 shillings. He was a surveyor and sometimes a lawyer. In his account books are numerous charges for pleading cases. He was captain of militia, appointed October 1790. [Judd, Militia Record Series, 1-3, FHF#0003601.] During the War for Independence he did not enter the field in person, but hired substitutes on several occasions. An old certificate among his papers shows that on March 27, 1778 Owen Ruick enlisted in the room of Abner and Luke Viets. At a town meeting held in Simsbury in December 1784 he was appointed surveyor of the highways and grandjuror. About 1809 he was appointed by his brother Roger as his attorney and agent to settle his business affairs in New England. He was spoken of by those grandchildren who remembered him as a man of good stature and of energy.

Abner Viets married in 1771 Mary, second daughter of Benoni and Martha (Moore) Viets. She was born June 27, 1751 and died September 1825. Children, born in Simsbury:

54. i. Abner, born June 28, 1772.
55. ii. Mary, born May 1774.
56. iii. Benoni, born February 13, 1777.
57. iv. Samuel, born January 17, 1779.
58. v. Eunice, born December 17, 1780.
59. vi. Dan, born October 17, 1783.
vii. Annis, born March 11, 1785; married _____ Rudd.
60. viii. Levi, born June 15, 1786.
61. ix. Elisabeth, born April 30, 1790.
x. Apollos, born July 25, 1794; christened June 30, 1800 by Roger Viets. Died August 30, 1815.

18. (Rosannah[3], John[2], John[1])

Rosannah Viets, daughter of Captain John and Lois (Phelps) Viets, was born May 13, 1755 in Simsbury; married Eleazar Rice, a soldier of the Revolution. A letter to his wife shows that he took part in the Battle of Long Island. He manufactured potash, refining it further into pearl ash which was used for making soap and glass. They resided in the western part of the present town of East Granby. Children:

i. Mary (Polly) Rice, born January 30, 1777; "married in Suffield May 2, 1792, Horace Phelps." [From Suffield Congregational Church Records.] Mr. Phelps was born May 4, 1769 in Simsbury and died in Easthampton, Massachusetts, February 12, 1848. Mary (Polly) Rice Phelps died in Springfield, Massachusetts, June 1, 1846. Eleven children (Phelps).

ii. Lois Rice married Justus Holcomb, born in East Granby in 1779, son of Elijah and Sarah (Evans) Holcomb. He served on a whaling ship on several trips to the South Pacific, Japan, and Hawaii; moved to Meadville, Pennsylvania, about 1820; went to California in the Gold Rush of 1849 and settled in Napa County. His wife died in Meadville. Nine children (Holcomb).

iii. Rosannah Rice, baptized in Scotland (Bloomfield), May 14, 1775; married Hezekiah Loomis of West Springfield, Massachusetts, and Oran, New York, who was born January 6, 1771, son of Jonathan and Hannah (Selden) Loomis. He died in Oran December 12, 1833. Three children (Loomis).

iv. Eunice Rice, born September 18, 1784; died August 24, 1854; married December 25, 1805 Seth Smith of West Springfield, Massachusetts. Six children (Smith).

v. Eleazar Rice Jr., married Harriet Goodrich. Four children (Rice).

vi. Laura Rice, married Levi Bush. Two daughters (Bush).

vii. Charlotte Rice, born September 13, 1787; married her cousin, Captain George Viets. [See No. 66.]

viii. Harriet Rice, married first, _____ Ormsbee; second, _____ Ennis. Two daughters (Ormsbee and Ennis).

19. (Luke[3], John[2], John[1])

Lieutenant Luke Viets, youngest child of Captain John and Lois (Phelps) Viets, was born June 6, 1759 and died in the old homestead February 25, 1835. His mother, after the death of her second husband, Colonel Humphrey, if not before, lived with Luke's family at the old place.

Following is the commission issued to Luke Viets by Samuel Huntington, Governor of Connecticut:

To Luke Viets Gent.

You being by the General Assembly of this state accepted to be Ensign of the 8th Company of Militia in the 58th Regiment in said State.

reposing special Trust and Confidence in your Fidelity, Courage and Good Conduct I do by Virtue of the laws of this State me thereunto enabling, appoint and empower you to take the said company into your Care and Charge as their Ensign carefully and diligently I discharge that Office and Trust, exercising your inferior Officers and Soldiers in the Use of their Arms, according to the Rules and Discipline of War ordained and established by the Laws of this State, keeping them in good Order and Government, and commanding them to obey you as their Ensign and you are to observe all such Orders and Directions as from Time to Time you shall receive, either from one, or from other your superior officer, pursuant to the Trust hereby reposed in you.

Given under my Hand, and the Public Seal of this State, at New Haven the 20th Day of October, A.D. 1790

s/Samuel Huntington

By His Excellency's command, George Wyllys, Secretary.

Newgate was the State's prison until 1827, and no doubt some of the prison officials, as well as comers and goers, were guests at the Luke Viets' tavern. Kendall's Travels through the Northern Parts of the United States in the chapter on "Newgate" gives a unique description of the family of Luke Viets:

The traveler, after fording the Farmington, and passing through a region "beautiful with the varied charms of hills, field, and pasture" approached the place from the south. He says: "On my right I saw a house of respectable figure and dimensions, wooden and white-painted. This was the inn. On entering the door the good looks of the landlord afforded me some consolation. . . .

"My landlord was a plain and industrious farmer, in whom and his whole family there was realized, more than in any other instance I have met with, the picture which the imagination of so many has drawn, as that of the agricultural life in America. He was himself a grandfather, and had living with him his very aged mother. He was the father of nine children, of whom one or two were married and settled at a distance, and one or two near by. Two daughters and two or three sons were still under his roof. All the members of the family were personable and well-featured, and the two girl were beauties, one a blue-eyed blonde and the other a dark-haired brunette. I found them employed in a building detached from the house, one at the wheel, the other at the loom. They were presently in the farmyard milking the cows." The traveler adds further that he was "informed by the family that there was somewhere in the neighboring hill a black stone, by looking through which the seventh son of a seventh son born in the month of February with a caul over his head could see everything in the interior of the globe."

Luke Viets married June 30, 1777 [Bates, Records of Rev. Ransom Warner 1823-1854] Keziah Phelps, born in Simsbury November 12, 1757 and died November 22, 1850. She was a daughter of Ezekiel and Elizabeth (Gillett) Phelps. They lived one and one-half miles south of Newgate, on the place since known as the Raynor Holcomb place. The boundary stone of Mr. Phelps' farm, it is said, may be seen on the mountain with the initials E.P. marked on it. Ezekiel Phelps served in the Revolutionary War, perhaps the one of that name who served as a lieutenant in 8th Regiment, Captain Holcomb's Company. The encampment was so near the British that Ezekiel Phelps shouted to the British: "Shoot straight; shoot to kill, not maim." He was in New York August 26 and was discharged September 3, 1776. He brought home a cannon ball and a corkscrew.

According to Stiles' History of Ancient Windsor, Ezekiel Phelps was the son of Joseph and Rebecca (North) Phelps, son of Joseph (and Mary Collins) Phelps, son of Joseph (and Hannah Newton) Phelps, son of William Phelps who settled in Windsor. Children:

62. i. Keziah, born November 12, 1777.
63. ii. Rosannah, born December 4, 1778.
64. iii. Luke, born August 2, 1780.
65. iv. John, born March 1, 1782.
v. Catherine, born November 22, 1783; married Charles Fowler; died 1813.
vi. George, born June 23, 1786; died April 10, 1787.
66. vii. George, born February 12, 1788.
67. viii. Esther, born January 22, 1790; the blonde mentioned in Kendall's book.
68. ix. Roger, born October 28, 1791.
69. x. Chloe, born May 19, 1793; the brunette mentioned in Kendall's book.

20. (Martha^3, Benoni^2, John^1)

Martha Viets, daughter of Benoni and Martha (Moore) Viets, was born February 27, 1746. She married May 20, 1762 in Simsbury, Benoni Griffin, born June 26, 1743, son of Benoni Griffin. Children, born in Simsbury:

i. Martha Griffin, born June 26, 1764.
ii. Benoni Griffin,, Jr., born July 11, 1766.
iii. Viets Griffin, born March 16, 1768.

21. (Mary^3, Benoni^2, John^1) [See Abner Viets, No. 17.]

22. (Chloe[4], Henry[3], Henry[2], John[1])

Chloe Viets, daughter of Henry and Beulah (Messenger) Viets, was born May 18, 1765 in Becket, Massachusetts; married May 25, 1785 Abner Pease of Blandford, Massachusetts, born in Somers, Massachusetts, November 9, 1757, son of Robert and Hannah (Sexton or Saxton) Pease. He moved to Blandford at the age of twenty-five and resided there at the time of his death. No record in the Pease Genealogy of this Abner being a captain. There was, however, a Captain Abner Pease, son of Isaac who was born in Enfield in 1733. Children:

i. Levi Pease, born May 29, 1787 in either Blandford or Somers.

ii. Ruth Pease, born September 22, 1789; married in Blandford May 14, 1817 Orrin Sage, born in "Upper Houses" Cromwell, Middletown, January 17, 1791. He was one of fourteen children of William, a native of Middletown and a soldier of the Revolution, and Bathsheba (Hollister) Sage. He became a merchant in Blandford before he was twenty-one and continued in this until 1848. He started many young men in trade, furnishing capital which gave profitable results.

He represented Blandford in the legislature for 1831-1832 and 1834, and was a senator from Hampden County in the years 1836 and 1837; removed to Ware, Massachusetts, in 1848, became the president of the bank in that town, and held the office until 1865. When he left Blandford, he gave a fund of $1,000 to the Congregational Society and afterwards bought and presented them a parsonage. To the town of Ware he gave a beautiful lot of twenty-five acres for a cemetery and provided for its care. To Williams College he gave a scholarship of $1,000 and afterwards a fund of $30,000 to endow a professorship of history and political economy. To the town of Osage, Iowa, of which he was one of the founders and which was named for him, he gave nearly seven hundred acres of land to establish a public library and build a handsome building.

For more than fifty years he was a constant and increasingly liberal giver to the American Board of Foreign Missions and also gave to Home Missions and American Missionary Societies. Orrin Sage died in Ware, June 23, 1875 at the age of eighty-four years. His wife died December 10, 1858. Two daughters (Sage).

iii. Eli Pease, born January 23, 1793 in Somers or Blandford; married Cynthia White of Longmeadow, Massachusetts, and settled on the homestead in Blandford. In 1861 he removed to Independence, Iowa, where he died December 31, 1863. He was a deacon of the church in Blandford. Two children (Pease).

iv. Chloe Pease, born November 30, 1796; died September 17, 1802.

23. (Eunice[4], Henry[3], Henry[2], John[1])

Eunice Viets, daughter of Henry and Beulah (Messenger) Viets, was born February 20, 1767 in Becket, Massachusetts; married 1789 Parley Snow, born November 6, 1765 in Ashford, son of Oliver and Ursula (Streeter) Snow. He died April 18, 1851; his wife Eunice died March 13, 1834. Children [VR, Ashford, Connecticut]:

i. Parley Viets Snow, born February 18, 1790 in Becket, Massachusetts; married December 17, 1812, Susan Jones. Mr. Snow died in Ashford, Connecticut, August 3, 1850, age sixty years. Seven children (Snow). From Ashford Records: "Parley Viets Snow's estate distributed to Mrs. Susan Snow, widow of deceased, and to children and heirs at law of deceased as follows: Susan Bennett, Henry V. Snow, Harvey M. Snow, Lucius J. Snow, Julia Ann Squier, Eunice S. Barlow, Sanford W. Snow."
ii. Pleiades Snow, born November 6, 1792; died August 6, 1843.
iii. Henry Snow, born January 20, 1794.
iv. Sardine Snow, born July 15, 1796.
v. Harvey Snow, born July 17, 1799; died December 29,1803.

24. (Henry[4], Henry[3], Henry[2], John[1])

Henry Viets, son of Henry and Beulah (Messenger) Viets, was born in Becket, Massachusetts, January 16, 1772. He married first, on June 22, 1795 his second cousin, Mary Viets [See No. 55], daughter of Captain Abner and Mary (Viets) Viets. She died April 7, 1805. He married second on November 18, 1807 Charlotte Fowler of Westfield, Massachusetts. [VR, Westfield.] She died May 3, 1841 and was buried in Kent, Connecticut. [Hale, FHF#0003217.] Henry Viets was a highly respected farmer on the old place settled by his father in Becket. He died at the home of his daughter Charlotte Van Wyck, in Clifton, Illinois, August 25, 1866, age ninety-four years. Children, by first marriage:

70. i. Sophia, born May 11, 1796.
71. ii. Abial, born December 9, 1798.
72. iii. Mary, born August 13, 1802.

By second marriage:

73. iv. Henry, born August 31, 1808.
74. v. Charlotte, born July 10, 1810.
75. vi. William Atwater, born February 20, 1813.
76. vii. Margaret, born January 1, 1816.
viii. Maria, born April 23, 1819; died April 23, 1858.
77. ix. Jane, born September 2, 1821.
x. Abner Fowler, born May 3, 1824; died January 20, 1825.

25. (Beulah[4], Henry[3], Henry[2], John[1])

Beulah Viets, daughter of Henry and Beulah (Messenger) Viets, was born November 6, 1775 in Becket, Massachusetts. She married October 6, 1796, Solomon Cochran [VR, Becket]. [The Viets Genealogy gives the name of her first husband as Levi Coffrin. Cochran was often called Coffrin as well as other forms.] They did not have any children. [The data from Massachusetts and Ohio do not agree. According to Carl Cochran, of Ogden, Utah, a descendant, there were two Cochran children, Levi Munsell and Ruth Eliza.] Beulah married second, on October 18, 1812 in Becket, John Austin Jr. He was married first to Hannah Kingsley on September 21, 1786 in Becket. They had four children, all of whom died before their mother Hannah, who died on December 15, 1811 in Becket. Beulah and John Austin Jr. moved to Geneva Township, Ashtabula County, Ohio, after 1817 and in 1830 lived in Aurora Township, Portage County, Ohio. Children [VR, Becket, Massachusetts]:

i. John Harvey Austin, born February 12, 1815; married Emily M. Blair on February 12, 1836 in Portage County, Ohio.
ii. James Austin, born September 17, 1817; married Marietta Reed on May 13, 1834 in Portage County, Ohio.

26. (Mary[4], David[3], Henry[2], John[1])

Mary "Polly" Viets, daughter of David Sr. and Mary (Hoskins) Viets, was born February 9, 1765 in Simsbury and baptized March 22, 1765 by the Reverend Roger Viets. She married February 5, 1807 in Southington, Ohio, James Nutt, a native of Blandford, Massachusetts, born April 24, 1782, son of James and Susanna (Cochran/Cothran) [Mc]Nutt. According to the journal of their son Cyrus, his father came in 1803 or 1804, at the age of twenty, with his uncle and settled in Aurora, Portage County, Ohio. After his marriage to Mary Viets he moved to Southington and settled on a piece of land adjoining the large farm of his father-in-law, David Viets Sr. He was the first justice of the peace in Southington. He died in May 1835.

[Note: H. Isabel Viets listed in the appendix "Polly" Viets, who married James Nutt in Southington, Ohio, February 5, 1807. She suggested that perhaps "Polly" was a daughter of David Sr. but could not prove it. Cyrus, the son of James Nutt, writing in his journal, names his mother as Mary Viets. ("Polly" is often used as a nickname for Mary.) David Viets transferred property in Southington to "daughter Mary Nutt" and referred to her as wife of James Nutt. (Winnagle, Index to Property Deeds of Trumbull County, Ohio, 1800-1831.) --DVS] Children:

i. Susan Nutt, born March 11, 1808. Married Hudson Thomas February 11, 1830.
ii. Chauncey Nutt, lived on the home farm and died quite young. He married and had a daughter Harriet who married Aaron Gordon of Bristol Township, Ohio, in 1859. They had four children.

iii. Lester R. Nutt, died in infancy.

iv. Cyrus Nutt, born September 4, 1814 in Southington, Ohio; married April 26, 1838 Amanda Standiford, daughter of General John Standiford. He died August 24, 1875 in Greencastle, Indiana.

Information sent to H. Isabel Viets by the secretary of the University of Indiana:

From the Faculty History and from the History of Indiana University from 1820 to 1890 by Prof. Theophilus A. Wylie.

Cyrus Nutt was born in Trumbull Co., Ohio, September 4, 1814. He graduated at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., in 1831 and commenced his educational labors as Principal of the Preparatory Department of his Alma Mater. He was, not long after, called to a similar position in Indiana Asbury (now DePauw) University, at Greencastle, Indiana. While at the latter place he was licensed to preach the Gospel. In 1837 he was elected Professor of Languages, and in 1841 he was made Professor of the Greek Language and Literature, and also of Hebrew. This post he occupied till the fall of 1843, when he took pastoral work in the Indiana Conference, and was appointed to Bloomington Station. Here he remained two years when he removed to Salem.

In the fall of 1848 he was re-elected to his former position in Asbury University. In 1849 he was chosen President of Fort Wayne Female College. In the following year he accepted the Presidency of Whitewater College. After five years' service in this situation he resigned in order to resume his work in the ministry.

In 1855 he was appointed Presiding Elder in the Richmond District. In the fall of 1857 he was elected Professor of Mathematics in Asbury University, and while in this department, for nearly two years he was the acting President, till the inauguration of President (afterward, Bishop Bowman). In 1859 Allegheny College, his Alma Mater, conferred on him the degree of Doctor of Divinity. In 1860 he was elected President of Indiana University, which post he held till the college year, 1874-1875.

On January 18, 1954 a Founders' and Benefactors' Day was held at DePauw University. Following is a note from the bottom of the program:

Cyrus Nutt, brilliant young graduate of Allegheny College, Pennsylvania, became, in 1837, the first teacher in Indiana Asbury University, later DePauw. After approximately a score of years as teacher and as administrator in this institution, he became, in 1860, fifth president of Indiana University, there concluding his great contribution to higher education in the growing democracy.

The portrait of Cyrus Nutt is presented to the University by his granddaughter, Mrs. Wilbur Helm (DePauw 1902), of Evanston, Illinois.

v. Isaac Nutt, married May 3, 1846 Lucy Ann Grays.
vi. Laura Nutt, married February 18, 1837 William Hill.

vii. Rosannah, born August 9, 1816; died August 1, 1823 or 1829.

28. (Luke^4, David^3, Henry^2, John^1)

Luke Viets, son of David and Mary (Hoskins) Viets, was born December 9, 1768 in Simsbury. He married Hannah Norton, born in 1778 or 1779, who is said to have been a daughter of Freegrace Norton of Suffield. She died in Southington, Ohio, November 20, 1862 age eighty-three years. Luke Viets died November 30, 1827. [There were two Freegrace Nortons in Suffield--father and son. From records seen, it is not clear that Hannah Norton was a daughter of either.--HIV]

From Wickham, Memorial to the Pioneer Women of the Western Reserve:

> In this year [1805] two families arrived from Connecticut: Luke Veits [sic] and wife, James Chalker, wife and two children. . . . Also with those families came four young men ["four young men" is an error - David Viets was the father of Luke], David and Benj. Viets, Roderick and Horace Norton. They came all the way in ox wagons. . . .
> Mrs. Luke Viets being alone one night with her little son, and having no door as yet to her cabin--only a blanket hung up for a door, a wolf came and poked its nose under the blanket. She frightened him away by throwing fire brands at him.

Child:

84. i. Zopher, born December 14, 1810.

xi. Elvira Rice, married August 13, 1831 Reuben T. Bergett.
xii. Lucretia Rice, married May 17, 1832 John Babcock.

30. (Benjamin^4, David^3, Henry^2, John^1)

Benjamin Viets, son of David and Mary (Hoskins) Viets, was born in Colebrook, October 17, 1783. He went to Southington, Ohio, in 1805 or soon after and settled in the eastern part of the township where he is thought to have lived the remainder of his life. He married in Ohio, Sally Donaldson. Children, born in Southington:

85. i. Margaret Maria, born January 31, 1810.
86. ii. Sally, born January 2, 1813.
iii. Hezekiah, born ca 1818; died June 16, 1846.

31. (Jonathan Munsell[4], Jonathan[3], Henry[2], John[1])

Jonathan Munsell Viets, son of Jonathan and Caroline (Munsell) Viets, was born near Copper Hill, West Suffield, September 2, 1794 and died at the old homestead October 12, 1843. He married on May 19, 1814 in Suffield, Fannie Remington of Colebrook, who was born April 22, 1794, daughter of Ezekiel and Sally (Bliss) Remington. She died July 20, 1858. Mr. Viets was a deacon of the First Baptist Church in Suffield. [VR, Suffield.] He received a lieutenant's commission in the militia May 9, 1815. [Judd, Militia Records, Series 1-3, FHF#0003601.] Children:

iii. Homer Griffin, born April 21, 1822 in Suffield; resided at Copper Hill where he died July 14, 1893. He married November 16, 1843 Susan Jane Griffin, born May 3, 1822, daughter of Aristarchus Griffin, a descendant of Lord John Griffin. She died June 19, 1907. Five children (Griffin).

34. (Festus[4], James[3], Henry[2], John[1])

Festus Viets, son of Captain James and Elizabeth (Brown) Viets, was born at Copper Hill, June 12, 1790 and lived at the family home there until his death September 24, 1874. He was a man of worthy qualities and a good farmer, keeping everything in order. He and his brother Horace ran a sawmill and shingle mill. Chauncey Viets of Colebrook sold land to Festus Viets and his brother Horace in 1825 for $1,640. Festus Viets married October 1, 1823 Maria Hatheway, born June 24, 1802, daughter of Ebenezer and Mehitable (Cowdrey) Hatheway of Suffield. She died September 27, 1860. Both are buried in Copper Hill Cemetery. Children, born at Copper Hill:

93. i. James Hatheway, born August 21, 1824.
94. ii. Harriet Maria, born September 3, 1826.
95. iii. Candace Eliza, born August 2, 1828.
96. iv. Philo Horace, born August 12, 1830.
v. Adaline Jael, born December 13, 1832; died March 23, 1839.
97. vi. Lamira Jane, born January 27, 1835.
vii. Daniel Benjamin, born March 19, 1838; died March 2, 1839.
viii. Annis Susan, born January 28, 1840; died September 26, 1842.
98. ix. William Dixon, born May 17, 1842.
99. x. Jason Rushmore, born January 17, 1846.

35. (Deborah[4], John[3], John[2], John[1])

Deborah Viets, daughter of John Jr. and Elizabeth (Phelps) Viets, was born in Simsbury June 25, 1757 and baptized July 31. She married Charles Case, supposed to have been born in Simsbury July 19, 1754, son of Charles and Phoebe (Holcomb?) Case. Charles served in the Revolutionary War as a cornet in the Fifth Regiment of Light Horse Cavalry under Major Elisha Sheldon. Charles led his troop in the attack on the forces of General Burgoyne at the Battle of Bennington, Vermont, in 1776. Although Charles accompanied Washington in his retreat through New Jersey, his first term of service was relatively short, since he enlisted in October and was discharged in November. Whether he saw other action is not known, but the gravestone of his wife calls him a captain and he was known as a captain during the time he lived in Ohio.

The gravestone in the Simsbury Cemetery bears the following inscription: "Deborah wife of Capt. Charles Case died February 5, 1796, aged 56 years." If this inscription refers to Deborah Viets, as it no doubt does, there must be an error in her age at time of death. Charles Case married on December 29, 1796 in Simsbury a second wife, Ameda Elizabeth Burbank, and about 1798 emigrated from Simsbury to Ohio. He stopped a while in New Jersey, later in Susquehanna County, Pennsylvania, to the Ohio towns of Warren, Youngstown (1800), Kinsman (1802), and Williamsfield (1803) where he resided until his death in 1829 or 1830.

When Charles Case, his second wife, and his son Zopher from his first marriage settled in Williamsfield they found twenty to thirty families of Massasaugas Indians of the Delaware Tribe. The Indians were friendly and religious. The Case family were the first settlers, having come from Simsbury by way of Pittsburgh with wagons drawn by oxen over the Pennsylvania mountains. They remained the only white settlers until 1806. A son born to Captain Case and his wife in 1806 was the first white child to be born in the area. [Ellsworth, Historical Sketches of Ashtabula County, Ohio.] Charles Case had four children by his second wife. Children, probably born in Simsbury:

i. Charles Case, born August 18, 1774; christened in Scotland [Bloomfield], January 22, 1775 by the Reverend Roger Viets; married August 29, 1796 in Connecticut, Abigail Griswold, born September 29, 1772. They removed to Gibson, Pennsylvania, about 1813. He was a farmer. Both died in Gibson, Mr. Case on February 14, 1846 and his widow on March 4, 1850. Six children (Case).

ii. Deborah Case. She did not go to Ohio with her father; perhaps died young. A child of a Charles Case died September 20, 1797 and another died September 22, 1797. One of these may have been Deborah.

iii. Zopher Case, date of birth unknown. He went to Ohio with his father; resided in Kinsman, later settled in Williamsfield, and eventually removed to Lagrange County, Indiana. Records of the Ohio State Auditor list Zopher Case as a major on Lieutenant Colonel Richard Hay's staff, Ohio Militia, from August 22, 1812 to September, less than 14 days' service, therefore no pension. He married in Kinsman, Anna Randall, of that place who was born in Kentucky, a daughter of David and Sarah (Gibbs) Randall. She died in Milford, Indiana. Mr. Case died in Ohio. Eight children (Case).

36. (Hezekiah Phelps^4, John^3, John^2, John^1)

Hezekiah Phelps Viets, son of John Jr. and Elizabeth (Phelps) Viets, was born in Hop Meadow, Simsbury, December 24, 1759. He was not quite 6 years of age when his father died. At a freemen's meeting held in Simsbury April 10, 1779 he was among those "admitted and sworn." He was a fence-viewer in Simsbury in 1780. He served in the Revolutionary War in the Sixth Brigade, Eighteenth Regiment, made up in Simsbury and vicinity, under Captain Job Case and Colonel Phelps, from his time of arrival in New York, August 24, 1776 to September 19, 1776 when he was discharged.

On April 24, 1781, Hezekiah P. Viets and his brother John appeared before the Simsbury probate court as heirs of John Viets Jr. and the court appointed administrators to distribute land belonging to them in Salmon Brook [Granby]. In the 1790 census of Pownal, Vermont, he is listed with four males under sixteen and two females.

If Hezekiah Viets of Darke County, Ohio, is the first child of Hezekiah Phelps Viets, it would seem that his mother, the first wife of Hezekiah Phelps, must have died before 1783. The Pownal, Vermont, birth record for Truman, the second child of Hezekiah Phelps, lists him as the "first" child of Mary. Hezekiah Phelps remarried about 1798 (as his third wife?) Martha Bronson, daughter of Levi and Abigail (Henderson) Bronson of Kent, Connecticut.

Hezekiah Phelps lived in Pownal, Vermont; Dutchess, Saratoga, and Ulster Counties, New York; and in Kent, Connecticut. In 1822 he moved to Sugarloaf Township, Columbia County, Pennsylvania. The administration of his estate is dated 15 May 1824. His wife Martha renounced her right as administrator to their son Chauncey which establishes the child-parent relationship of the four youngest children. [For further history of this family see Schell, A Viets Genealogy.]

[Note: Both Francis Hubbard Viets and H. Isabel Viets placed some of the children of Hezekiah Phelps Viets in the appendix as "probably descended from Dr. John and Catharine Viets, but the descent has yet to be proved." This is my direct line and I have done much research that indicates these were the children of Hezekiah Phelps Viets by at least two wives, and possibly three. I feel that I have proved to my own satisfaction that the children listed are, indeed, those of Hezekiah Phelps Viets. Very little positive documentation has been found although much circumstantial evidence abounds. For further substantiation see the sections on the children listed below.--DVS] Children, by first marriage:

100. i. Hezekiah, born ca 1780.

By second (?) marriage:

101. ii. Truman, born January 24, 1784.
102. iii. Salmon, born March 11, 1787.
103. iv. Son, born ca 1789-1790, probably in Pownal, Vermont. May be Zopher Viets, adopted by his father's sister, Elizabeth (Viets) Colton. It is possible that his mother (Mary?) died shortly after his birth as his father was remarried with several younger children by 1800. [See Elizabeth, No. 37, and Zopher, No. 103.]

By third (?) marriage:

104. v. Harvey, born ca 1799.
105. vi. Chauncey, born ca 1800.
106. vii. Ira, born ca 1802.
viii. Belinda, born ca 1804. She was listed in the Viets Genealogy as a sister to Harvey, Chauncey, and Ira. The 1810 census of Ulster County, New York, lists a female in the household that fits this age bracket. No further record.

37. (Elizabeth^4, John^3, John^2, John^1)

Elizabeth Viets, daughter of John Jr. and Elizabeth (Phelps) Viets, was born in Simsbury February 15, 1762 and baptized June 6. She married Eliakim Colton, born in Stafford June 12, 1749, son of the Reverend Eli and Eunice (Smith) Colton of Simsbury. Eli Colton was graduated from Yale College in 1737, and was a son of the Reverend Benjamin Colton, who was the first minister of the West Hartford Congregational Church.

Eliakim Colton served in the army of the Revolution in the 5th Regiment Connecticut Volunteers, Colonel Philip B. Bradley, from July 1 to December 13, 1780; also under Lieutenant Hays, August and September 1776. He died September 23, 1807, age fifty-eight years. His tombstone is in the Simsbury Cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Colton had no children of their own, but raised a boy, recorded as Zopher Viets. He kept his original name. [He may have been Elizabeth's nephew, son of Hezekiah Phelps Viets. See Nos. 36 and 103.] Elizabeth Colton died July 12, 1827, age sixty-six, and is buried in the Granby Cemetery beside her foster son and his wife. [Tombstone.]

38. (John^4, John^3, John^2, John^1)

John Viets, son of John Jr. and Elizabeth (Phelps) Viets, was born in Simsbury about 1764 and was about one year of age at the time of his father's death. His birth is not recorded on the town records with those of the three older children. He is mentioned, however, in his father's will, found at the Hall of Records, Hartford, signed January 11, 1765 as follows: "I give to my beloved sons Hezekiah Phelps Viets and John Viets, the sum of 120 pounds each." His name again appears on the probate record with that of his brother Hezekiah P. as one of the heirs of John Viets Jr. At a freemen's meeting held in Simsbury, April 7, 1788, among those "admitted and sworn" was John Viets afterwards of Westfield, Massachusetts. He was a farmer.

The town records of Simsbury mention Lois, daughter of Ebenezer and Susannah Phelps, born in Simsbury about 1770. This may be the Lois who became the wife of John Viets of Westfield. Thus grandfather and grandson of the same name married wives of the same name.

The Viets Genealogy states "Mr. Viets removed with his family about 1800 to Rome, New York, where he died. The widow, with the children, soon returned to Westfield, where she died in 1847." The 1800 date must be an error. According to Westfield records, John Viets' name was on the long list for the jury box in Westfield which was accepted August 16, 1813. He was also listed in the 1820 census in Westfield, Massachusetts.

Their daughter Lois married a William Brumley; in the 1840 census for New Hartford, Oneida County, New York, a William Bromley is listed with persons in the household that would also fit the ages of John and Lois Viets. Harvey Viets, son of John, also had a daughter born in Utica in 1826. Since Rome, Utica, and New Hartford are all in the same area it would appear that the family may indeed have lived in this area and that John Viets died there. No positive documentation of this has yet been found.

Lois Viets' date of death is given as May 19, 1846 in the Agawam Congregational Church Records. [VR, West Springfield, Massachusetts.] The death of a "Mr. Viets" is listed as September 4, 1847. The latter may be for their son Harvey who was listed in the 1840 census at West Springfield. Children:

i. Betsey. This may have been the "female child of Viets aged 6 mos.; died May 7, 1795" as recorded in Westfield vital records or she may have been the Betsey Viets listed in the North Granby Church records as marrying Cleophas Reed November 23, 1815.

107. ii. Letia, born 1796.

108. iii. Lois.

109. iv. Harvey.

39. (Anna[4], Roger[3], John[2], John[1])

Anna Viets, daughter of the Reverend Roger and Hester (Botsford) Viets, was born June 6, 1776; baptized in Scotland [Bloomfield] August 14, 1774. She married December 25, 1794 Joseph Conley. She died July 17, 1802 in Nova Scotia, leaving four children, three of whom were living in 1809. [Trinity Anglican Parish Register, FHF#0979410, item 4.] Children, born in Digby, Nova Scotia:

i. Margaret Conley, born January 3, 1798.

ii. John Cornelius Conley, christened January 30, 1800.

iii. Ann Hester Conley, christened August 15, 1802.

[iv. Joseph Conley, christened October 26, 1805. He may have been the eldest and was not christened until 1805 or perhaps he was the son of Joseph by his second wife.]

40. (Martha[4], Roger[3], John[2], John[1])

Martha "Patty" Viets, daughter of the Reverend Roger and Hester (Botsford) Viets, was born July 9, 1778 in Simsbury; her sponsors at christening were Elisha and Eunice Griswold and her grandmother, Lois Viets. She married in Nova Scotia, September 26, 1794 Captain John Beyea. They resided in St. John, New Brunswick. She was regarded by later generations as the family record keeper and was affectionately known as "Aunt Beyea" - pronounced "B.A." Wilson's History of Digby, Nova Scotia states that John Beyea was a Loyalist residing in the commercial metropolis of New Brunswick and was a commander of the Mary Ann. He was also listed as the Captain of the Sally, a mail, passenger, and freight packet between St. John, New Brunswick, and Digby and Annapolis, Nova Scotia. [Trinity Anglican Parish Register, FHF#0979410, item 4.] Children:

i. Benjamin Beyea, christened October 6, 1796.
ii. John Burkel Beyea, christened September 20, 1805.
iii. Mariana Beyea, christened August 13, 1807.

41. (Roger Moore[4], Roger[3], John[2], John[1])

Roger Moore Viets, son of the Reverend Roger and Hester (Botsford) Viets, was born in Scotland, [Bloomfield], November 29, 1784. The sponsors at his baptism were Capt. Roger Moore, Alexander Viets Griswold, and Eunice Griswold. He was about two years of age when his family moved to Digby, Nova Scotia. He was educated for the ministry. He was one of the original three alumni of King's College, Windsor, Nova Scotia, and is thought to have been the first to be graduated, having taken the required four year course in three years.

In 1809 he was at St. John, New Brunswick, where he was assistant clergyman and had charge of a grammar school. He succeeded his father as rector at Digby. On his stone in the Cemetery in Digby is the following epitaph: "Sacred to the memory of Rev. Roger Moore Viets, who died 26 June 1839, Ae. 54 years, having been for 25 years rector of this parish."

Roger Moore Viets married Eliza Knutton of St. John. She died March 17, 1862. Children:

110. i. John Knutton, born 1809.
111. ii. Botsford, born July 4, 1810.
112. iii. Margaret Susan, born ca 1812.
113. iv. Louisa, born ca 1813.
v. Katherine, born July 16, 1815.
114. vi. Eliza Sophia, born December 15, 1816.
115. vii. Caroline, born May 9, 1818.
viii. George Augustus, born December 19, 1819; died 1839, a divinity student at Kings College, Nova Scotia.

42. (Mary Eliza[4], Roger[3], John[2], John[1])

Mary Eliza "Polly" Viets, daughter of the Reverend Roger and Hester (Botsford) Viets, was born February 9, 1792 in Digby, Nova Scotia; married June 2, 1811 Jacob Dakin, born August 17, 1786 in Digby, son of Thomas and Rebecca (Hitchcock) Dakin. Mr. Dakin was a blacksmith. He died in Digby, November 5, 1873. [Trinity Anglican Parish Register, FHF#0979410, item 4.] The name Dakin, English form of the French Dakeny, De A Keny, etc., is an ancient name, dating back to 802 A.D. in Normandy. One of the family fought under William the Conqueror in the Battle of Hastings and his name is enrolled in "Battle Abbey." A Thomas Dakin was in Massachusetts before 1650. Another Thomas, the father of Jacob, emigrated from Quaker Hill, New York, to Digby in 1783. Children:

i. Orlando Viets Dakin, born May 19, 1812; married Mary E. Bruce. Four children (Dakin).
ii. Eliza Dakin, born February 22, 1815; married Alfred Ray.
iii. Jane Ann Dakin, born February 17, 1818 in Digby, Nova Scotia; married there Wentworth Henry Quigley, born 1814 or 1815 in Granville, Nova Scotia, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman W. Quigley. Wentworth Quigley was a deacon of the Digby Baptist Church when it was organized September 30, 1839. He and his wife were on the executive committee of the local temperance society. Mr. Quigley died in Boston about 1873. Three children (Quigley).
iv. Maria Dakin, born April 2, 1820; married first, William Sothern; second, Joseph Chute.
v. Margaret Katherine Dakin, born December 27, 1822.
vi. Botsford Wellington Dakin, born June 20, 1825; married October 25, 1855 in Centreville, Nova Scotia, Margaret Ann Dakin, born November 9, 1837 in Centreville. Mrs. Dakin died June 15, 1909 and her husband died October 9, 1912, both in Digby. Seven children (Dakin). [Loyalist Lineages of Canada, 1783-1983.]
vii. Emily Cecelia Dakin, born November 18, 1826 in Digby; married there December 17, 1847 Charles Edward Gibson. Eleven children (Gibson).
viii. Gilbert Watson Dakin, born November 1, 1829; removed to Massachusetts where he was a schoolteacher and editor.
ix. Henry Walker Dakin, born June 11, 1832; married Adelia Foster. One daughter (Dakin).
x. Robert Augustus Dakin, born September 27, 1836; was a physician and surgeon and resided in Pugwash, Nova Scotia.

43. (Ruth^4, Seth^3, John^2, John^1)

Ruth Viets, daughter of Seth and Ruth (Smith) Viets was baptized September 2, 1770 in Scotland [Bloomfield] by the Reverend Roger Viets. She married Jonathan Palmer and died in 1840. Children:

i. Betsey Palmer.
ii. Chauncey Palmer.
iii. James Palmer, resided in Attice, New York.
iv. Carlisle Palmer, born about 1812; married Rose Ann (or Nancy Rosannah), daughter of Jesse Viets. [See No. 129.]
v. Caroline Palmer, married Paschal Winthrop Grant [see No. 52] as his second wife on November 14, 1846. He died November 2, 1869; his widow died March 24, 1887. Two children (Grant).

44. (Seth^4, Seth^3, John^2, John^1)

Seth Viets, son of Seth and Ruth (Smith) Viets, was born in Simsbury (now East Granby) in 1772 and baptized by his uncle, the Reverend Roger Viets, December 20 of that year in Turkey Hills. He was married February 19, 1799 at the First Church in Feeding Hills, Massachusetts (then a part of Westfield), to Eunice Dewey, born in Canterbury in 1779, daughter of Josiah and Huldah (Frost) Dewey. Seth Viets succeeded to the homestead of his father in Pawlet, Vermont, where he died June 8, 1847. Mrs. Seth Viets, age 80, was among the "Mothers of the Town" of Pawlet. She died May 8, 1860. [Jenks, Cemetery Inscriptions, Pawlet, Vermont.] Children:

116. i. Seth, born ca 1800.
ii. Eunice, born June 15, 1801; died April 8, 1880, unmarried.
117. iii. Harvey, born ca 1807.
118. iv. Mary, born ca 1808.
119. v. Isabel, born ca 1810.
120. vi. Henry, born May 4, 1814.

45. (Simeon Smith^4, Seth^3, John^2, John^1)

Simeon Smith Viets, son of Seth and Ruth (Smith) Viets, was christened at Salmon Brook, April 2, 1775 by his uncle, Roger Viets. [Bates, Records of Rev. Roger Viets.] He was named for his grandfather, Simeon Smith of Suffield. From West Springfield, Massachusetts, Feeding Hills Church: "Simeon Viets of Westfield and Jane McIntyre of West Springfield married June 21, 1795." Jane, born December 9, 1774, was the daughter of George and Thankful (Morley?) McIntyre. He married second, Widow Warner.

Simeon Viets was a man of enterprise and a Connecticut Yankee. He introduced into Suffield (where he spent most of his life) the manufacture of cigars which became an important industry in the town. These were seldom seen in the town before 1800 and were imported from the West Indies. Simeon Viets saw his business fail in 1821 and died penniless in 1838.

From the Windsor Locks Journal, 1942:

> The site of America's first cigar factory which was located in West Suffield will be the center of attraction Sunday afternoon November first at 3 o'clock, with unveiling of a stone marker and erection of a flagpole, and fitting patriotic exercises, establishing a prominent place for the town of Suffield in the long history of tobacco, the most important crop in this section of the country. This is the opening event in the international commemoration of the 450th anniversary of the birthday of the cigar next month.
> The American cigar industry began in Suffield early in the nineteenth century--as a commercial operation to supplant the rolling of cigars in the home, then the sole method of manufacture in this locality and other sections of the East. In 1810 Simeon Viets opened his shop, hiring a Cuban who had drifted into the town, to teach women to make cigars on a wholesale scale. He sent out salesmen (then termed peddlers) to dispose of these "real Spanish cigars," partly made of native tobacco. In the course of time the opening of this cigar factory resulted in many others; in fact, it is known that six hundred plants were once in operation in this inaugural center of cigar manufacture on this hemisphere; and, according to the local historical society, between 1821 and 1831 "the art of making cigars was so generally acquired that the spinning wheel, the loom, and the dairy gave way to the cigar table and the cutting board." From 1830 to 1850 most of the families of the Suffield area depended upon this new industry, and cigars were exchanged for household needs by merchants who found a ready sale for them. The cigar industry in Suffield began before tobacco was widely grown in that region.

In Civil War time the annual output was fourteen and one-half million cigars in the plants established in this little village. The pioneer cigar factory was located where now is the farm of Will Colson, on Ratley Road and Spruce Street. . . .

Children:

121. i. Sophia, born August 10, 1800.
122. ii. Simeon Smith Jr., born 1802.
123. iii. Jane, born October 5, 1805.
124. iv. Nancy, born 1807.
v. Louisa, born 1809; died in Easthampton, Massachusetts, in 1882, unmarried. [Massachusetts Index VR, FHF#0954401.]

46. (Lois^4, Seth^3, John^2, John^1)

Lois Viets, daughter of Seth and Ruth (Smith) Viets, was born probably in that part of Simsbury which is now East Granby, May 28, 1777. This is the date given for her sister Lydia in the Viets Genealogy but is an error according to the family Bible of David Cleveland, husband of Lydia Viets.

From Suffield Congregational Church records: "Benjamin Moody and Lois Viets married in Suffield May 28, 1796." Benjamin Moody was of Hartford. From Westfield records: "Lois Viets, daughter of Seth Viets and Ruth Smith of Westfield, married in Westfield Benjamin Moody of Hartford" [no date given]. Mrs. Moody and her brother, Roswell Viets, shared a business in East Hartford. [See Nos. 50 and 53.] From vital records of Granby: "Mrs. Moody, aged 49, died May 1826."

47. (Deborah^4, Seth^3, John^2, John^1)

Deborah Viets, daughter of Seth and Ruth (Smith) Viets, was born in that part of Simsbury which is now East Granby, date unknown. She married March 13, 1868 Joseph Jones of Pawlet, Vermont, son of Silas Jones. She died about 1871 in Saratoga, New York.

48. (Lydia^4, Seth^3, John^2, John^1)

Lydia Viets, daughter of Seth and Ruth (Smith) Viets, was born October 12, 1779 (as recorded in the family Bible of David Cleveland) in Simsbury, now East Granby. She married November 19, 1798 in Westfield, Massachusetts [VR, Westfield] Captain David Cleveland of Pawlet, Vermont. He achieved the title of Captain by serving in the Pawlet Light Artillery which may have seen some action in the War of 1812. He was born in 1777 in Salem, New York, son of Benjamin and Margaret (Hopkins) Cleveland. The family moved from Pawlet to Hinckley, Ohio, about 1836 where both Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland died, she October 17, 1836 and he February 8, 1855. Children, born in Vermont:

i. Harriett Cleveland, born August 6, 1801; married in Pawlet, October 19, 1820 David Anderson of Pawlet, born March 28, 1793 in Blandford, Massachusetts, son of James and Grace Anderson, probably from Northern Ireland. For several years David Anderson was Supervisor of the town of Pembroke, New York, the highest office of the town. He died there November 4, 1878; his widow died April 19, 1882. Eleven children (Anderson).

ii. Julia Cleveland, born October 13, 1803; died in Hinckley August, 27, 1855, unmarried.

iii. Hannah Cleveland, born March 14, 1806; died in Hinckley November 25, 1897; married William A. Blackney. (No children.)

iv. Laura Cleveland, born June 25, 1808; married in Hinckley May 24, 1837 William Bell, born June 6, 1813 in Mercer County, Pennsylvania. Both died in Hinckley; she February 2, 1889 and he May 24, 1891. One son (Bell).

v. George Cleveland, born November 17, 1810; married first, in Weymouth, Ohio, May 16, 1844 Electa Ann Train, born August 9, 1825 in Whately, Massachusetts, daughter of Samuel and Mary (Guernsey) Train. He married second, in Chatham, Ohio, October 4, 1860 Mary Lucinda Cleveland (a distant cousin) born in Salem, New York, daughter of Ira and _____ (Russell) Cleveland. Mr. Cleveland died December 20, 1872 in York, Ohio; his widow died February 1877. Two children (Cleveland).

vi. David Hopkins Cleveland, born May 14, 1813; married in Hinckley February 4, 1841 Eliza Swift, born June 10, 1819 in Cecil County, Maryland. Both Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland died in Hinckley; he died September 25, 1848 and she the following October 16. Two children (Cleveland).

vii. Sylvester Cleveland, born January 24, 1817; married first, in Richfield, Ohio, Mary E. Stocking, born April 26, 1818 in Richfield, and died February 24, 1861 in Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. Cleveland married second, March 5, 1862, Mrs. Sally Curtiss (Morgan) Barbour. Mr. Cleveland was a surveyor and his occupation called on him to reside in many parts of the country. He lived before the Civil War in New Orleans and when the war came he took up the cause of the Confederacy. He lived in Atlanta during a part of the war and was Assistant Commissary officer for the state. In 1864 he went to Chicago, from there to Denver, Colorado, and in 1880 to Topeka, Kansas. He died July 1, 1889. Four children (Cleveland).

viii. Lois Cleveland, born June 18, 1820; married in Hinckley in 1836 Captain William Harlow Comstock, born May 7, 1819 in New York state. His father was a sea captain and his mother a native of France. He was a Captain in the Union Army during the Civil War in the 65th Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry; died in Central City, Nebraska, March 19, 1878; his widow died in Ridgeville, Ohio, October 1891. Three children (Comstock).

49. (Jesse^4, Seth^3, John^2, John^1)

Jesse Viets, son of Seth and Ruth (Smith) Viets, was born in Simsbury, now East Granby, February 1781. He was living in Westfield, Massachusetts, when about 20 years of age and married there November 26, 1802 Dolly Sacket. [VR, Westfield.] He became interested in religion and became a Methodist minister. He probably removed with his father's family to Pawlet, Vermont. He was located for a time at St. Albans, Vermont, and was the only minister in the region at that time. From there he moved to Ohio and settled in Amboy in 1823. The journey was made with one pair of horses and all their possessions in one wagon.

When the time of their departure was announced, everybody came from far and near to bid them farewell and Godspeed on their long and tedious journey. Mr. Viets organized the Methodist Episcopal Church in Amboy in 1832 [Ashtabula County Genealogical Society, Ashtabula County, Ohio History, Then and Now], was its first pastor, and was a successful preacher in eastern Ohio for nearly twenty years. As a Christian, he was a pattern of piety, his life being a practical comment upon the gospel of Christ. He died July 19, 1842 and his widow died October 20 of the same year. [Ashtabula County, Ohio, Cemetery Inscriptions.]

Dolly Sacket was born November 25, 1777, daughter of Abner and Rhoda (Kellogg) Sacket, both of Westfield. Lieutenant Abner Sacket was a soldier of the Revolution and as shown by Massachusetts State records enlisted April 28, 1775 in Captain Warham Park's Company of Colonel Timothy Danielson's Regiment. He is credited with a term of service lasting three months and ten days in said company. He is also credited with responding to the alarm of April 19, 1775 and serving for eight days previous to his enlistment as above stated in Westfield Company of minute men, commanded by Lieutenant John Shepard. Mention is also made of his services for an unstated period as 1st Lieutenant of Captain Daniel Sacket's Company of the 3rd Regiment of Hampshire County Militia.

From Weygant, Sacketts of America:

> The Sackets, Sacketts, and Sackvilles of England trace descent from a common ancestor whose forbears were natives of Normandy. The colonist ancestors of the Sackets and Sacketts of America came from England.
> About 1340, Adam le Sackere (Adam the sacker)--from the fact that he purchased and imported wool--is met with in England. His ancestor came to England with William the Conqueror and is recognized by the Sackets, Sacketts, and Sackvilles of England as their common ancestor. Simon Sacket came to Massachusetts and was one of the founders of Newtown. John Sacket became a resident of New Haven. In early records the name was spelled with two t's.

140. vii. Hiram A., born January 19, 1828.

141. viii. Mary Jane, born June 2, 1830.
142. ix. Martha M., born May 25, 1834.
143. x. Shalor Nelson, born January 4, 1837.
144. xi. Gaylor G., born August 24, 1840.

52. (Julia[4], Seth[3], John[2], John[1])

Julia Viets, daughter of Seth and Ruth (Smith) Viets, was probably born in Westfield, Massachusetts, in 1794. She married Paschal Winthrop Grant, July 1829 [Connecticut Marriage Index, FHF#0003314] born in East Windsor, December 14, 1793, son of Roswell and Fluvia (Wolcott) Grant. He was a private in the Connecticut militia in 1813. In East Windsor he was a surveyor, collector, and assessor. Mrs. Grant died May 14, 1842 in Conneaut, Ohio, where the family had moved in the autumn of 1832. After her death Mr. Grant married Caroline Palmer [see No. 43] who died March 14, 1887. Mr. Grant died November 2, 1860. Children, born in East Windsor:

i. Edward Grant, born May 14, 1821; married in Conneaut, Ohio, January 1845 Mary Cole Keyes, born in Conneaut November 14, 1823. Mr. Grant was a merchant and a manufacturer of tobacco products. He was drowned in March 1850 in Lake Erie, caused by an explosion of a steam boiler. Two children (Grant).
ii. Henry Grant, born February 10, 1830; married Mary Jane Viets, daughter of Zopher Viets. [See No. 141.]
iii. Paschal Winthrop Grant Jr., born July 10, 1832; married in Conneaut, January 1858 Maria Porter Woodruff. Mr. Grant died in Conneaut January 16, 1860. His widow married Henry P. Keyes and died in Lapeer, Michigan, March 10, 1895, age sixty-two years.

53. (Sarah[4], Seth[3], John[2], John[1])

Sarah Viets, daughter of Seth and Ruth (Smith) Viets, was born July 16, 1798 in Westfield, Massachusetts. When thirteen years of age she went from Pawlet, Vermont, to East Hartford, where she assisted in a manufacturing business carried on by Roswell Viets and his sister, Lois (Viets) Moody. She married in West Springfield, Massachusetts, February 25, 1819 Daniel Brewer IV [Feeding Hills Congregational Church record], born in East Hartford, February 22, 1796, son of Daniel III and Elizabeth W. (Roberts) Brewer. Mrs. Brewer died October 4, 1883. Children:

i. Arthur Ellsworth Brewer, born November 19, 1819 in East Hartford; died February 1, 1901 in Monson, Massachusetts; married in 1842 or 1843 Catherine Andrus of South Glastonbury, who died in Monson, 1862. He married second, Sylvia C. Bugbee of Union. Three children by first marriage (Brewer).
ii. Hansey Brewer, born March 10, 1822 in East Hartford; married November 25, 1846 William Jones, born July 13, 1821 in East Hartford and died May 1, 1886. Mrs. Jones died June 14, 1907 in Hockanum, East Hartford. Two children (Jones).

v. Edgar Brewer, born June 17, 1830 in East Hartford; married Ellen King of Hartford who died July 3, 1901. Mr. Brewer died January 13, 1931. He was presented with a gold-headed cane as oldest member of family at the 1919 Viets' reunion. Four children (Brewer).

vi. Hamlet Brewer, born October 15, 1832; died June 17, 1870; married Ellen Vibberts.

vii. Julia Brewer, born April 13, 1835; married Cyrus Knight of Hartford.

viii. Roswell Henry Brewer, born May 30, 1837; died 1839.

ix. Roswell Viets Brewer, born August 1839; died age twenty-six years.

54. (Abner^4, Abner^3, John^2, John^1)

Abner Viets Jr., son of Captain Abner and Mary (Viets) Viets, was born in what is now East Granby June 28, 1772 and baptized there September 20, 1772 by the Reverend Roger Viets. He married Sarah Booth [probably the one of that name who was born in Simsbury, March 18, 1772, daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth (Phelps) Booth]. They lived in a house which stood a little east of the old homestead of his father, on the north side of the highway, and also for a time on the farm of his grandfather on his mother's side, near Newgate prison.

An incident touching the family life of Abner and Sarah has been handed down which is worthy of relating, as it indicates acumen and sense of humor in the one, and pluck in the other. Abner's wife was sick and not expected to live. A clever girl, Abiah Phelps, was helping and taking care of the children. Abner was sitting near the sick bed, when his wife said to him: "Abner, what are you going to do when I am gone? You will be getting married again, I suppose." Abner, after a moment of quiet, replied: "I don't know. Abiah, here, is a good hand to take care of children." There upon, Sarah sprang up in bed, and with great determination, said: "Abiah Phelps shall never take care of my children!" immediately dressed herself and went about the housework.

The family of Abner Viets removed about 1825 to Fowler, Trumbull County, Ohio. Mr. Viets died November 18, 1825; his widow died May 26, 1837 and was buried in Fowler. Children:

145. i. Sarah, born March 7, 1794.
146. ii. Rebecca, born September 4, 1796.
147. iii. Mary "Polly," born February 25, 1798.
148. iv. Angeline, born May 4, 1800.
149. v. Byron, born January 25, 1802.
150. vi. Drayton, born June 13, 1804.

vii. Carlos, said to have been a soldier in the Mexican War and to have died near New Orleans.
151. viii. Oliver.
152. ix. Lathrop A., born December 2, 1816.

55. (Mary[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Mary Viets, daughter of Abner and Mary (Viets) Viets, was born in May 1774. She was baptized in Turkey Hills July 17, 1774 by her uncle, the Reverend Roger Viets. She married Henry Viets June 22, 1795. She died April 7, 1805. [See No. 24.]

56. (Benoni[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Benoni Viets, son of Abner and Mary (Viets) Viets, was born February 13, 1777 in what is now East Granby; married Esther Dewey, born May 6, 1780 in Westfield, Massachusetts, daughter of Gad and Deidamia (Wood) Dewey. She died May 24, 1829. They lived for a time near the home of his father, and also for a time resided on a farm just south of the prison. Children:

i. Lester, baptized in Granby, June 30, 1800 by Roger Viets; died October 11, 1803 and was buried in Granby Cemetery. [Hale, FHF#0003217.]
153. ii. Deidamia, born ca 1801.
154. iii. Eliza A., born ca 1806.
iv. Lester, born 1809; died October 3, 1821. [Hale, FHF#0003217.]
v. Ratus, born 1809; died 1821.
155. vi. Rudd, born ca 1811.
156. vii. Hobart Benoni.
viii. Edwin Alonzo. He was listed in the 1840 census in New Harmony, Posey County, Indiana, living alone. According to the Viets Genealogy he had two children. A Virgil Viets enumerated in the same county in the 1850 census as a printer, born ca 1831 in Indiana, may have been his son. An "Edwin A. Viets" died December 3, 1845. [Hale, FHF#0003217.]
157. ix. Julia, born October 31, 1821.

57. (Samuel[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Samuel Viets, son of Captain Abner and Mary (Viets) Viets, was born January 17, 1779 and died suddenly March 6, 1814. He resided for a time on his grandfather's place south of Newgate, near the peak, afterwards occupied by his brother Benoni. He married in October 1804 Susan Pratt, born ca 1782, whose mother was a daughter of Haynes and Elizabeth (Griswold) Woodbridge, the latter being a daughter of Honorable Samuel Griswold of Windsor. Haynes Woodbridge was a descendant of Governor Haynes of Connecticut, also of Governor Dudley of Massachusetts. Samuel Griswold was descended from the Honorable Henry Wolcott, founder of the Wolcott family of Connecticut. Mrs. Viets died April 4, 1865. [Hale, FHF#0003217.] Children:

158. i. Seymour Samuel, born May 16, 180_.
ii. Miles or Milo, born 1806 or 1807; married June 2, 1825 Julia Alderman, daughter of Ezekiel Alderman. He was in the U.S. Army in 1834.
iii. William Pratt, born about 1810; was in Trinity College in Hartford for a time; died in Pennsylvania.
159. iv. Susan Jane, born July 30, 1814.

58. (Eunice^4, Abner^3, John^2, John^1)

Eunice Viets, daughter of Captain Abner and Mary (Viets) Viets, was born in East Granby, December 28, 1780; married December 6, 1802 Enoch Kellogg, born October 9, 1768 in Westfield, Massachusetts, a son of David and Elizabeth (Jones) Kellogg. Mr. Kellogg was a farmer in Southwick, Massachusetts, and both he and his wife died there. He died October 29, 1847, she September 15, 1863. Children, born in Southwick, Massachusetts:

i. Enoch Viets Kellogg, born February 19, 1804; married in Southwick, December 1 or 4, 1828 by Rev. Calvin Foote, Lucy Loomis, born May 9, 1810 in Southwick, daughter of Japhet and Mehitable (Kent) Loomis. Mr. Kellogg was a farmer and resided in Westfield until 1832 when he removed to Fowler, Ohio. There he served as county commissioner for Trumbull County nine years. He died in Fowler March 27, 1872; his widow died in the home of her daughter Eunice in Cortland, Ohio, September 30, 1889. Six children (Kellogg).
ii. Annis Kellogg, born March 2, 1806 and died May 5, 1863. She married Richard Hardy of Southwick, a son of Henry Hardy.
iii. Eunice Kellogg, born October 11, 1808; married September 23, 1831 Amos J. Larnard or Leonard (the descendants call it the former), born in Suffield, October 20, 1808, a son of Amariah of Suffield and Fowler, Ohio, and Sarah (Johnson) Larnard. He died October 20, 1892; his widow died May 16, 1898. Seven children (Larnard).
iv. Mary Kellogg, born December 22, 1811; died August 16, 1814.
v. Lavinia Kellogg, born February 17, 1814; married Lathrop A. Viets. [See No. 152.]
vi. Samuel Kellogg, born August 23, 1816; married May 2, 1866, Mary A. Smith, born 1838 in Chester, Massachusetts. Mr. Kellogg was a farmer and lived on the old homestead; he died April 14, 1868. Two daughters (Kellogg).
vii. Hiram Kellogg, born December 9, 1819; married February 9, 1862 Mrs. Elizabeth (Kilbourn) Hurlburt, born November 18, 1836, daughter of Evelin and Julia (Moses) Kilbourn. Mr. Kellogg died after 1900. One son (Kellogg).

59. (Dan[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Dan Viets, son of Captain Abner and Mary (Viets) Viets, was born in the old homestead October 17, 1783. He married, January 1, 1812 Beulah Phelps, born February 21, 1790, daughter of Deacon Judah and Abigail (Bishop) Phelps of Suffield, and sister of Captain Apollos Phelps. Deacon Judah Phelps served in the Revolutionary War in Colonel Josiah Spencer's regiment. He was a descendant of William Phelps, who came to Dorchester, Massachusetts, on the Mary and John and was one of the founders of Windsor in 1636.

Mr. Viets built a home on the south side of the highway, nearly opposite his father's place, where he lived for about 55 years. He was a farmer and a stonecutter. The stepstones of his own house, as well as those of many houses in East Granby, are a memorial of his work. He was called Deacon Dan, although he never held the office of deacon in any church. He was a lay member and vestryman of the Episcopal Church at Salmon Brook (Granby). He partook of the communion with his wife at the Baptist Church in Tariffville, of which she was a member, and she in turn communed with him at the Episcopal Church. He was quite public spirited; for the sake of convenience to himself and others he built by contract, at a low figure, the highway from Granby to East Granby. His wife was a woman of energy, working wonders at the spinning wheel and the loom. She died February 6, 1862; Mr. Viets died December 20, 1866.

Children, born in East Granby:

160. i. Mary A. Louisa, born February 15, 1813.
161. ii. Annis Samantha, born February 3, 1815.
162. iii. Julia Ann, born August 17, 1816.
163. iv. Harriet Newell, born January 1, 1818.
164. v. Apollos Phelps, born September 20, 1819.
165. vi. Judah Dryden, born February 2, 1823.
166. vii. Dan Alexander, born November 11, 1824.
167. viii. Joseph Franklin, born February 6, 1827.
168. ix. Benjamin Erskine, born June 12, 1828.

60. (Levi[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Levi Viets, son of Captain Abner and Mary (Viets) Viets, was born June 15, 1786 and spent his life at the old homestead, which he received from his father. He was a man of energy and sagacity, cultivated a large farm, and was prudent and saving, both of time and money, never wasting an hour. He married, February 15, 1825 Sarah Dibble, daughter of Deacon Benjamin and Elizabeth (Fuller) Dibble. She was a woman of marked ability, industry, and economy. She was as much the head of the family as her husband, and was consulted by him on important matters. In 1840 she developed mental problems. She died September 15, 1852. Levi Viets died December 22, 1857. Children:

169. i. Levi Clinton, born January 17, 1827.
ii. Richard Benjamin, born April 23, 1830; died July 24, 1863; was a young man of excellent character and principle; he was a communicant of the Episcopal Church in Tariffville. When about 12 years of age he decided, of his own accord, to drink no more hard cider, a too-prevalent habit among farmers of that day; neither he nor his brother Clinton ever drank alcoholic beverages thereafter.

61. (Elizabeth[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Elizabeth Viets, daughter of Abner and Mary (Viets) Viets, was born April 30, 1790 and christened by her uncle, Roger Viets, 30 June 1800. She married Russell Loomis, son of Noah Loomis. She died in 1857; her husband died October 10, 1823. Children [VR, Southwick, Massachusetts:

i. Daughter, born November 1, 1807.
ii. John Loomis, born August 20 1815.

62. (Keziah[4], Luke[3], John[2], John[1])

Keziah Viets, daughter of Luke and Keziah (Phelps) Viets, was born November 12, 1777. She married first May 7, 1818 Eli Moore; married second James Hendrick Jr. of Easthampton, Massachusetts, who died in 1857. Keziah died in August 1847.

63. (Rosanna[4], Luke[3], John[2], John[1])

Rosanna Viets, daughter of Luke and Keziah (Phelps) Viets, was born December 4, 1778 in Captain John Viets' house at Newgate. She married September 5, 1800 Elijah Remington [VR, Suffield], born August 1774, son of Elijah and widow Esther Gunn Remington, and died March 9, 1807. According to Phelps and Servin, Genealogy of the Phelps Family, Mrs. Remington later married a Mr. Wearn. Children:

i. Eliza Remington, born August 21, 1801 in Suffield; she married November 20, 1825 Jabez Hendrick, born March 22, 1796 in Easthampton, Massachusetts, son of James and Huldah (Parsons) Hendrick. He died in Springfield, Massachusetts, August 5, 1885; his wife died February 7, 1876 in Chicopee Falls, Massachusetts. Mr. Hendrick was a farmer and resided in Suffield and later in Chicopee Falls. Eight children (Hendrick).
ii. John Remington, born June 26, 1803.
iii. Esther Remington, married John Tullar, a keeper of Newgate prison. The family removed to Peoria, Illinois.

64. (Luke[4], Luke[3], John[2], John[1])

Luke Viets Jr., son of Luke and Keziah (Phelps) Viets, was born in Captain John Viets' house at Newgate, August 2, 1780 and died at his own home not far distant April 30, 1821, age forty. He married June 4, 1798 Abigail Phelps, daughter of Deacon Judah and Abigail (Bishop) Phelps. She was born May 27, 1781 and died May 16, 1831. She is said to have been a lady of remarkable beauty. Children, born in East Granby:

170. i. Gervase, born February 4, 1800.
171. ii. Nancy Ann, born July 3, 1801.
iii. Charles, born March 12, 1803; died March 1, 1838, unmarried.
iv. Catherine, born August 14, 1805; died January 9, 1818.
v. Orlando, born August 5, 1807; died July 8, 1811. Buried in Suffield Cemetery. [Hale, FHF#0003217.]
172. vi. Henry W., born September 2, 1809.
173. vii. Abigail, born August 6, 1811.
174. viii. Ansel, born March 27, 1814.
175. ix. Jane, born May 9, 1816.
176. x. Emeline Caroline, born February 2, 1818.
177. xi. Amoret E., born May 31, 1821.

65. (John^4, Luke^3, John^2, John^1)

Captain John Viets, son of Luke and Keziah (Phelps) Viets, was born at Newgate March 1, 1782. He was captain of a training band, read much, and was well posted in law and the practical affairs of the day. He was an industrious and successful farmer. He settled at the age of 25 on the farm a mile south of the prison, afterwards for many years in possession of his son, Chauncey E., and later owned by George E. Bidwell. He purchased and occupied during the latter part of his life the Orson Phelps' place in East Granby. He is said to have been a man of medium stature and of dark eyes and hair. He served as Captain of the 18th regiment in the War of 1812. He married October 2, 1805 Abigail Eno, born February 28, 1785 in Simsbury, daughter of Jonathan and Mary (Hart) Eno of Simsbury. Jonathan Eno was a descendant of James Eno, one of the early settlers of Windsor. Mary Hart, his wife, was a descendant of Deacon Stephen Hart, who settled in Cambridge, Massachusetts, in 1630, and later in Hartford.

John Viets died October 11, 1857; his widow died December 20, 1863. Children:

178. i. John Jay, born September 22, 1806.
179. ii. Imlay Bird, born December 19, 1808.
180. iii. Abi Lavinia, born April 20, 1810.

66. (George^4, Luke^3, John^2, John^1)

Captain George Viets, son of Luke and Keziah (Phelps) Viets, was born February 12, 1788 in Captain John Viets' house at Newgate and lived there most of his life. He was captain of a training band, a thrifty farmer, and carried on an extensive business in gravestones. He built the stonehouse occupied for many years by his son George Watson. He was a promoter of good roads. His account book shows that he furnished a large amount of material for repairs at the prison. Likewise it showed that he hauled ore from the copper mines to the Farmington Canal when the mines were reopened about 1830. He was one of the few descendants of Captain John Viets, aside from the descendants of the Reverend Roger, who was of the Episcopal faith.

George Viets married on February 16, 1809 his cousin, Charlotte Rice, born September 13, 1787 in Suffield, daughter of Eleazar and Rosannah (Viets) Rice. [See No. 18.] Mr. and Mrs. Viets lived during their later years in Windsor, where both died, she on April 21, 1862 and he on May 3, 1863. They, as well as four infants [no dates], are buried in East Granby Cemetery. [Hale, FHF#0003217.] Children, born at Newgate:

Obituary, Clifton, Illinois, newspaper unknown

William A. Viets, the "Father of Clifton" is dead. He died in his home in Clifton February 21 [1905] at the age of ninety-two years and one day. His death brought sadness into the family circle and the community in general.

William A. Viets was born in Becket, Massachusetts. He was one of the earliest settlers here and from the first was most enthusiastic in founding a colony of Eastern people. He was of Puritan stock and in his long life of usefulness was foremost in every enterprise which in anyway promoted the interest of his adopted home. Mr. Viets came to this section in 1857 from New York where he was for many years, and secured the title to the land on which the village stands. He platted the land, named the place Clifton and began selling lots. He was the founder of the village and for nearly half a century figured most prominently in the development of Clifton. He set out beautiful rows of shade trees and the various parks which now command the admiration of everyone and gained for Clifton the name of "Park Village" he sat out at his own expense. As long as this generation lives all who admire the beautiful in Nature will thank the liberal soul who thus bestowed a public pleasure.

Among other good things which Mr. Viets gave attention to was the making of good roads leading toward Clifton, and the establishment of post routes. He was also an active spirit in the establishment of schools and churches. For many years he served as a justice and always bore the reputation of being a judicious and conscientious administrator of the law. Until the last he took a deep interest in the welfare of the community and kept in close touch with the social, religious and industrial life of the village.

In politics Mr. Viets was a Republican. He cast his first vote for William Henry Harrison. He had the distinction of having voted for eighteen presidential nominees. In 1856 he married Frances French of Boston, who died in 1880. The youngest daughter, Miss Helen died in 1893.

The remains of the venerable "Father of Clifton" are today laid to rest in the village cemetery which he laid out.

By second marriage, also born in Southington:

202. v. Alvin J., born March 26, 1847.

82. (Lucretia[5], David[4], David[3], Henry[2], John[1])

Lucretia Viets, daughter of David Jr. and Lucretia (Rice) Viets, was born April 11, 1810 in Colebrook. She married in the winter of 1828, Isaac Hurd, who came to Southington, Ohio, from Colebrook when four years of age with his parents, Seth and Thankful (Ray) Hurd. His father was a Revolutionary soldier. Lucretia Hurd died March 10, 1865 in Southington.

From Wickham, Memorial to the Pioneer Women of the Western Reserve:

> . . . [Isaac and Lucretia] expected to remain with his parents until spring, but the mother-in-law said "When bees swarm they must take another hive." Mrs. Hurd, nothing daunted, went into the woods and gathered moss in her apron to stop crevices in the log house, which her young husband with the assistance of neighbors, had roughly put together. She lived to own one of the best homes in the township. It was also the home of all the Methodist ministers in this section of the country. Many arise and call her blessed. I heard one who knew her well say, "Her pantry was never bare; her larder never empty."

Children, born in Southington, but perhaps not in order of birth:

i. Edwin Hurd, born March 2, 1829; died March 13, 1831.
ii. Lusina Hurd, born September 15, 1831; died March 15, 1833.

vii. Franklin Hurd, born November 10, 1844 in Southington; married November 26, 1865 Mary Elizabeth Hess, born November 28, 1844 in Bristol, Ohio, a daughter of Isaac and Lettie (Dunlap) Hess. Mr. Hurd died in Florida March 9, 1934. Mrs. Hurd, at the age of 94, had a remarkable memory and was in comfortable health, a young-looking woman for her age. She returned to her home in Southington from her winter home in Florida on May 4, 1941 and died May 29 of that year. Five children (Hurd).

viii. Henry Hurd, died March 17, 1865, at age twelve.

83. (Henry^5, David^4, David^3, Henry^2, John^1)

Henry Viets, son of David Jr. and Lucretia (Rice) Viets, was born October 24, 1813 in Colebrook. He married in 1837, Betsey Tinker, born August 23, 1815 in Vernon, New York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Tinker. She died July 15, 1883; her husband died November 10, 1904. [Note: These dates of births and deaths are copied from the Viets' monument in Hillside Cemetery in Shalersville, Ohio.]

From Wickham, Memorial to the Pioneer Women of the Western Reserve:

> Betsey Tinker came with her parents to Mantua Township, Ohio, where she was married in a log house to Henry Viets of Shalersville, Ohio. She had a family of nine children--six boys and three girls. Many of the younger people of the town have warm recollections of "Aunt Betsey" as she was familiarly called. She was famous for the products of her dairy and her butter was in great demand.

Children, born in Shalersville:

203. i. Harriet Eliza, born May 8, 1838.

ii. Elliot Lee, born October 12, 1839; died in Hospital No. 1, Chattanooga, Tennessee, August 28, 1864. Enlisted 1861; discharged August 28, 1864, Battery A, 1st OVLA. [Grave Registrations of Soldiers Buried in Ohio, FHF#0182786.]

204. iii. William A., born September 21, 1842.

iv. Lewis A., born September 9, 1844; died September 18, 1864 in Shalersville.

205. v. Newton Eugene, born July 20, 1846.

206. vi. Egbert H., born April 24, 1849.

85. (Margaret Maria[5], Benjamin[4], David[3], Henry[2], John[1])

Margaret Maria Viets, daughter of Benjamin and Sally (Donaldson) Viets, was born January 31, 1810 in Southington, Ohio; married there in 1833 Albert Miles, born January 22, 1812 in Camster, Alleghany County, New York, son of Thomas and Sally (Seger) Miles. According to H. Isabel Viets, Margaret Maria Miles went to Becket, Massachusetts, where she died April 23, 1858. [Archive sheet, Mormon church, says she died 20 October 1854 in Big Cottonwood, Summit County, Utah.] Mr. Miles joined the Mormon church in Illinois, and afterwards removed to Utah where he married again. He died in Glendale, Franklin County, Idaho, on May 12, 1886. Children:

i. Henry Albert Miles, born December 1833 in Parkman, Geauga County, Ohio; died ca 1834.
ii. Benjamin Adrian Miles, born December 3, 1835 in Parkman; married in 1856, Rachel Mahulda Lockhart, born February 24, 1836 in Monroe County, Mississippi(?), daughter of John and Margaret Lockhart. The family lived in Peoa, Utah, where Mr. Miles died December 5, 1888. Twelve children (Miles).
iii. Edwin Ruthven Miles, born May 25, 1838 in Parkman; married March 11 1857 Jane Ruth Wakefield. He died April 2, 1912.

Ezekiel Viets, son of Jonathan Munsell and Fanny (Remington) Viets, was born in West Suffield, March 30, 1818; married October 9, 1842, Catherine Charity Warner, born February 20, 1823 and died July 1884. Mr. Viets moved to Ohio in 1849. They resided in Avon. He died April 21, 1897.

From "Autobiography of Jonathan Munsell Viets," [son of Ezekiel], Early Vital Records of Ohio, Vol. 2, Ohio State Library:

> . . . our folks reached Henrietta Hill, Lorain County, Ohio, eleven miles west of Elyria, some time in November, 1849. Our folks stayed for some days in the home of father's brother Henry, who lived in a log house. After our goods arrived by boat at Vermillion, father moved into a log house belonging to his uncle Chauncey Remington. There was a big stone fireplace in one end of the house and all of the cooking had to be done by the heat from that fire. An iron crane hung over the fire to hang pots and kettles from, and the baking was done in a tin oven set in front of the fire. What was called a Dutch oven was built out of stone on one side of the fireplace; put a fire inside of it until it was well heated then draw out the fire and put in the baking. Mother used that oven once in a while.

Children:

218. i. Jonathan Munsell, born September 15, 1843.
ii. Bushnell, born November 9, 1845; he served in the Civil War as Private, Co. H, 1st OA. [Pension record filed by father in Ohio, FHF#0541245.] He died April 24, 1873, in Kansas and was buried in Avon Center Cemetery, Lorain County, Ohio.

100. (Hezekiah[5], Hezekiah P.[4], John[3], John[2], John[1].)

"Hezekiah Viets was probably a son of Hezekiah Phelps Viets from the fact that he bore the same name, and was born about 1780 when the latter was 21 years of age, but there is no positive proof of his descent. He was an errand boy in a hotel in Philadelphia when twelve years old, and sold books on commission in Philadelphia. Nothing is known of him previous to this time. Among his papers are found notes given to H.V., bearing date 1797. Letters were written him from Reading, Pa., in 1802 from some of his associates. [These papers are in the estate left by J. Blaine Wellmeier, a great great grandson of Hezekiah Viets, Dayton, Ohio, in 1988.] He was for a time in New Orleans, and later in Cuba and St. Domingo, where it seems that he was sent for his health. Again letters were written him in Philadelphia congratulating him on his safe return. He is next found in Cincinnati in 1802, doing business for a man by the name of Barnes, from whom he received goods up to 1813.

"In 1816 he brought a store to Fort Jefferson, Darke County, Ohio, where he laid out the town, and lived the reminder of his life. He entered several tracts of land at Fort Jefferson, opened up a farm, and built a sawmill, which furnished all the lumber that was used for building purposes for miles around.

"About 1839 he was attacked by rheumatism, which incapacitated him for his usual work. In 1845 he took a notion to peddle, and followed this until his death, which occurred July 3, 1850, at Parkersburg, Va.

"These interesting facts were furnished by John Wesley Viets, a son of Hezekiah, now living at Fort Jefferson. It may be added that a nephew of John Wesley Viets, living in another part of Ohio, speaks of his grandfather Hezekiah as having gone from Vermont and settled at Fort Jefferson. Hezekiah Viets married and raised a family at Fort Jefferson."--FHV.

Hezekiah's son, John Wesley Viets, in a speech at the dedication of an obelisk in Fort Jefferson October 24, 1907, states that he has a license certifying that Hezekiah Viets has the privilege of bringing a store to and selling goods in Fort Jefferson. [Garst Museum, Greenville, Ohio.]

From Wilson, Fort Jefferson, the Frontier Post of the Upper Miami Valley:

> . . . On Sept. 23, 1818, Hezekiah Viets laid off a town plat of fifty-eight lots, with two main streets running north and south, and three cross streets, including the site of the fort in the southwest corner of the village plat. As the fort site was not built in early days the boys of the village appropriated it for a commons and playground, dubbing it the Old War Ground. Here they picked up such relics as a flintlock, a bayonet, musket barrel, tomahawk, scalping-knife, six-ounce lead bullets and fragments of bombshells.

Hezekiah married first, Peninah Chapman and second, Hulda Ludington on December 14, 1828 in Darke County, Ohio. He supposedly died in Parkersburg, Virginia [now West Virginia], on July 3, 1850. His widow married September

24, 1857 John Young. She died September 25, 1861, and Mr. Young died February 24, 1862. Both are buried in Pioneer Cemetery, Fort Jefferson, Ohio. [Tombstones read by DVS, 1987.]

In this cemetery are also found tombstones for two infants presumably Hezekiah's, Henrietta and Henry, both dying between their first and second birthdays. The tombstones are almost identical and circumstances seems to indicate they were twins. However, the calculation from their ages at date of death indicates they were born five months apart. To further complicate the issue, Peninah's date of birth is given by H. Isabel Viets as the same year (1820). In 1842 Hezekiah and Hulda Viets donated land for the M.E. Church adjacent to the cemetery. [Short and Bower, Cemetery Inscriptions, Darke County, Ohio.] Children, by first marriage:

227. i. Peninah, born March 17, 1820.
ii. Henrietta, born 1820?; died August 16, 1821.
iii. Henry, born 1820?; died April 2, 1822.
228. iv. Andrew Jackson, born May 5, 1826.

By second marriage:

v. Hezekiah, born May 4, 1829; died August 6, 1833. [Tombstone, Pioneer Cemetery, Ft. Jefferson, Ohio.]
229. vi. William, born September 18, 1830.
230. vii. Charles, born June 10, 1832.
231. viii. John Wesley, born January 6, 1835.
232. ix. Elijah, born June 15, 1838.

101. (Truman^5, Hezekiah P.^{4}, John^3, John^2, John^1.)

Truman Viets, son of Hezekiah Phelps and Mary Viets, was born January 24, 1784 in Pownal, Vermont [Vermont VR, birth certificate]; married Elizabeth Jordan. They resided in Clarion County, Pennsylvania, but later removed to Houston County, Minnesota. On July 16, 1860 Truman Viets is listed as the grantor of property in Houston County but was living in Bad Axe [now Vernon] County, Wisconsin. Both he and his wife Elizabeth signed the deed. An Elizabeth "Veits" was listed in the Winona County, Minnesota, census in 1870. Both supposedly died in that county. Children, born in Pennsylvania:

i. Truman, died at age seventeen.
233. ii. Hezekiah Phelps II, born April 10, 1829.
iii. A daughter, died in infancy.

102. (Salmon^5, Hezekiah P.^{4}, John^3, John^2, John^1.)

Salmon Viets, son of Hezekiah Phelps and Mary Viets, was born March 11, 1787, in Pownal, Vermont [Vermont VR, birth certificate]; married Mary Andrews, born January 12, 1781, daughter of Asahel Jr. and Phebe (Slater) Andrews of Simsbury. [Andrews, Genealogical History of John and Mary Andrews.] Salmon Viets is thought to have died in the War of 1812. [Unable to find any mention of a Salmon Viets in War Records of 1812, 1834, or later. No mention made of such a person in Granby or Simsbury vital records.--HIV] Children:

i. Phebe. A Phebe "Veets" was admitted to fellowship in the First Congregational Church of Dalton, Massachusetts, September 22, 1833. [Dalton, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, VR, FHF#0234565.] This would add credibility that Elam [see iii below] is indeed the son of Salmon.

ii. Caroline. No further record.

234. iii. Elam, born about 1808. Note: I have tentatively placed Elam as a son of Salmon. The 1810 census of Connecticut lists Salmon Viets living in Simsbury with one male and one female child under the age of 10. Elam was known to have been born in Granby and to have lived in Dalton, Massachusetts. His son Henry's wife was from Dalton and Phebe, daughter of Salmon, was also known to have lived there. [See i above.] According to the Genealogy of the Andrew's Family, Salmon reportedly died in the War of 1812. The widow may have remarried and moved to Dalton, Massachusetts.--DVS

103. (Zopher^5, [Hezekiah P.^{4}?], John^3, John^2, John^1.)

[Note: I have tentatively listed Zopher as a son of Hezekiah Phelps Viets, born in Vermont, perhaps one of four males under 16 years of age listed with Hezekiah Phelps Viets in the 1790 census of Pownal, Vermont. Hezekiah Phelps was married to Martha Bronson by 1800. His first (second?) wife Mary possibly died in childbirth and Hezekiah Phelps may have taken the infant to his sister Elizabeth Colton to raise.--DVS]

Zopher Viets, parentage not documented, was born about 1789 or 1790; was raised by Eliakim and Elizabeth (Viets) Colton, and retained the name of Viets. He married May 12, 1810 Anna Colton, born March 12, 1789 in Granby, daughter of Lemuel and Achsa (Sheldon) Colton. [Archive sheet, Family History Library, Salt Lake City, Utah.] The family resided in North Granby. Mr. Viets died April 10, 1825, age thirty-five years. His widow died March 20, 1869, age eighty. Both are buried in Granby Cemetery. Children:

235. i. Lemuel Watson, born October 26, 1811.

ii. Lucy L., born April 5, 1815. (See iii.)

iii. Zopher II. From North Granby vital records: "An infant of Zopher Viets [Zopher Viets II?] died January 10, 1822. A child of Zopher Viets died July 7, 1816." The latter may have been Lucy.

104. (Harvey^5, Hezekiah P.^{4}, John^3, John^2, John^1.)

Harvey Viets, son of Hezekiah Phelps and Martha (Bronson) Viets, was born about 1799 in either Connecticut or New York. His parents were living in Amenia, Dutchess County, New York, in 1803. The Viets Genealogy gives a family of four children (Harvey, Chauncey, Ira and Belinda) whose father had not been identified. Since Chauncey was listed as the son of and administrator of Hezekiah Phelps Viets' estate in Sugarloaf Township, Columbia County, Pennsylvania, and Ira and Harvey Viets were also known to have lived in the same township it would appear that the four children are the four youngest of Hezekiah Phelps Viets. Ira left descendants who yet live in this county. It should also be noted that Harvey named children Hezekiah and Belinda.

Harvey married Mary Kile, born November 1799 in Sugarloaf Township, Columbia County, Pennsylvania, daughter of John and Maria (Hess) Kile. The family moved to Dansville, Steuben County, New York, about 1822, on to Huron County, Ohio, then settled on a farm in Summerfield, Monroe County, Michigan, about 1835. Harvey died there April 10, 1872 and his wife August 24, 1878. Children:

236. i. Hezekiah, probably the eldest.
237. ii. Benjamin F., born January 19, 1822.
238. iii. Amanda, born June 3, 1823.
239. iv. Anna, born December 16, 1824.
240. v. John, born October 28, 1826.
241. vi. Maryetta, born ca 1828.
242. vii. Harrison, born May 19, 1831.
243. viii. Elizabeth, born ca 1833.
244. ix. George W., born April 1, 1834.
245. x. Belinda, born ca 1837.
246. xi. Sarah Ann, born July 26, 1840.

105. (Chauncey^5, Hezekiah P.^{4}, John^3, John^2, John^1.)

Chauncey Viets, son of Hezekiah Phelps and Martha (Bronson) Viets, was born about 1800 in New York. From the family Bible of his son Oliver, owned by his great-grandson, Truman Ott of Parma, Michigan: "Chauncey Viets and family came to Michigan in 1835 (?) from Sugarloaf, Columbia County, Pennsylvania." He is named as an early settler in Sheridan Township, Calhoun County, Michigan, in 1836. [History of Calhoun County, Michigan.] He married August 25, 1822, Emily Bartleson, born December 13, 1801 in Columbia County, Pennsylvania, daughter of Cephus and Ann Bartleson. [St. Gabriel's Church Records, Columbia County, Pennsylvania, FHF#1312860 item 17.] In 1830 Chauncey and family were listed in the census in Monroe County, New York. Mrs. Viets died September 9, 1840 in Calhoun County, Michigan. Chauncey Viets died April 29, 1858, in Albion, Michigan. [VR, Calhoun County, Michigan; tombstone inscriptions, Albion, Michigan, read by DVS, 1988.] Children:

247. i. Oliver Hazard Perry, born May 28, 1823.
ii. Cyrus, born December 16, 1824 in Columbia County, Pennsylvania; died in New Orleans January 9, 1852.
iii. Truman, born March 6, 1827. He was listed as a painter in Grass Valley, El Dorado County, California in 1877. [Abstract of the Great Register, FHF#0977082.] He supposedly died in Elko, Nevada, date unknown.

248. iv. Ira Viets, born February 26, 1829.

v. Cephus Bard, born November 2, 1830. A "C. Vits," listed in the 1860 El Dorado County, California, census as a miner, may refer to him. He died before December 16, 1864. [Probate record for his father, Chauncey Viets, #1115, Calhoun County, Michigan.]

vi. Joseph, born November 2, 1832; died November 2, 1842.

249. vii. Maria, born April 10, 1838.

106. (Ira^5, Hezekiah P.^{4}, John^3, John^2, John^1.)

Ira Viets, son of Hezekiah Phelps and Martha (Bronson) Viets, was born about 1802 probably in New York state. Little is known of him. In 1850 there were two "Veets" children listed in the census in Columbia County, Pennsylvania: Julia, living in the household of George and Sophia Dilts, and Clark, in the household of Joseph and Helen Hess. [1850 census, Columbia County, Pennsylvania, Sugarloaf Township.] In a deed from Ira Viets in 1834 the property he sold adjoined property of George Dilts. [Columbia County, Pennsylvania, land records, FHF#0961531.] This appears to be the same property that Hezekiah Phelps Viets purchased in 1822. Apparently Ira moved to Ohio before June 1834. Nothing further is known of Julia. The death certificate for Adam Clark Viets gives his birthplace as "Ohio" and lists his father as Ira Viets. [Bureau of Vital Statistics, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Certificate of Death, File No. 35732, No. 10058.]

A check of the histories of Summit County, Ohio, gave several references for Ira Viets, in connection with the reign of "Millerism" or "Second Adventism." In short, "Millerism" was a religious philosophy proposed by William Miller of Massachusetts. His proselytes started holding revival meetings in Akron in the early winter of 1840-41. Among the converts was Ira Viets of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. Through a revelation William Miller predicted that the world would end on April 4, 1843. It was reported that Ira Viets hearkened to the Second Adventists' admonition that earthly passions are sinful, interpreted literally a certain verse in the Bible and mutilated himself with a plane-bit and a mallet. It was also reported that there were several others whose minds were permanently unbalanced.

Ira was confined in the county jail, in a disturbed mental state "from the delusive and inconsistent dogma of Millerism." [Lane, Fifty Years and Over of Akron and Summit County.] It appeared doubtful that he would survive. He did live as the records show that he was brought to court June 19, 1845 for an inquiry into his case and was judged to be insane. [Summit County, Ohio, Common Pleas Journal, vol. 2, pp. 515-516. FHF#1287580.] Children:

250. i. Eliza M., born July 1832.

251. ii. Adam Clark, born 3 June 1834.

iii. Ellen, married October 9, 1845 in Summit County, Ohio, to Sherman Biggs/Briggs. No further record.

iv. Ann, married October 26, 1846 in Summit County, to John Edwards. No further record.
v. Julia, born ca 1837. No further record.

[The last three may be daughters of Ira, but no positive documentation has been found. Lemuel Watson Viets (see No. 235) was also living in Summit County in 1840; Ellen and Ann could possibly be his daughters, although they would have had to have been married at very young ages.]

107. (Letia^5, John^4, John^3, John^2, John^1.)

Letia Viets, daughter of John and Lois (Phelps) Viets of Westfield, Massachusetts, was born in Westfield in 1796 and died in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, in 1857; married February 26, 1818 [Westfield, Massachusetts, First Church records] Seth Harrison, born July 24, 1796, in Westfield, son of Reuben and Nancy (Baldwin) Harrison, of a family of respected and honored citizens. Reuben Harrison was a private in Shay's Rebellion. Children:

i. Emeline Harrison, born December 13, 1818 in Westfield and died there February 18, 1862. She married in Westfield on September 5, 1836 William Ely, born in Westfield, April 17, 1817, son of Elihu and Grace (Rose) Ely. Near the end of the Civil War, William Ely moved his family to a homestead near Elizabeth, New Jersey, where he died. Ten children (Ely).
ii. Elizabeth Harrison, born March 2, 1821; died February 17, 1840; married William Willis.
iii. Mary Jane Harrison, born January 12, 1823; died April 25, 1898; married November 4, 1847, in Westfield, Dean Gray Jr. of Rockville. Three children (Gray).
iv. Lucy Ann Harrison, born April 7, 1825; married Luther Grover of Westfield. Six children (Grover).
v. Nancy J. Harrison, born April 6, 1827; married William Ely after the death of his first wife, her sister Emeline. She died February 28, 1895.
vi. Harriet N. Harrison, born April 29, 1829; died August 23, 1894.
vii. Clara C. Harrison, born April 9, 1831; married James S. T. Stranahan in 1870.

Obituary, 1904, newspaper unknown

Mrs. Clara C. Stranahan, seventy-three, founder of Barnard College for Women, of Columbia University and long identified with the higher education of women in this country, died at her home in Brooklyn, New York Sunday night of apoplexy. Mrs. Stranahan was the widow of James S. T. Stranahan, who from his benefactions and public spirit, was known as "Brooklyn's first citizen."

Her birthplace was Westfield, Massachusetts. She was educated in northern Ohio, at Mount Holyoke and at Troy, New York and at one time was called "the best educated woman in the U.S."

She taught in Troy and in Brooklyn and in 1870 married Mr. Stranahan. She was a trustee, as well as the founder of Barnard College. Some years ago she donated $25,000 to Michigan University as a memorial to her father, Seth Harrison, as a scholarship fund.

Mrs. Stranahan was a frequent contributor to magazines and other periodicals, and was the author of a work on French painting. She was vice-president of the Emma Willard Association, composed of alumnae of the Troy Female Seminary, and a member of the D.A.R.

Hon. J.S.T Stranahan was originally from East Killingly. He was a member of Congress, and originator of Prospect Park, Brooklyn. He died at Saratoga Springs, New York, September 3, 1898, at the age of 90 years.

viii. William H. Harrison, born February 22, 1833; died September 19, 1878; married Lucy Ingersoll.
ix. Maria L. Harrison, born May 12, 1835; married Judge Henry R. Lovell of Flint, Michigan. Six children (Lovell).
x. Fannie E. Harrison, born 1837; died 1839.
xi. George E. Harrison, born March 30, 1839.

108. (Lois^5, John^4, John^3, John^2, John^1.)

Lois Viets, daughter of John and Lois (Phelps) Viets of Westfield, married January 26, 1824 in Westfield, William Brumley of Wilbraham, Massachusetts. [Westfield, Massachusetts, First Church Records.] A William Brumley family is listed in the census at New Hartford, Oneida County, New York, in 1830. In the household is an older couple who could be the parents of Lois. New Hartford is close to Rome, New York, where John and Lois (Phelps) Viets were said to have gone. A granddaughter of theirs, daughter of Harvey Viets, listed her birth place as Utica, New York, also in the same vicinity. [See No. 253.]

109. (Harvey^5, John^4, John^3, John^2, John^1.)

From Westfield, Massachusetts, vital records: "Harvey Viets of Westfield and Maria Gillett of Southwick, Massachusetts married December 2, 1824." Maria Gillett was born May 16, 1795, daughter of Moses and Charity (Beach) Gillett. This Harvey is most likely the son of John Viets of Westfield. The Viets Genealogy states that "Harvey died about 1847, or soon after that date, leaving, as it is thought, no family." This is probably an error. He was listed in the 1840 census of West Springfield with one female age 0-5 and one female 60-70. The latter may have been his widowed mother. He must be the Harvey Viets who married Anna Hystings in West Springfield, Massachusetts, December 14, 1844. [Granby, First Congregational Church records.] A death record for "Mr. Veats" in West Springfield, Massachusetts, September 4, 1847 may be his. [Agawam, Massachusetts, Congregational Church records.] Children:

252. i. Charity Maria, who changed her name to Emily Maria.
253. ii. Mary Ann.

110. (John Knutton[5], Roger M.[4], Roger[3], John[2], John[1].)

John Knutton Viets, son of Roger Moore and Eliza (Knutton) Viets, was born 1809 in Digby, Nova Scotia, and died in 1868; married February 23, 1832 Harriet Martyn, who was born May 11, 1811. [Trinity Anglican Parish Register, FHF#0979410.] Mr. Viets was high sheriff of Digby County from 1851 to 1869. Children:

254. i. Charles, born June 21, 1832.
255. ii. Celia, baptized August 17, 1834.
256. iii. Henry Synnott, born April 24, 1836.
iv. Harriet, born November 8, 1837; died at age of 10 years.
257. v. Sarah Morton.
vi. Margaret Lavinia, baptized August 29, 1841; died unmarried.
258. vii. Edward Martyn, born April 12, 1843.
viii. Mary Eliza, baptized May 3, 1845; died unmarried.
ix. John Botsford, born March 18, 1850; died March 1, 1889, in Malden, Massachusetts, unmarried.
x. William, died in infancy.

111. (Botsford[5], Roger M.[4], Roger[3], John[2], John[1].)

Botsford Viets, son of Roger Moore and Eliza (Knutton) Viets, was born in Digby, Nova Scotia, July 4, 1810; died in 1897. He married June 13, 1833 Sarah Martyn. [Trinity Anglican Parish Register, Digby, FHF#0979410.] The family resided in Digby where Mr. Viets was collector of customs from 1857 to 1895. Children:

i. Caroline Adelaide, born June 10, 1834; was named for her aunt, Caroline Viets Wade, and Adelaide, the Queen Dowager. She resided in Digby. She furnished valuable notes and records for the Viets Genealogy. She died about 1908, unmarried.
ii. George Augustus, born 1835; died unmarried.
259. iii. Sarah Eliza, born August 28, 1837.
260. iv. John Moore, born December 11, 1839.

112. (Margaret Susan[5], Roger M.[4], Roger[3], John[2], John[1].)

Margaret Susan Viets, daughter of Roger Moore and Eliza (Knutton) Viets, was born between the years 1810 and 1813, probably in Saint John, New Brunswick; married November 19, 1833 Stephen Henry Synnott of Saint John. [Trinity Anglican Parish Register, FHF#0979410.] His father was Stephen Synnott, a general in the British army of County Wexford, Ireland. He married a Mrs. Hendricks. The Synnotts lived in Essex County, Massachusetts, in 1900. Children:

i. Stephen Henry Synnott Jr., born in Digby, Nova Scotia, was a minister, his first parish being Cooperstown, New York. He married there Alice Trumbull Worthington who was born in Cooperstown. Four children (Synnott).
ii. Eliza Synnott, born February 4, 1836; married October 15, 1868 Henry Augustus Scott, born 1836 and died 1884. Mrs. Scott died May 1924. Five children (Scott).

113. (Louisa[5], Roger M.[4], Roger[3], John[2], John[1].)

Louisa Viets, daughter of Roger Moore and Eliza (Knutton) Viets, was born about 1813; married June 26, 1832 [Trinity Anglican Parish Register, FHF#0979410] Colonel James Archer Denison, of Annapolis, Nova Scotia, born November 22, 1802, son of James and Lavinia (Denison) Denison. Mr. Denison studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1827. He was for many years judge of probate for Digby County. Children:

i. Emma Denison, born March 16, 1833 in Nova Scotia; died December 13, 1873. She married December 29, 1863 Samuel Antil Denison, born November 17, 1835 in Nova Scotia, son of Samuel and Susan (Pines) Denison. Four children (Denison).
ii. James Denison, born June 14, 1834.
iii. Louisa Denison, born December 28, 1835; died 1872.
iv. Julia Denison, born February 23, 1838; died 1873.
v. George Denison, born September 26, 1839; died 1869.
vi. Frank Denison, born November 8, 1841.
vii. Lucy Denison, born May 12, 1844.
viii. Herbert Denison, born May 16, 1846.
ix. Archibald Viets Denison, born November 27, 1848; died 1867.
x. Charles Denison, born June 28, 1851.
xi. Eliza Denison (twin), born October 31, 1853; married Albert James Smith Copp, solicitor and member of House of Parliament in Canada. Two daughters (Copp).
xii. Walter Denison (twin), born October 31, 1853.
xiii. William Denison, born February 2, 1858.

114. (Eliza Sophia[5], Roger M.[4], Roger[3], John[2], John[1])

Eliza Sophia Viets, daughter of Roger Moore and Eliza (Knutton) Viets, was born in Digby, Nova Scotia, December 15, 1816 [Trinity Anglican Parish Register, FHF#0979410] and died after 1902. She married William F. Bonnell. Children:

i. William Franklin Bonnell, Jr., married Sarah C. Cutler.
ii. Roderick Bonnell, married.
iii. Anning Digby Bonnell, born December 24, 1842 in Gagetown, New Brunswick; married in 1886 Gertrude Wade, born 1858 in Halifax, Nova Scotia. Mr. Bonnell died in 1911. Two children (Bonnell).
iv. Annie Eliza Bonnell, married Charles Bloomfield Waller Wardlaw. Four children (Wardlaw).
v. Charles Edward Bonnell, born 1847 in Gagetown, New Brunswick; died in March 1935. He married May 18, 1881 Frances Bowen Campbell, born August 19, 1854 in Charleston, South Carolina, daughter of the Reverend John Barnwell and Elizabeth M. (Parker) Campbell. She died April 14, 1898. Five children (Bonnell).
vi. Margaret Louisa Bonnell, born September 2, 1850; married July 1, 1882 Charles Edward Turnbull. Mrs. Turnbull died in Digby, Nova Scotia, August 7, 1946. Two children (Turnbull).
vii. Henry Bonnell, born February 13, 1853 in Gagetown, New Brunswick; died March 14, 1884. He was ordained to the ministry in 1882. Unmarried.
viii. George Bonnell, died young.
ix. Jack Bonnell, died young.
x. Lilla Bonnell, born December 10, 1860 in either Brooklyn, New York, or in Canada; married April 28, 1881 Alfred Mintram, born December 13, 1847 in England, a son of William and Lucy (Taylor) Mintram. Mrs. Mintram died July 24, 1910. Two children (Mintram).

115. (Caroline^5, Roger M.^{4}, Roger^3, John^2, John^1)

Caroline Viets, daughter of Rev. Roger Moore and Eliza (Knutton) Viets, was born May 9, 1818 in Digby, Nova Scotia; married December 22, 1842 John Chipman Wade, born September 9, 1818 in Granville, Nova Scotia, and died July 8, 1892. His widow died July 3, 1901.

Obituary, Digby, Nova Scotia, newspaper unknown

On Friday last, at his residence on Queen St., Digby, after a lengthy illness, John C. Wade, Q.C., passed quietly away at the age of 74 years.

Mr. Wade was born in Granville and married the youngest daughter of the Rev. Roger M. Viets, formerly a rector of this parish. He was admitted to the bar in 1840 and ranked among the oldest of our barristers. In 1860 he was appointed a Queen's counsel; one of the last who received this appointment directly from the Crown. He was first elected to the Legislative Assembly of this province in 1851, where he continuously represented this county until the provinces were confederated in 1867. He was elected Speaker of the House in 1856, which position he held until Confederation. Running for the House of Commons at that time he was defeated by the present County Court Judge (The Hon. A. W. Savary). In 1878 the Hon. W. B. Vail, then Minister of Militia in the McKenzie Government, representing this county, was unseated, and came back for re-election. He was beaten by Mr. Wade, and in the general election eight months after, Mr. Wade was again successful over Dr. P. W. Smith. In 1882 Mr. Wade was defeated by Mr. Vail and decided to retire from political life.

No one man ever exercised so continuous an influence on the politics of the county as did John C. Wade, and he was, to the closing of his political career, popular and liked by the people. He was very decided in his political opinions, and never afraid to express them. When the first railway measure was introduced into the House of Assembly for the construction of the road from Halifax to Windsor, the parties for and against were equally balanced, and the result depended upon Mr. Wade's vote. This was cast in favour of the resolution, and the province then took the first step in the path of railway construction.

Up to the time that the cry of Catholic ascendency was raised by Mr. Howe, Mr. Wade had supported the Liberal party, but feeling that injustice was being done to a large proportion of his constituents he joined the Conservatives, in whose ranks he ever after remained.

In private life he was a man of kindly and generous instincts and since his retirement from politics, has interfered but little with public affairs, living a comparatively secluded life.

His remains were escorted to their last resting place on Sunday by the Masonic body, of which he was a member; Masons from Bear River and Annapolis joining with their brethren here in the procession while very many friends paid their last tribute of respect to his memory by accompanying the funeral cortege. At the church, which was filled to its utmost capacity, the services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Bryant, while at the grave the final burial services were according to the Masonic rites.

Children, born in Digby, Nova Scotia:

i. Catherine Wade, born September 27, 1843; married December 12, 1867 Fred Ladd Jones, born September 15, 1847 in Brookline, Massachusetts, son of James Henry and Frances Amelia (or Augustus) (Whipple) Jones, who was a descendant of Brigadier General William Whipple, a signer of the Declaration of Independence from New Hampshire. Mr. Jones was inspector of customs in Ottawa, and prior to his appointment to the government service was a well-known newspaper correspondent. He died in 1909; his widow died in Montreal on November 16, 1917. Four children (Jones).

ii. Jared Chipman Wade, born February 16, 1845; died October 31, 1848.

iii. Annie McNabb Wade, born January 5, 1847; died December 6, 1847.

iv. John Rodger Wade, born July 31, 1849; married in 1875 Blanche Algee. Mr. Wade was a practicing physician and died in 1903.

Three sons (Wade), two of whom resided in Andover, New Brunswick, where they were druggists.

v. George Augustus Wade, born August 5, 1852; died September 19, 1855.

vi. Joseph Whidden Wade, born March 6, 1854; died January 5, 1859.

vii. Henry Synnott Wade, born June 2, 1856; married December 12, 1882 Agatha Eliza Dakin, born August 16, 1864. Mr Wade died March 28, 1885. One daughter (Wade).

v. Emma Merry, married May 6, 1878 in Fond du Lac to William Collins of the same city. He was a son of Enos and Cordelia Collins, and was a photographer in Fond du Lac.

125. (Rodney[5], Jesse[4], Seth[3], John[2], John[1])

Rodney Viets, son of the Reverend Jesse and Dolly (Sacket) Viets, was born in St. Albans, Vermont, June 16, 1806; moved with his parents to Amboy, Ohio, in 1823; married in 1829 Lucinda H. Wood, born in Conneaut, Pennsylvania [?], March 28, 1808. Both died in 1887 in Saybrook, Ohio, the wife on February 28 and the husband November 20.

From the Viets Genealogy:

> The following sketch of the Reverend Rodney Viets is from the pen of his daughter, Mrs. D. H. Gaylord:
>
> Mr. Viets was like his father, a pioneer preacher. At the age of twenty-one he was a prominent member of the M. E. Church, a class-leader, and an active exhorter. Soon after that, however, when the wave of reformation swept over the Western Reserve and adjacent states led by the Campbellites, and those who pleaded for a return to primitive Christianity, he became deeply interested, and was thoroughly convinced that he had learned the way more perfectly. He met with opposition, yet never afterwards regretted his final decision.

In his obituary is this tribute:

> Elder Viets, in his chosen field of thought, was a man of more than ordinary powers. His forte was the gospel, to which he devoted heart, brain and purse. The disciples in Geneva owe him a debt of love for the hundreds of dollars he gave them in their first efforts there. He united with the Disciples fifty years ago, when such a step covered the heretic with contempt; but he lived to see the church of his choice number a membership of 700,000, among whom are scholars, authors, editors, generals, senators and a president of the nation. He was a hated, original Abolitionist, and lived to see his wildest dreams on the subject more than realized in the extinction of American slavery. He held gently the reins of family government, was true to temperance principles, loyal to God, to his county, his church, and his friends, and we believe, his supreme hope is now realized in eternal life.
>
> Mr. Viets' wife shared with him their pioneer life, and by her industry and economy, assisted in securing a competency for their old age. Having nobly filled the place of mother, wife, and friend, she died as the righteous die.

Children:

130. (Eunice Madonna[5], Jesse[4], Seth[3], John[2], John[1])

Eunice Madonna Viets, daughter of Rev. Jesse and Dolly (Sacket) Viets, was born December 19, 1818 in St. Albans, Vermont. She married in Ashtabula County, Ohio, March 13, 1845 John Reid Watson. The family resided at one time near Nashville, Iowa, on a farm. The relatives of Eunice Watson had lost all trace of her family, but through the persistent search by H. Isabel Viets, one of her grandsons was located. It seems that Eunice Watson was quite a poetess as her granddaughter, Mrs. Burkett, has in her possession a book of poems written by her. Mrs. Watson died in 1884 in Iowa. Children:

i. Edgar Watson, born in Wyoming County, New York, August 5, 1848 and removed with his parents to Jackson County, Iowa, in June 1853. He died December 3, 1911 in Powhatan, Kansas, where he lived on a farm. He married in Canton, Iowa, November 14, 1872 Mary E. Gilmore, born February 16, 1849 in Fayette County, Pennsylvania, daughter of James and Margaret (Roderick) Gilmore. She died September 2, 1923 in Holton, Kansas. James Gilmore was a captain in the Civil War and know as a "Copperhead," a political term applied by Union men in the North to those men in the North who favored peace and opposed the war policy of the president and congress. Ten children (Watson).
ii. Reed Watson, born 1852 in Wyoming County, New York, and died in Nashville, Iowa, August 30, 1874. He was a school teacher, married but had no children.
iii. Leslie Watson, date of birth unknown; married Alice _____ and had one son.
iv. Eugene Watson, born March 23, 1855 in Nashville, Iowa; married December 6, 1883 in Maquoketa, Iowa, Anna Eliza Breeden, born October 16, 1865 at Iron Hill, Jackson County, Iowa, daughter of Richard Perry and Clementine Breeden. Mr. Watson died August 6, 1906; his widow died August 8, 1937. The Watson farm was 8 miles from Maquoketa P.O. and near Nashville. Seven children (Watson).

ii. Albert H. Royal, born July 25, 1840 in Meadville, Pennsylvania; married on August 2, 1866 Sarah Fidelia Woodruff, born September 20, 1844 in Akron, Ohio, daughter of Nelson and _____ (Handy) Woodruff. Both Mr. and Mrs. Royal died in Shelby, Michigan, Mr. Royal on July 1, 1879 and his widow on January 4, 1922. Mr. Royal was a building contractor and in 1871 he moved his family from Mattawan, Michigan, to Pentwater where he went to build a mill. In 1874 he obtained the contract for a mill in Shelby and the family left Pentwater. This was the year that one of the strangest visitations that ever befell a rural community took place. Hundreds of thousands of passenger pigeons swooped down on Shelby. The skies were dark with the birds as they built their nests in what was then a wooded district east of the town. That visit of the pigeons in 1874 and again in 1876 and 1878 brought fame and also Shelby's first boom. The birds were trapped by thousands daily and shipped to the markets. Mr. Royal operated a pigeon warehouse from which the birds were shipped. He later entered the drug business in which he remained until his death. Four children (Royal).

iii. Martha Royal, born November 24, 1842 in Pennsylvania; married July 15, 1860 Clinton Fitch, born 1837 in New York state, son of Lyman A. and Caroline M. (Roberts) Fitch. Mr. Fitch died in 1900; his widow died July 29, 1909. Two children (Fitch).

iv. Tacy Royal, born November 5, 1847 in South Shenango, Pennsylvania; married December 24, 1866 Edward Riley Bedell, born June 6, 1841 in Roanoke, New York, a son of William and Emily (Tanner) Bedell. He died February 10, 1915 in Pony, Montana, and his widow died April 12, 1929 in Butte, Montana. Nine children (Bedell).

v. Wilhelmina Royal, born July 5, 1853; died October 3, 1862.

vi. Amanda Royal, born April 25, 1855 in Paw Paw, Michigan; married April 25, 1877 Benjamin F. Olmstead, born March 4, 1850 in Union Township, Michigan, son of Gamalia P. and Lydia (Burnett) Olmstead. He died August 16, 1935; his wife died May 9, 1934. Three children (Olmstead).

140. (Hiram A.[5], Zopher[4], Seth[3], John[2], John[1])

Hiram A. Viets, son of Zopher and Tacy (Hillyer) Viets, was born January 19, 1828 in East Granby. In the 1870 federal census for Beloit, Rock County, Wisconsin, an H. A. Viets, cigarmaker, age forty-seven, is listed with wife Clarissa, age forty-eight, born in Vermont. According to his obituary he married Emma Wilder in 1878.

Obituary, Beloit, Wisconsin, Daily News (ca 1909)

Hiram A. Viets, one of the best known and highly respected old residents of the city, died at his home yesterday afternoon. Mr. Viets had been in feeble health for five or six years, but until about three weeks ago when he was stricken with paralysis, his condition was not critical.

Mr. Viets was nearly eighty-two years of age, having been born in East Granby, Conn. January 19, 1828. In boyhood he moved to Ohio, coming on from there to Beloit about the time of the close of the Civil War.

He was engaged for many years in the manufacture of cigars, but in the last twenty-five years had done a considerable real estate business, gathering about him considerable property.

He married Miss Emma Wilder in 1878. They had one child who died in infancy. Besides the widow, there survives one brother, Shalor Viets and one sister, Mrs. J. Simons. He also leaves numerous friends, including members of the Masonic fraternity, in which he had risen to the rank of Knight Templar.

The funeral services will be held at the residence tomorrow afternoon and the interment will be in the city cemetery.

149. (Byron[5], Abner[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Byron Viets, son of Abner Jr. and Sarah (Booth) Viets, was born in Granby, January 25, 1802 and died in West Salem, Wisconsin, April 28, 1869. He married in Fowler, Ohio, April 28, 1828 Milla Kingsley, born July 18, 1805 in Becket, Massachusetts, daughter of John F. and Sabrina (Burchard) Kingsley. She died April 27, 1893 in New Whatcom [now Bellingham], Washington.

In early life Byron Viets was a peddler traveling through the South. In 1822 he moved with his mother to Fowler, Ohio, where he owned a store and a large farm. About 1845, hearing of the glories of Wisconsin, he sold out and with his wife, some of the smaller children, and a few household goods, all in a large covered wagon, he journeyed to Wisconsin overland through Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and located at Waupun, Wisconsin, where the youngest of the eight children, Cassius Marcellus, was born. The family were many months on the road through a wild and unsettled country full of hostile Indians and dangerous animals, and endured many hardships. After remaining in Wisconsin a while, they became dissatisfied and returned to Ohio the way they came. They made the trip back and forth several times, evidently in search of Utopia, until about 1850 when they located in the lovely LaCrosse River valley, the Eden spot of Wisconsin, the place Mr. Viets had so long sought. They settled at Burns first, then at Neshonoc, LaCrosse County, on a large farm. Mr. Viets was content to spend the balance of his days here, and his eight children were soon gathered around him in various occupations: mercantile, farming, stock-raising, etc.

In 1859 the railroads began to pierce the rich agricultural regions of Wisconsin. The C. W. and St. Paul, being first to discover the LaCrosse valley, ran a few miles south of Mr. Viets' farm, and a town was located at West Salem, where he bought a good home and moved in 1865 and where he died four years later.

Mr. and Mrs. Viets were charter members of the First Congregational Church in LaCrosse, organized in 1852. "He was a very upright and honorable man, whose word was as good as his bond. He was loved and respected by all who knew him." [Viets Genealogy.] Children:

291. i. Byron Augustus, born March 14, 1829.
292. ii. Catharine, born July 5, 1831.
293. iii. Apollos Kingsley, born October 30, 1833.

Obituary, Hartford Courant? November 10, 1927

Rev. D. N. Griffin, Former Hartford Minister Dies

Was Native of Granby and Once Active Prohibition Worker

Rev. Duane N. Griffin, prominent prohibition worker in the state and former pastor of the North Methodist Church, Hartford, died at his home in Granby Tuesday morning [November 8, 1927]. He was field secretary of the Connecticut prohibition committee for 15 years.

He was born in Granby December 4, 1853, son of Richardson Griffin and Julia Ann (Viets) Griffin. His first pastorate was the Unionville Methodist Church in 1882. Later he went to the Plainville Methodist Church. After that he graduated in theology at Boston University.

Returning to his ministerial work he became pastor of Trinity Methodist Church in Meriden, and then, the Hamden Methodist Church, Epworth Methodist Church, New Haven, and the North Methodist Church in Hartford. He held this pastorate from 1897 to 1899 and then moved to St. Andrew's Methodist Church, New Haven. He was there when, in 1901 he was appointed field secretary of the Connecticut prohibition committee. At this time he was also associate pastor of the South Park Methodist Church in Hartford. In 1913 he retired from active church work, but after finishing his work as field secretary of the prohibition committee, he became supply pastor for the Copper Hill Methodist Church in Granby. He retired a year ago.

During his political career Mr. Griffin was a candidate for governor, mayor of Hartford and senator-at-large on the Probibition ticket. He also served as editor for a prohibition publication.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ada Belle (Moore) Griffin; a son, Ray Maynard Griffin, a lawyer of West Palm Beach, Fla., who was with his father at the time of his death; a daughter, Miss Janice Griffin, a musician connected with a New York musical bureau, and a sister, Mrs. H. Starr Holcomb of Granby.

Mr. Griffin's funeral will be held at his home in the Hungary District, Granby, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Dr. L. H. Dorchester, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Hartford and Rev. Dr. William D. Beach of New Haven, superintendent of the New Haven district will assist in the service. Burial will be in Granby Cemetery.

163. (Harriet Newell[5], Dan[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Harriet Newell Viets, daughter of Dan and Beulah (Phelps) Viets, was born in Granby January 1, 1818 and died there December 20, 1897. She married September 12, 1839 Gilbert Griffin [Connecticut Marriage Index, FHF#0003314], son of Aristarchus Griffin of Granby. He died December 7, 1850 [VR, Granby]. She married second in Granby, April 25, 1852 [VR, Granby], Milton Griffin, brother of Gilbert. [Milton Griffin's first wife was Adeline Holcomb whom he married May 1, 1838 (VR, Suffield).] Children, by first marriage:

i. Annis Samantha Griffin, born in Granby January 26, 1842; married March 2, 1863 Oliver L. Holcomb, son of Lemuel and Louisa (Leggett) Holcomb, born December 28, 1834 in North Granby; died in May 1899. His widow died February 4, 1916. Five children (Holcomb).

ii. Gilbert Benjamin Griffin, born July 13, 1850 in Granby; married September 27, 1871 Margaret G. Fleming, born in Scotland, British Isles, May 24, 1857, daughter of Charles and Christina (Gray) Fleming. Mr. Griffin was a farmer in Granby. He died November 1921; Mrs. Griffin died March 1915. Four children (Griffin).

By second marriage:

iii. Arthur Milton Griffin, born July 10, 1857 in Granby; married first, on December 1, 1880 Julia C. Andrus of Granby, who died June 12, 1884 age twenty-eight. He married second on December 25, 1884 Helen M. Hubbard of Granville, Massachusetts. He died in 1930. Six children (Griffin).

164. (Apollos Phelps[5], Dan[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

The Reverend Apollos Phelps Viets' autobiographical sketch written at the age of eighty-one:

> I was born in the town of Granby, Conn., on the twentieth of September 1819. My parents were Dan Viets and Beulah Phelps. My grandparents were Captain Abner and Mary Viets, and Deacon Judah Phelps and Abigail Bishop. My name was for Captain Apollos Phelps, a maternal uncle. Heredity, environment, and an overruling Providence have shaped the way in which I have been brought. We begin to learn as also to go astray as soon as we be born. My father was a man of parts, but not of thrift, to which he showed an indifference. His varied abilities found demand in the community, sometimes at a distance, which took him much from home, to the neglect of the farm and discomfort of the family. My mother's picture was drawn by a wise King of a former time as one who looked well to the ways of her household, and eating not the bread of idleness. Her worth was not known; she was one of "God's hidden ones," of whom the world is not worthy, and is now a saint in heaven. She overawed me in my tender years with her views of the exceeding sinfulness of sin. She is beyond praise.

The family record is of nine children, four sisters older and four brothers younger than myself. Our home was a kind of wayside inn, a resting-place for wayfaring men, where hospitality was dispensed and strangers entertained (possibly angels unawares among them). Surely the Abrahamic spirit made its abode with us.

After home my education was in the common School, but in this my timidity was against me, and I gained very little. It was the same in the winter select schools which I attended two or three terms. I afterwards attended one term at the Hartford Grammar School, and two terms at the Institution of Suffield. In my early school days, "the eyes of my understanding being enlightened," I began to look around for help, and was directed to self-help, which I have ever found to be the best kind of help. So, from the beginning, my education has been of the chimney-corner kind. Unaided, I mastered the various geographies, grammars, arithmetics, algebras, trigonometry, surveying and botany,--all without a syllable of assistance. I took up Latin and Greek, walking six miles and back weekly to compare notes with a distinguished scholar in these languages. I went to Suffield to more thoroughly perfect myself in these studies, where I think my recitations were more than those of any other student in the Institution.

I was from the beginning religiously inclined, and with my sister, Harriet Newell, held religious services, using the Book of Common Prayer. The atmosphere in which I first breathed was decidedly of a spiritual nature, and all my home surroundings were favorable to spiritual growth. The bending of the infant twig has given direction to my being. The Bible, from the first, has been my text-book, and I believe that I have read it through fully fifty times, once annually for many years. I love the habitation of God's house, the place where his honor dwelleth; there, in my tender years, I received my most precious, as well as my most lasting, impressions. Having been much in the family of Dr. Hiram Preston, who was from Georgia, he, to my surprise, suggested, advised, and persuaded me to return with him. There I passed three years in teaching. This was a very pleasant sojourn, and made me many friends, who strongly protested against my leaving, and but for the existence of slavery, I should have remained.

While in Suffield I made many friends, both in the institution and the community, and was given the place of merit and honor among the speakers appointed for the commencement. Immediately after leaving Suffield I had three invitations to settle with churches, one from Georgia, one from Massachusetts, and one from Canton, Conn., where I went, and was afterwards ordained. On invitation I served the Church in Milford, Conn., and on invitation went to the Baptist Church in Hancock, Massachusetts, where I remained twenty years with a noble and very dear people. During my entire pastorate here I was on the school board, and was given almost the entire charge of examining teachers and visiting the schools of the town.

About 1870 a plan was conceived for the settlement of a community in Kansas, called the New Haven Colony. By request and inclination I went out to avail myself of the government offer of a homestead to those who would accept one. The opportunity seemed good for one to till the ground, do gospel work among the pioneers, and secure a good home and refuge for old age. The colony scheme was a failure, but the country good. I enjoyed four years of pioneer life on the prairie, and organized a Baptist Church. For family reasons, and much to my regret, I was compelled to return East.

I do not forget mother earth. My early days and years were spent on a farm, in the woods and fields, among the birds and flowers, in close communion with Him who clothes the grass and paints the lily, and gives life and food to all.

I have written and published to some degree. While in Georgia I was correspondent to the New England Weekly Review of Hartford, also to many other publications on various subjects--religious, agricultural, domestic, and economic, both in prose and verse. Many of my contributions have been considered of sufficient merit to be copied into such papers as the Christian Advocate of New York, the Watchman of Boston, and others. I have published, "Voice of the Departed," an essay on Christian patriotism, and "The Cloud-veiled Throne."

I have been something of a traveler, my pilgrimage taking me into twenty-six states and Canada. The strangest land I found was among the Cumberland and adjoining mountains and valleys, a land primeval, and a primitive people, a land of wonders, the greatest of which are its people, which, to be comprehended, must be seen.

Looking back over the way I have come I see it marked by many infirmities, many things unwise and wrong, which I lament, and humbly and sincerely repent. Now, at the age of eighty-one, I am looking for the mercy of the Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life, "of whom the whole family in heaven and on earth is named."

The following tribute is from the pen of Mrs. C. A. C. Hadselle, a former parishioner, and appeared in the Pittsfield [Massachusetts] Sun:

He Giveth His Beloved Sleep.

The beautiful poem used by the Rev. Mr. Nickerson, as a finish to the fine tribute paid to the lamented Mrs. William H. Phillips, was composed by Rev. Apollos Phelps Viets, who was once prominently identified with the churches, the schools, and the best homes in the community. Responding fifty years ago to the call of the Hancock Baptist church to become its second pastor, he brought to the work the vigor of youth, the enthusiasm of an ardent, hopeful soul, and a brilliancy of mind and intellect that soon made itself felt, not only at home, but in adjacent towns, especially Pittsfield and Williamstown, where he was often called to an exchange of pulpits, and by that means, made friends with many of the best people. Prof. Lisbon, who for years passed his vacation in Hancock, making his home in the pastor's family, and always in his place in choir, was wont to say that, whether for subject-matter, strength and elegance of diction, or doctrinal soundness, the sermons of Mr. Viets were unsurpassed by any of the noted divine of the day.

Mr. Viets has written much, both prose and verse, but in his overweening modesty, has resisted all the persuasions of his friends to collect and publish. That Mr. Viets' mental gifts are unimpaired is proven by the fact that "He Giveth His Beloved Sleep" was written after he had passed his eightieth milestone.

Apollos Phelps Viets married in Barkhamsted, October 9, 1848 Henrietta Louisa Webster, born in Bethlehem, Connecticut, June 11, 1830 who was a descendant, in the eighth generation from John Webster, fifth colonial governor of Connecticut, and mentioned with Rev. Mr. Hooker and Mr. Stone among the leading men in the first party of settlers. Mr. Viets died January 19, 1908 at age eighty-five. Mrs. Viets died in 1923. Both died in Waterbury where they spent their later years and are buried. [Hale, FHF#0003217.] Children:

i. Ellsworth Phelps Berkeley, born in Milford, November 12, 1850; drowned in Ansonia July 28, 1867.

321. ii. Wordsworth Bertrand, born November 18, 1854.

iii. John Charles, born November 18, 1856 in Hancock. He was a clerk in a manufacturing business in Waterbury. He died October 22, 1930 and was buried in Waterbury. [Hale, FHF#0003217.]

322. iv. Mary Louisa, born June 16, 1858 in Hancock.

v. Beulah Ruth, born June 11, 1861; died September 22, 1861.

vi. Henrietta Claribel, born in Hancock, November 28, 1863; died in 1864 in Waterbury. [Hale, FHF#0003217.]

165. (Judah Dryden^{5}, Dan^{4}, Abner^{3}, John^{2}, John^{1})

Judah Dryden Viets, son of Dan and Beulah (Phelps) Viets, was born in Granby, February 2, 1823. He married October 28, 1846 Caroline E. Rowley, born in Bloomfield January 16, 1826, daughter of Silas Rowley Jr. and Abigail Holcomb. Silas Rowley Jr. was son of Captain Silas Rowley, a revolutionary soldier, and he was son of Samuel Rowley, born in 1710 and died in Wintonbury (Bloomfield) age one hundred and one. After his marriage Mr. Viets resided for a while in East Granby where he was engaged in the wheelwright business some twelve years; removed to Bloomfield where he resided many years and was a farmer. He died March 29, 1909; his widow died October 20, 1912. Both are buried in the Bloomfield Cemetery. [Hale, FHF#0003217.]

From Hartford Courant? October 27, 1906

Bloomfield

Saturday evening the neighbors and the following friends and relatives from elsewhere, Elbert Griffen and wife of Granby, Scott Viets and wife and Willard Viets and wife of East Granby, Herbert Griswold and wife of East Hartford, and Mrs. M. A. Parsons and Mrs. Kate Green of Plainville, gathered at the Viets homestead on Filley street, Bloomfield, for the purpose of celebrating the sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Judah D. Viets.

It was a complete surprise to the worthy couple. Mrs. Dwight C. Newberry and Mrs. J. H. Rowley, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Viets, had planned for the event, so that the evening was greatly enjoyed by all. At the close of the evening, after hearty congratulations had been given and a most bountiful banquet partaken of, Rev. H. M. Wolf, pastor of the Bloomfield Baptist church, read the Twenty-third Psalm and spoke a few words expressing the appreciation of all of the daily Christian home life manifested by Deacon Viets and wife in the community, and the company separated, earnestly wishing for the aged couple many more as pleasant anniversaries.

Deacon Viets and wife have lived in the same home, Bloomfield, fifty-four years and have always been greatly respected. He descended from Dr. John Viets, a highly educated physician who came to this country from Germany prior to the year 1700 and was born [died] in the town of East Granby in the year 1823 [1723]. From early youth Mr. Viets has been a devout believer in the Bible and in early life united with the Baptist Church, of which he has been a faithful member for over sixty-five years, for many years, being an honored deacon and is greatly beloved and honored by the church.

In politics he is a staunch republican, though no seeker of office. In the year 1846, October 28, he was married to Miss Caroline E. Rowley, the daughter of Captain Rowley, a brave soldier of the Revolutionary War. Together they have blessed the community with the influence of a Christian home. Three children have been born to them, Albert A. Viets, Miss Hattie Phelps, wife of J. H. Rowley, and Minnie Holcomb, wife of Dwight C. Newberry, deceased.

Children:

323. i. Albert Andrew, born December 9, 1847.
324. ii. Hattie Phelps, born April 24, 1856.
325. iii. Minnie Holcomb, born August 7, 1858.

166. (Dan Alexander[5], Dan[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Dan Alexander Viets, son of Dan and Beulah (Phelps) Viets, was born in Granby, November 11, 1824; married first, Caroline Phelps, daughter of Orson Phelps of East Granby. He married second, February 2, 1852 Sarah Jane Phelon of West Suffield. He married third, Mary Jane Getman, born April 24, 1841 and died November 13, 1877. For his fourth wife he married Mrs. Alice Atwood Grant. She died April 8, 1930 in Hartford. [Obituary.] Mr. Viets spent his life in East Granby, where he served as selectman and held other offices. He died November 8, 1904. Mr. Viets and his third wife, Mary Jane Getman, are buried in Elmwood Cemetery in East Granby. [Tombstone inscription.] Children, by first marriage:

326. i. Walter Dwight, born 1848.
ii. Fannie, born 1849; married.

By second marriage:

327. iii. William Burdette, born November 22, 1853.

By third marriage:

328. iv. Emma L., born November 20, 1860.
329. v. Hartley A., born March 28, 1863.
330. vi. Annis S., born January 9, 1866.
vii. Whitney D., born June 17, 1868. He was for several years in charge of old Newgate prison and the copper mines, where he acted the part of a hospitable host, entertaining visitors at the historic ruins. He died July 15, 1921 in Northampton, Massachusetts and was buried in Elmwood Cemetery in East Granby.
331. viii. Willard Wesley, born July 7, 1870.
332. ix. Jessie Beulah, born April 5, 1872.
x. Raynor H., born July 20, 1875; died November 25, 1877.

By fourth marriage:

333. xi. Dan Grove, born March 1885. Known as Harry Linwood.
334. xii. Pearl Frederick, born December 1887.

167. (Joseph Franklin[5], Dan[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Joseph Franklin Viets, son of Dan and Beulah (Phelps) Viets, was born in Granby February 6, 1827. He owned and occupied for some years the farm where Jason R. Viets afterwards lived; later he purchased the Captain John Viets' place near the Old Prison, and then bought from his brother, Benjamin E., his father's old homestead where he spent the remainder of his days. He married first, February 24, 1855 [Connecticut Marriage Index, FHF#0003314] Elizabeth Spencer, born in Homer, New York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Spencer. She died in East Granby in July 1865 age twenty-nine years. Mr.

Viets married second, on October 11, 1870 Angeline Chapin, born July 11, 1836 in Granby, daughter of Hiram and Orphia (Cannon) Chapin. She died May 8, 1915; Mr. Viets died September 13, 1903 in East Granby. Both are buried in Copper Hill Cemetery. [Chapin, The Chapin Book of Genealogical Data.] Children, by first marriage:

335. i. Lydia Estella, born December 8, 1857.
336. ii. Clarence Austin, born December 12, 1859.
iii. Nellie Maria, born October 27, 1861; died August 26, 1862.
337. iv. Anna Mary, born July 6, 1863.

By second marriage:

v. Hiram Chapin, born August 23, 1871 in East Granby and died at Daytona Beach, Florida, February 3, 1942 unmarried. He had lived there nearly thirty years. He was one of the first to inaugurate the movement for a Viets' reunion and was the treasurer for some years. He is buried in Copper Hill Cemetery. [Tombstone inscription.]

From Encyclopedia of Connecticut Biography:

Like many another man who has made a name for himself and has been a forceful, worthy citizen, he [Hiram Chapin Viets] was educated in the public schools of his native town. He worked for others a year or so before he started in business for himself. The ambition of the man is proved by the fact that he had only passed his eighteenth birthday when he bought out the business of E. P. Harvey, of North Granby. He ran the business for about three years, then wanting the experience of contact with men and affairs, he spent a year in Hartford. He returned, however, to the home town, and to his father's farm, which he carried on as long as his father lived.

Establishing himself in the confidence of his townspeople, he became postmaster in East Granby, November 1, 1904. The following year he established himself in business as a general merchant there conducting an up-to-date establishment [Viets store at East Granby]. After continuing in business for four years, he sold out his store, but has continued to hold the postmastership until the present time [ca 1920]. For some years prior to the spring of 1918 Mr. Viets was engaged in the cattle and grain business more or less extensively, but has since retired from these lines of activity. Mr. Viets is a Republican, an upright and fair minded man, interested in every public enterprise and institution. That he enjoys the trust and confidence of the townspeople goes without saying, as he has held the office of town treasurer for six years, holding both offices at the same time.

168. (Benjamin Erskine[5], Dan[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Benjamin Erskine Viets, youngest child of Dan and Beulah (Phelps) Viets, was born in East Granby, June 12, 1828. He was educated at the district school, at a select school in East Granby and trained himself at home in mathematics. He was a farmer of considerable energy and perseverance. His farm, which extended from the top of the mountain across a ridge of upland to the meadows a mile east, was greatly improved under his care. In 1888 leaving the farm in charge of his son, Scott B., he purchased a home in Suffield, which he improved and where he lived for several years.

Mr. Viets was for a time treasurer of the town of East Granby, but usually avoided public life because of greater love for other duties. Since early life, he was affiliated with the Baptist Church, to which he was loyal, but for many years aided in supporting the Congregational Church in East Granby.

Benjamin E. Viets married first, September 1, 1853 Anna Hubbard, daughter of Benoni and Abigail (Francis) Hubbard, born in Bloomfield, March 18, 1828. Her father, Benoni, was a son of Asa and Submit (Bishop) Hubbard. Asa was a son of Nathaniel and Mary (Cadwell) Hubbard. Nathaniel was a son of John Hubbard, the first of this line to live in Bloomfield, which was then Wintonbury Parish in the town of Windsor. John came from Hartford to Bloomfield. He was descended from an English family who were among the early settlers of Hartford and Middletown.

Anna Hubbard was educated at the public school and at the Normal School in New Britain, afterwards teaching for a time. She was a woman of gentle nature, of excellent Christian principle and character, and of correct views of life and duty. She died at her home in East Granby, June 27, 1886.

In 1890 Mr. Viets married second, Lottie M. Merriam of Hartford, daughter of Munson Merriam of West Harland. She died several years before her husband.

Mr. Viets was interested in all that was good for town or church. He was a member of the Baptist Church in Tariffville and afterwards of the Second Baptist Church in Suffield. In politics he was a staunch Republican all his life. He died at the home of his son, the Reverend Francis Viets of Waltham, Massachusetts, March 21, 1917 and interment was in the family lot in Elmwood Cemetery, East Granby. Children, born in East Granby:

338. i. Francis Hubbbard, born September 16, 1854.
339. ii. Edward Bradford, born January 27, 1857.
340. iii. Scott Benjamin, born May 4, 1859.

169. (Levi Clinton[5], Levi[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Levi Clinton Viets, son of Levi and Sarah (Dibble) Viets, was born January 17, 1827 in the old house owned and occupied by his grandfather, Captain Abner, and in which his father was born and died. He lived as farmers' children lived in those days, and was sent to school as soon as old enough to attend. From fourteen to sixteen years of age he attended, during three winter terms, a private school in Granby. In 1844 when seventeen years old, he entered the Connecticut Literary Institution at Suffield, where he attended five terms.

He was a good linguist and read Caesar and Cicero, but was more interested in mathematics and the natural sciences. He was given credit by his teacher for being the best mathematician that ever entered the school. On finishing his course at Suffield, he decided not to enter college as he had little taste for the classics, had already advanced in mathematics further than any college at the time could lead him, and did not feel that he had time for his favorite pastime, scientific research. After teaching school for a time, he assisted his brother Richard in the management of their father's large farm for a period of five years. He made at farming and in the wood and lumber business a fair profit each year.

In 1856 Mr. Viets closed his business partnership with his brother and made a tour of the West, visiting various points and making investments at Sioux City, returning home in November. In April 1857 he returned West spending some time in Sioux City and Dakota City, Nebraska, a town of two or three small houses. Here he made his home for the remainder of the time which he spent in the West, making investments and engaging in business.

In 1860 he returned home as his brother, who was in poor health, needed his assistance. Until his brother's death in 1863 he assisted in carrying on the farm and remained on it until 1901 when he moved to Hartford where he died September 28, 1904.

Although Mr. Viets' business interests have been such as to ally him far more with the capitalist than with the farmer, his sympathies have been with the latter; on the farm most of his work had been done and the old place was much improved under his care and by the work of his hands. He was a staunch Republican during the Civil War, but later reasoned ably against a high protective tariff.

Levi Clinton Viets was well read, vigorous both in mind and body, a keen, original observer, and a fluent talker. As regards honesty and kindred virtues he was beyond reproach. He was never married, but cherished an interest in the ancestral history and was of great help in the work of preserving data and traditions of the Viets family.

Mr. Viets' will, dated March 21, 1904 gave $2,000 to Hartford Hospital, $1,000 to Trinity Parish of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Tariffville, and minor bequests amounting to about $11,000 to various relatives of the Viets family. It is estimated that the property amounted to $250,000-$300,000.

From the Hartford Times, October 4, 1904:

> . . . I give, devise and bequeath all the residue and remainder of my property, both real and personal, whatsoever and wheresoever situated, to

Yale University, a corporation located in New Haven, Conn., in perpetual trust to be called the "Viets Fund," to hold, invest and reinvest, and to expend each year two-thirds of the annual income of said fund for the promotion of the study of the physical, natural and mathematical sciences in the Sheffield Scientific School, a department of Yale University.

The remaining one-third of the annual income shall be added to the principal of said fund, and as soon as the said annual income, derived from said fund and its yearly accretions above provided for, shall exceed the sum of $50,000, then all of the annual income derived from said fund and accretions, shall thereafter be spent for the promotion of the physical, natural and mathematical sciences in the said Sheffield School.

183. (James Rollin^5, John^4, Luke^3, John^2, John^1)

James Rollin Viets, son of John and Abigail (Eno) Viets, was born in East Granby September 20, 1821 and died there July 14, 1896 age seventy-four.

Obituary, the Hartford Courant, July 1896

In the death of James Rollin Viets, whose funeral was held Thursday at his late residence, the town of East Granby loses one of its most prominent citizens and business men of the valley, one who for a half century has been actively and honorably associated with them. Mr. Viets was born at East Granby September 20, 1821. He was the son of Captain John Viets of the same town, and Abigail Eno of Simsbury. He was descended from Stephen Hart, who came with Hooker from Dorchester, Massachusetts to Hartford, and was the first deacon of the Hartford church. He was the great grandson of Captain John Viets, who, when the Revolution broke out, was appointed the first military keeper of old Newgate prison.

Early in life Mr. Viets entered the employ of the firm of Eno and Phelps of New York, which was then composed of his cousins, John Jay Phelps and Amos R. Eno,--the latter of whom is still living. Being anxious to obtain a more liberal education, and cherishing a desire to enter the ministry, he afterwards attended in succession a private school in Amherst, Mass., the Hopkins Grammar School of Hadley, Mass., and joined the first class of Williston Seminary, Easthampton, Mass., which had just been opened, and where he prepared to enter college in the sophomore class.

He later turned again to business pursuits, but always preserved his literary tastes, and was a wide reader of the better literature. After leaving Williston Seminary he bought out his brother, John Jay Viets, and formed a partnership with James O. Allen, lately of Springfield, and a few years later bought the entire interest of his partner, and for about thirty years continued in business alone.

He had extensive business relations, and was everywhere recognized as a man of sterling worth, of utmost integrity, honesty, and purity of character. His judgment was often sought, and his counsel was considered safe and wise. He united with the Congregational Church in early life, and for a period of thirty years served as treasurer of the parish. In politics he was an ardent Republican. His convictions were clear, deep, and strong. He held slavery, intemperance, gambling, and kindred evils in utter detestation, and did not shrink from the fullest expression of his views. For many years he held the office of postmaster.

It may be added that Deacon Stephen Hart of Hartford, from whom Mr. Viets was descended, came from Braintree, England, and was buried in the burying ground of the Center Church, Hartford, where his name is recorded on the historic monument. Mr. Viets was also descended on his mother's side from James Eno, who came to Windsor in 1670. In common with others of this branch he was descended from William Phelps who settled in Windsor in 1635 and from Ezekiel Phelps who fought in the Revolution.

Mr. Viets married September 14, 1852 Cordelia Tryphena Rouse of Saratoga Springs, New York. Mrs. Viets was the fourth child of Joel Chapman and Emily (Henderson) Rouse. She was born January 5, 1827 at Bennington, Vermont. Among her ancestors are numbered many of the early settlers in America, several of whom became well known for their distinguished services to their country. She is descended from Caspar Rouse, "yeoman," who came from Paltz, Germany, and settled at Cold Springs on the Hudson about 1730. He was enrolled as one of the first five hundred freeholders in New York State. His son, Jonathan Rouse, resided at Pittstown, Rensselaer County. He was one of the promoters of the Erie Canal, postmaster, judge of the county court, and a member of the New York legislature.

Among her ancestors were James Breckenridge, a Scotch covenanter who emigrated to Ireland, and in 1720 to America. He was one of the founders of the state of Vermont, served in the militia in 1764, was a member of the Provincial Congress, 1775 and founder of the First Church of Bennington. He was appointed special commissioner to England to settle the boundary claims between New York and Vermont.

Another ancestor, Thomas Henderson, married Jerret Breckenridge, daughter of the above. A Scotsman of the Clan of Gunn, on coming to America he settled in Ware, Massachusetts, served in the French and Indian War in 1757, and was at the battle of Mount Independence. He removed to Bennington, Vermont, in 1764 where he bought a large farm at the top of what came to be known as "Henderson Hill," down which the troops marched to fight the memorable battle in which every able-bodied man in town engaged. He was one of the members of the First Church in that town, and shared the "honorable pew" with Deacon Webb. He married Tryphena Sloan, daughter of John Sloan, who served in General Fellows' Brigade, doing duty at Albany, and died October 22, 1778.

Mrs. Viets is also a descendant of Thomas Dewey, who came from England in 1633 with the first settlers of Dorchester, Massachusetts, and was one of the founders of Windsor, Connecticut, and is thus in direct descent from Alfred the Great, William the Conqueror, and other kings of England and Scotland.

Mrs. Viets was educated at the Old Academy, Bennington, and at Troy Female Seminary, which was founded by Emma Willard, the distinguished pioneer of education for women. To this school, its inspiring memories, and its present work, she has cherished a warm devotion. After leaving Troy she taught several private schools, and developed an abiding fondness for the English classics. She is a member of the Congregational Church in East Granby, of the Emma Willard Association of New York City, and of the Louise St. Clair Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

From the Hartford Courant, October 1916

> The work of Mrs. Viets in local church and for the educational life of the community was earnest and efficient and the home became a center of moral influence and power. After the death of Mr. Viets in 1896 she removed to Detroit where she lived with her daughter Emily, who was superintendent of the Kindergarten system in the city schools. Mrs. Viets enjoyed the vigorous use of all her mental powers to the end of her long life, was ever deeply interested in all Christian work, and was an indefatigable reader of the best literature, especially in the direction of personal biography and Italian Art.
>
> She died in Salem, Massachusetts, October 3, 1916. Her funeral was held in the church in East Granby, and the interment was in the cemetery near by.

185. (Allen^5, George^4, Luke^3, John^2, John^1)

Allen Viets, son of Captain George and Charlotte (Rice) Viets, was born in the Captain John Viets' house March 24, 1813. He lived on a farm just south of Newgate Prison, where he died September 5, 1848. He married April 1, 1840 Lorinda Smith, born in New York state December 9, 1821, daughter of Leonard Jr. and Abigail (Whalley) Smith, who was a descendant of the regicide Edward Whalley. She married a few years after her husband's death, Morton Griffin, by whom she had five children.

From newspaper clipping, source unknown

> Mrs. Lorinda Griffin at the time of her death March 22, 1907 was one of the oldest residents of East Granby. She was very energetic, possessed of a strong constitution and able to attend to her household affairs to the last. She was the oldest living member of the Copper Hill Methodist Church, having been a member for fifty-five years.

Children, born in East Granby:

370. i. Seth Allen, born April 17, 1842.
ii. Laura Lorinda, born December 7, 1845; died August 31, 1848.

186. (Esther Keziah^5, George^4, Luke^3, John^2, John^1)

Esther Keziah Viets, daughter of Captain George and Charlotte (Rice) Viets, was born in the Captain John Viets' house June 18, 1816; married October 19, 1834 Dr. Hiram Preston, and died in Syracuse, New York, February 1891, having resided in Syracuse twenty-three years. She was a devout Christian, a member of St. Paul's Cathedral (Episcopal), and led a life of self-sacrifice, devotion, and unostentatious charity.

Dr. Hiram Preston was born in Cazenovia, New York, March 14, 1808 and died in Jacksonville, Florida, February 21, 1877. Dr. and Mrs. Preston, following their marriage, resided for a time in Georgia where she was a teacher. Most of Dr. Preston's business life was spent in Hartford, where he practiced dentistry and made many friends.

Obituary, the Hartford Times, February, 1877

> The announcement of the death of Dr. Hiram Preston will bring back to many in Hartford and vicinity memories of the kindly, honest face of their old friend who practiced dentistry at No. 18 State St. for about twenty years prior to 1864. The doctor came to Hartford a comparative stranger, and soon secured a large practice, and made many warm friends by his genial manners and careful, skillful operations. The columns of the Times of 1847-8 occasionally gave to the public articles from his pen on the care of the teeth, and hints as to the means of their preservation; and those articles with added chapters were subsequently published in book form, dedicated by the author "to that portion of the community who think."

As a dental instructor Dr. Preston was recommended in 1857 by fifteen regular physicians in Hartford and vicinity, who had employed him professionally as competent to give instruction "in every department of this important but nice and difficult art"; and after we find among the number who studied under him, Dr. Charles O. Hall, now a resident of Nice, France, and one of the most skillful and successful of the famous dentists of Europe.

About 1863 on account of failing health, Dr. Preston retired from practice, and removed to Auburn, N.Y., and soon decided to make Syracuse his home. There he has lived with abundant means to enjoy life if he had only the one great blessing which money cannot purchase, good health. In hope that a change of air and scene would benefit him, the Florida trip was taken.

Children:

i. A son Preston, born in 1836; died in infancy.
ii. Charles Preston, born August 27, 1846 in the ballroom of the Captain John Viets' house; married February 1876 Ella James of Syracuse. Mr. Preston was a merchant for a number of years dealing principally in gloves. He died in Syracuse February 17, 1916. His widow died several years later. No children.

SIXTH GENERATION

188. (Henry Sheldon[6], Henry[5], Henry[4], Henry[3], Henry[2], John[1])

Henry Sheldon Viets, son of Henry and Sarah (Boise) Viets, was born in Huntington, Ohio, February 4, 1839. He married, December 27, 1865 at Kewanee, Henry County, Illinois, Louise Little, daughter of Henry Gilman and Fidelia (Stoddard) Little. They resided for many years at Grinnell, Iowa, which was also the home of Mrs. Viets' parents. Mr. Viets was a soldier for the Union in the Civil War in Co. C, 176th Infantry Regiment, Ohio Volunteers, appointed sergeant September 13, 1864 and discharged at Nashville, Tennessee, June 14, 1865. Mr. and Mrs. Viets observed their golden wedding at their home in Grinnell on December 27, 1915.

Mrs. Viets' father, Henry Gilman Little, was born in Goffstown, New Hampshire, in 1813 and died in Grinnell, November 3, 1900. He was of Puritan blood. His revolutionary grandfather stood with the "embattled farmers" at Lexington to fire "the shot heard round the world," and numerous earlier ancestors were members of the provincial and colonial congresses and men of influence and standing. In one branch of his mother's ancestry there had been a line of deacons unbroken for a hundred years, and many clergymen of his blood were prominent in the Massachusetts Congregationalism of early days.

Mr. Little, leaving home with his parents' blessing at the age of sixteen, lived for a time in Wethersfield, Connecticut, in the family of his mother's brother, the Reverend Dr. Tenney, and afterwards in Newington. He went to Illinois in 1835 and the next year brought a young wife from the comforts of a Connecticut home to dwell in a log cabin of one room. The place where they settled, by the energy of Mr. Little and others, became the thriving city of Kewanee. He was surveyor, teacher, lecturer, builder, and in the early days a hunter. He held many public offices and was considered a man of good judgment and wise counsel.

Henry Sheldon Viets moved with his family in 1867 to Grinnell, Iowa, partly for the educational advantages of the place, and partly because he enjoyed using his influence in shaping the character of a new community. He aided in church and other benevolent work, and served as mayor of the city. Children:

i. Helen Maude, born December 1, 1866 in Kewanee, Illinois; died December 23, 1880.
ii. Eddie, born July 31, 1868 in Grinnell, Iowa; died in infancy.
371. iii. Henry Little, born November 13, 1869.
iv. Mary, born June 15, 1872 in Grinnell; died in infancy.
v. Sara Elizabeth, born June 15, 1875 in Grinnell. Resided in Long Beach, California. Unmarried. She died April 18, 1959 in Los Angeles County. [California VR, FHM#6332561.]

vi. Louise Stoddard, born July 25, 1877 in Grinnell; died November 17, 1878.

He served in the Civil War as a private in Co. A, 128th Regt., OVI [Grave Registrations of Soldiers Buried in Ohio, FHF#0182786]. He was a traveling salesman. He wrote "In all I sold goods on the road to the trade for over thirty-four years." He married in Elyria, February 20, 1868 Elizabeth Lena Henson, born March 1839 in Nazeby, England, who was twelve years old when she came to America with her parents in a sailing vessel. She died October 10, 1911; Mr. Viets died in Bryan December 23, 1917.

From "Autobiography of Jonathan Munsell Viets," Early Vital Records of Ohio, Ohio State Library:

I remember some things about the trip [from Connecticut to Ohio at age 6]. I remember the canal boat ride of about two weeks; of seeing men get off the boat and go ashore and hunt squirrels, and come aboard again. I remember about the boat going through the lock at Lockport, N.Y.; lake steamer from Buffalo to Cleveland, Ohio. I can tell now how bad the food tasted. I can remember of seeing father taking care of the sick women in the cabin; father escaped being sick, but every other passenger on board was sick; even the women help was sick. The next thing I can well remember was the ride in the stage coach from Cleveland west, only one thing, that was of all of the passengers getting out of the coach and walking across the river bridge at Rocky River. The bridge was not considered safe.

234. (Elam[6], Salmon[5], Hezekiah P.[4], John[3], John[2], John[1])

 Note: I have tentatively placed Elam Viets [Veats] as the son of Salmon. The Andrews Genealogy lists Salmon Viets as the father of two daughters, Phebe and Caroline. However the 1810 Connecticut census includes one male under 16 in Salmon's household. This could possibly be Elam. Phebe Viets was residing in Dalton, Massachusetts, in 1833 which makes one believe that Elam is indeed the son of Salmon Viets. [See Salmon #102.]--DVS. ***

Elam Viets [Veats], probably the son of Salmon and Mary (Andrews) Viets, was born in Granby, Connecticut, about 1808. He left there when a small boy and went to Dalton, Massachusetts, then to Sherman, Connecticut, where he learned the trade of tanner and currier, then to New Fairfield, Connecticut, where he married Jane Adeline _____, born about 1817 in New York. [Danbury, Fairfield County, Connecticut, Censuses, 1850 to 1880.]

A Mary Adeline Veats who changed her name in 1876 to Jacobs in Dalton, Massachusetts, may have been his daughter. His children remember hearing him mention having relatives in East Granby. He and his wife both died in New Fairfield, he April 3, 1888; she February 9, 1898. [Hale, FHF#0003217.]

In the pension record [Certificate No. 937790] of his son, Henry B., appears this notarized statement:

> I Henry B. Veats. Was born in the Town of New Fairfiekld [sic] County of Fairfield. State of Connecticut, on the 27th/day of August, 1843. I am the last of a family of 8 children as far as I know there is no Family Bible, the records of the Town of New Fairfield, were destroyed by fire some years ago.

--signed, Henry B. Veats

From the above statement it would be presumed that there was another child, probably a daughter, perhaps the Mary Adeline mentioned above. Children:

i. Darius A., born in May 1836. Died in the Civil War at the Battle of Drury's Bluff, Virginia, May 14, 1864.
424. ii. Silas B., born May 1837.
425. iii. Wheeler J., born September 13, 1840.
426. iv. Ann E., born ca 1842.
427. v. Henry B., born August 27, 1843.
vi. Edson H., born March 4, 1856; died August 26, 1857. [New Fairfield Cemetery records.]
vii. Charles W., born ca 1858; died November 23, 1882.

235. (Lemuel Watson^{6}, Zopher^{5}, [Hezekiah P.^{4}?], John^{3}, John^{2}, John^{1})

Lemuel Watson Viets, son of Zopher and Anna (Colton) Viets, was born in Granby or North Granby, October 26, 1811. His father died when he was fourteen years of age and on November 21, 1825 Joshua Kendall was appointed as his guardian. [Connecticut, Granby District Probates, #1643.] He married June 7, 1830 Lydia F. Wilson. Her descendants give the name as Florence but she is called "Florana" in the record of her marriage to William Lindsley in 1852. [Barbour Collection.] Lemuel W. Viets is listed as a joiner and carpenter in Cleveland. [Cleveland City Directory, 1847-1848.] He died in Cleveland, Ohio, August 8, 1849. In the 1850 census appears the name of Florian L. Viets, age thirty-eight, along with a Marshall W. and "Ed." [Eugene Erskine?] Viets. [1850 census, Cleveland, Ward 2, p. 221B.] Lydia (Wilson) Viets Lindsley died about 1885. Children:

247. (Oliver Hazard Perry[6], Chauncey[5], Hezekiah P.[4], John[3], John[2], John[1])

Oliver Hazard Perry Viets, son of Chauncey and Emily (Bartleson) Viets, was born May 28, 1823 in Sugarloaf Township, Columbia County, Pennsylvania, and was baptized the same day at St. Gabriel's Church. He settled three miles west of Albion, Michigan, on land his father purchased from the government. At an early age he was apprenticed to a cabinet maker in Marshall, Michigan, and after he learned the trade he opened his own shop. On December 28, 1850 he married Mary Smith, born April 3, 1834 and died February 4, 1852. On October 3, 1858 he married Mary Louise Ballantine who died March 14, 1916. Oliver Viets died in Albion October 19, 1891. Child:

450. i. Emily, born November 10, 1851.

248. (Ira[6], Chauncey[5], Hezekiah P.[4], John[3], John[2], John[1])

Ira Viets, son of Chauncey and Emily (Bartleson) Viets, was born February 26, 1829 in New York state, probably Monroe County. He was listed along with his brother Oliver in the 1850 census in Sheridan, Calhoun County, Michigan, age 21 with the occupation of "chainmaker." An Ira Viets, born in New York, also a chainmaker, was listed in the 1860 census at Red Bluff, Tehama County, California.

249. (Maria[6], Chauncey[5], Hezekiah P.[4], John[3], John[2], John[1])

Maria Viets, daughter of Chauncey and Emily (Bartleson) Viets, was born April 10, 1838 in Marshall, Calhoun County, Michigan. Her mother died when she was about two years of age. In the 1850 census of Calhoun County Maria Viets, age 12, born in Michigan, was listed in the household of Anne Peterman who was probably her mother's sister. In the same household was listed Colly Bartleson, her mother's brother. [The Bartleson family's data comes from St. Gabriel's Church Records, Sugarloaf Township, Columbia County, Pennsylvania, FHF#1312860.] Maria studied medicine in Philadelphia and Boston and became a physician. She married January 15, 1867 John W. Lowry at Albion, Michigan. Both bride and groom were listed as residents of Bay City, Michigan. She died May 25, 1868 in Vineland, New Jersey, in childbirth. The baby daughter also died.

Obituary, Albion [MI] Weekly Mirror, date unknown

Died in Vineland, New Jersey, on Monday, May 25, 1868, Mrs. Marie Lowry, wife of J. W. Lowery, Esq., and only sister of Mr. O. P. Viets of Sheridan, aged 26 years. Mrs. Lowry was born at Marshall, Mich. As her mother died at the time of her birth, she never knew her protecting guidance. When she was nineteen years of age she lost her father also. By aid of her [illegible] patrimony she was able to attend the medical Colleges for women, in Philadelphia and Boston, from both of which institutions she graduated with honor, and soon after commenced the practice of her profession. She was married to J. W. Lowry, Esq. at Albion, Michigan, January 25, 1867. Last Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, she was taken with violent convulsions, and after lingering in terrible agony until half past eight o'clock Monday morning, she gave birth to a daughter. A half an hour later the angel of death bore her freed spirit away. At about the same time the little girl also died. Mrs. Lowry was highly esteemed by her acquaintances, a large circle of whom mourn her untimely death. Those nearer friends to whom she was more intimately known, and who now find their home circle broken, may get strength from the thought that > There is no death! What seems so is transition;

> This life of mortal breath
> Is but a suburb of the life elysian, > Whose portal we call Death.

250. (Eliza M.^{6}, Ira^{5}, Hezekiah P.^{4}, John^{3}, John^{2}, John^{1})

Eliza M. Viets, undoubtedly the daughter of Ira Viets, was born July 1832. She lists her place of birth as Pennsylvania in two censuses which would fit Ira's family of Columbia County, Pennsylvania. Her mother is as yet unknown. It is a matter of conjecture that the wife of Ira Viets may have been named "Ida" since two of his children named daughters "Ida." Eliza married Henry Bangs of the township of Akron, Summit County, Ohio, December 31, 1850. [Summit County, Ohio, Vital Records, Marriages 1840-1943, FHF#1287580.]

Mr. Bangs died in 1855. Jacob Wise was appointed guardian of the two children, Henry and Ida Bangs. [Ohio, Summit County, Index to Guardian Dockets, FHF#0900955.] In the probate records Henry is later referred to as "Harry." [Ohio, Summit County, Probate Court, Vol. B, pg. 163, Case #664.] Eliza Bangs appears in the 1860 and 1870 census of Akron, first ward, Summit County, Ohio, with the two children. She is listed living alone in Akron in the 1900 census. Probate of her estate in 1910 shows that it was left to her two grandsons, Henry Franklin Bangs and George W. Bangs. Eliza M. died in Akron, Ohio, July 27, 1910.

Obituary, Akron Beacon Journal, July 28, 1910

Mrs. Bangs Was a Respected Resident

Owned Much Property in Center of Akron

Mrs. Eliza M. Bangs, who was found dead Wednesday morning at 69 North Howard steet, had been one of Akron's oldest and best known residents. She was the widow of the late Henry Bangs who died a few years ago. He had accumulated considerable property in the city, and his widow has inherited much of it, but she seldom talked of her interests and preferred to live a rather secluded life. She is survived by a number of relatives in Akron. They are Mrs. T. J. Marsh of 130 North Forge street, who was a sister-in-law; Mrs. N. A. Vaughn of Broad street, a cousin, and Mrs. Wetmore of the Falls. She was also the aunt of Fred Tinkham, of Fairlawn. She left two grandchildren, George and Frank Bangs of this city. The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Children, probably born in Akron, Ohio:

i. Henry "Harry," born December 25, 1852. He married Mary Pfordt in 1886. He died before 1897 as his widow married Frank E. Corp that year. The two grandsons mentioned in the probate above were Henry's sons.
ii. Ida M., born September 23, 1854. She married in 1876 Augustine A. Tillotson. She must have died before 1880 as A. A. Tillotson is listed in that year's census as a widower.

251. (Adam Clark^{6}, Ira^{5}, Hezekiah P.^{4}, John^{3}, John^{2}, John^{1})

Adam Clark Viets, son of Ira Viets, was born June 3, 1834 in Ohio. His first wife's name may have been Mary E. or Margaret and he was married in the 1850s. He married second Jane "Jennie" Betz born October 1844 in Pennsylvania. He had a stepson Harry Mather, by his second wife. Clark Viets died April 24, 1908 in Bloomsburg, Columbia County, Pennsylvania. Jennie Viets died in 1929. Children, by first marriage:

451. i. Thomas Sherman, born 1857.

272. (Frank Jesse^6, Rodney^5, Jesse^4, Seth^3, John^2, John^1)

Colonel Frank Jesse Viets, son of the Reverend Rodney and Lucinda (Wood) Viets, was born in Saybrook, Ashtabula County, Ohio, March 12, 1839 and lived there until twenty-one years of age. He entered the army during the Civil War, serving as private four months, then commissioned first lieutenant and serving as such until April 1864 when he resigned on account of disability. He married in Painesville, Ohio, November 30, 1864 Nancy L. Dow of Madison, Ohio, who was born February 4, 1842, daughter of John and Harriett (Butterfield) Dow.

From 1868 to 1870 he was in Kansas and Colorado. In 1870 he moved with his family to Dakota, and located at Grand Forks. Here he opened the North Western Hotel for the Hudson Bay company and afterwards built the Viets' House, known for many years as the best hotel in the Northwest. He platted what is known as the Viets' Addition to Grand Forks, built a grist-mill and saw-mill, the first mills north of Alexandria, Minnesota, and bought the merchandise business of the Hudson Bay Company at that place.

He then went to Minto, North Dakota, and built a large roller flouring-mill, and ran an extensive general store for about two years. Going back to Grand Forks, he again engaged in the hotel business and remained there until the winter of 1896 when the grand structure known as the Viets' House burned, entailing a very heavy loss upon its owner, as well as destroying a very profitable business. Within a few months he went to British Columbia and invested the remainder of his fortune in a mine which proved to be very remunerative and, after nearly two years of labor, to which he was unaccustomed and which caused him to grow old quite perceptibly, he succeeded in disposing of his interest in the mines exceeding his greatest expectations.

In the interval from 1880 to 1890 he owned and occupied a fine farm in his native county of Ashtabula. While residing there the Loudon Rubber Works was incorporated and he became a stockholder with Viets, Southwick and Company general managers. He was ever ready to aid in the advancement of any plan to further the interest of any town or city in which his lot had been cast. According to his army discharge papers Mr. Viets obtained an honorable discharge due to disability before the close of the war. He served as the first president of the Ohio Viets Association and presided for several years. He was honorary president as long as he lived. He died in Glendale, California, in June 1927.

Mrs. Viets died in Ashtabula, January 1, 1910. Gertrude Dow (Viets) Titus says of her mother, "My beloved mother passed on January 1, 1910, so beautiful in life that I know the angels sang with added joy that New Year's morning." Child:

478. i. Gertrude Dow, born March 5, 1866.

273. (Mary Elizabeth^{6}, Rodney^{5}, Jesse^{4}, Seth^{3}, John^{2}, John^{1})

Mary Elizabeth Viets, daughter of Reverend Rodney and Lucinda H. (Wood) Viets, was born August 30, 1845; married June 8, 1866 Henry L. Warren in Ashtabula County, Ohio. [VR, Ashtabula County, Ohio.] She died December 21, 1871.

Celestia Clarissa Viets, daughter of the Reverend Rodney and Lucinda H. (Wood) Viets, was born in Saybrook, Ohio, November 6, 1847. She married in Geneva, Ohio, December 28, 1865 Charles Henry Cooper, born January 4, 1844 in Hillsdale, Michigan, son of Ira and Aurelia (Munson) Cooper. He was an extensive landowner and farmer in Emerado, Dakota. He served in the Civil War in the same Company as Colonel Frank Jesse Viets. He died in Miami, Florida, December 19, 1921; Mrs. Cooper died in Grand Forks, North Dakota, January 29, 1909. Children:

i. Katie Cooper, born in Saybrook, Ohio, in 1867; died in Dakota Territory, January 6, 1881.

ii. Herbert D. Cooper, born February 22, 1869 in Saybrook; married in Emerado, North Dakota, December 23, 1890 Lovilla Jane Ward, born March 7, 1869 in Chicago, daughter of Thomas Ward from England and Mary Ann (Putnam) Ward from Ontario, Canada. Mr. Cooper died March 6, 1928. Mrs. Cooper resided in Miami, Florida. Five children (Cooper).

iii. Mattie Cooper, born 1873 in Cherry Valley, Ohio; died in Dakota Territory, January 6, 1881.

iv. Lotta Ardell Cooper, born February 19, 1875 in Cherry Valley; married June 29, 1911 Frank L. Farnsworth, born June 21, 1872 in Bedford, Iowa, son of Sydney Leroy and Alice (Aldrich) Farnsworth. Resided in Rathdrum, Idaho. One son (Farnsworth).

v. Maude Viets Cooper, born January 16, 1882 in Mackinock Township, Dakota Territory (later North Dakota); married December 28, 1904 Martin Luther Dryburgh, born July 14, 1878 in Cupar, Fifeshire, Scotland, son of John and Rachel (Bogie) Dryburgh. He was a real estate dealer in Grand Forks, North Dakota, and died there July 1, 1948. Two children (Dryburgh).

275. (Durell Fremont[6], Rodney[5], Jesse[4], Seth[3], John[2], John[1])

Durell Fremont Viets, son of the Reverend Rodney and Lucinda H. (Wood) Viets, was born in Saybrook, Ohio, April 1, 1854. He married in Ashtabula, Ohio, on February 25, 1874 Mary M. Perkins, who died in Dakota Territory (now North Dakota) about 1883. Mr. Viets remained at the old homestead with his father and mother until 1881 and then removed to Dakota. Child:

i. Roy Burdette, born in Saybrook, August 16, 1875. He and his father started for Alaska to "seek their fortune" and nothing was ever heard from them.

276. (Rollin Burton[6], Rollin[5], Jesse[4], Seth[3], John[2], John[1])

Rollin Burton Viets, son of Rollin and Electa A. (Brown) Viets, was born May 20, 1834 presumably in Ohio, and died March 11, 1908. He married first in Saginaw, Michigan, on December 30, 1862 Lucy L. Thayer. She was born May 2, 1841 in Conneaut, Ohio, daughter of John Thayer, and died April 1, 1864. He married second, Matilda Gross, born in 1847 and died in 1880. They resided in East Saginaw, Michigan. Children, by first marriage:

479. i. Willis Burton, born December 1861.
ii. Clinton, born August 28, 1863; died October 21, 1865

References: Ashtabula County, Ohio, Cemetery Inscriptions; Early Vital Records of Ohio, Obituaries; Thayer, Family Memorial to the Thayer Family.

277. (Philander Dan[6], Rollin[5], Jesse[4], Seth[3], John[2], John[1])

Philander Dan Viets, son of Rollin and Electa A. (Brown) Viets, was born in Amboy, Ashtabula County, Ohio, November 3, 1836 and died in Evansville, Indiana, June 22, 1895. He married July 1, 1859 Eliza Kellogg, daughter of Phineas and Cynthia Anne (Brown) Kellogg.

Philander Dan Viets was left without a father when twelve years of age. He went to Covington, Indiana, about 1850 where he learned the art of printing, and did his first regular work as a compositor on the Cincinnati Commercial in 1854. Later he went West; was a printer on the Squatter's Sovereign, the first newspaper started in Kansas, and removed thence to Warrensburg, Missouri. In 1855 he removed to Evansville, Indiana, and secured a position on the Evansville Enquirer, and later on the Journal, where he remained until 1861.

In 1863 he received an appointment as captain of the small gunboat Moor, which was in the harbor service of Evansville during the war. He was afterwards appointed agent of the Provost Marshal's office under Major Blythe Hines, and served in that capacity until the close of the war, when he was appointed wharf master. Later he took the agency of the Evansville, Cairo, and Memphis Steam Packet Company. He was also a steamboat clerk.

In 1874 he retired from the river and accepted a position in the printing office of T. J. Groves, and afterwards in the Courier office. Later he was given the position of river editor of the Courier, and afterwards was made city editor. Mr. Viets acted in that capacity until 1891 when he accepted a position on the writing force of the Standard. He was a good news gatherer, bright, chatty, and informing. He was an active man of affairs, and well liked.

He was elected to the office of justice of the peace a few months before his death by a handsome majority without making a political canvass, trusting to the friendship of those who knew him. He never had a quarrel during his life. "Life is too short to make enemies on a difference of opinion," he would say.

Obituary, Evansville, Indiana, newspaper unknown

Mrs. Eliza Viets, widow of the late P. D. Viets, for years a well-known newspaper man, died at 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon, November 20, 1911 after a three week's illness of pneumonia at her homestead.

She was born in Lafayette, Indiana, October 5, 1836 coming to Evansville in 1854 at the age of eighteen years. At that time Evansville had few public schools. She was in the class that formed Evansville's first high school. After leaving high school Mrs. Viets was a teacher in the public schools.

Mrs. Viets, then Eliza Kellogg, with Hon. John W.. Foster, now of Washington, D.C. and Benjamin _____, a high school teacher, organized the first Mission Sabbath school in Evansville. She was a devoted member of Bethany Christian Church and one of its most earnest workers, being the teacher of the adult Bible class.

She was a woman of wonderful intellect and a beautiful Christian spirit, spreading love all around her and numbering her friends by the score. She was a member and active worker in the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and had recently formed a society for the young people of Bethany Church and vicinity. She was a broadminded, earnest worker.

Prominent Men of Colfax, newspaper clipping, no name, no date

Elliot Winfield Viets was born in Conneaut, Ohio, on the banks of Lake Erie and lived on a farm until 1848 when his father died. He worked at cabinet making, marble works, and as a farm hand until 1860 when he was a sailor for one season.

At the opening of the Civil War, he responded to the first call, and on April 15, 1861 enlisted in Co. I., 19th Ohio Volunteer Infantry for three months, and was honorably discharged at the end of that time, but re-enlisted in Co. C., Ohio Light Artillery for three years where he was gunner on a gun that shot 12 pound balls. After serving the full term of three years, he was again honorably discharged, but re-enlisted for another three years, or during the war, in the same Company.

Mr. Viets took part in the battles of Lookout Mountain, Chattanooga, Gettysburg, Missionary Ridge, and Vicksburg, and marched with Gen. Sherman's army on its famous march to the sea.

Mr. Viets was married to Miss Martha Williams September 14, 1861 and to them were born two children, Andrew A. and Cora B. both of whom died at an early age, the wife and mother also passing away while the family lived in Barron County, Wis., whence they had emigrated after the war, and where he had taken up a homestead. While here he underwent many hardships, one being a walk from his home to Cooks Valley, 26 miles carrying a sack of flour home before breakfast.

Later he went back to Ohio and on January 12, 1876 he was married to Miss Elvira Simpson, and soon after moved back to Wisconsin, where they lived at Eau Claire one year, at the 22 mile ford (four miles north of town) ten years, on his farm in Cooks Valley one year, on the Tainter Stock farm at Menomonie 3 years, at Ashland as Landlord at the Franklin House 4 years, then to Colfax in 1896 and bought the Royal Hotel and in 1900 built the new Royal Hotel which they now own, occupy and operate.

To this latter union were born three children: Bertha E., now Mrs. C. A. Paul, Ralph S. and Jay B.

The Viets' family is one of our leading families, and their generosity is always relied upon when anything for the public welfare is being promoted.

After Mr. Viets death, his widow operated the hotel.

Wayne Ralph Viets, grandson of Elliot [see No. 702], has a vague recollection of going as a little boy, about 1924 with his father, older brother, and others to the site of Elliot's homestead and disenterring caskets and taking them to Hill Grove Cemetery in Rural Colfax where the other members of their family were buried. He was about 7 or 8 years of age and much impressed by the covertness of the operation. It was cold and dark when they got to Hill Grove Cemetery and the graves were dug by lantern light. The caskets must have been those of Elliot's first wife and two children who died young. Children, by first marriage:

i. Andrew A., born March, 1866; died October 2, 1875.
ii. Cora E., born February 23, 1868; died March 8, 1876.

By second marriage:

485. iii. Bertha Estella, born November 5, 1877.
486. iv. Ralph Simpson, born May 2, 1880.
487. v. Jay Burton, born January 24, 1888.

Reference: Yvette (Viets) Flaten, Eau Claire, Wisconsin, great granddaughter of Elliott Winfield Viets, contributed much material on this family.

279. (Jesse L.^{6}, Rollin^{5}, Jesse^{4}, Seth^{3}, John^{2}, John^{1})

Jesse L. Viets, son of Rollin and Electa (Brown) Viets, was born December 1842 in Ohio and died August 31, 1916. In 1889-1890 he was living in Cleveland, occupation, harness maker. [Cleveland City Directory.] He resided in Kane, Pennsylvania. The Viets Genealogy states that he married Alvira Brown, but his near relatives say that he was never married. He is listed in the Civil War pension records as serving in Indiana volunteers and leaving a widow Elvira. The pension application was filed from Pennsylvania. [Pension Records Index, Civil War, FHF#0541245.] He and wife Alvira were listed in the 1900 census in Kane, McKean County, Pennsylvania. Her birth date was given as April 1851 in New York.

280. (Andrew Hamlin^{6}, Rollin^{5}, Jesse^{4}, Seth^{3}, John^{2}, John^{1})

Andrew Hamlin Viets, son of Rollin and Electa (Brown) Viets, was born July 10, 1845 in Ohio; married Emma Cadwell August 15, 1878 in Richmond, Ashtabula County, Ohio. She was born in 1856 and died in April 1834 in Coleman, Texas.

Obituary, Coleman County, Texas, 1914, newspaper unknown

Professor A. H. Viets, one of Coleman Co.'s old and most valuable citizens, passed away at his home near Silver Valley at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He had been in declining health for more than a year and although his death came as a shock to many of his friends, it was not at all unexpected by those nearest him. The burial took place in the City Cemetery in Coleman.

Professor Viets was born in Conneaut, Ohio, July 10, 1845 and came to Coleman in 1884. He probably taught the first public school ever taught in Coleman. He was a character builder, and had the happy faculty of drawing his pupils to him by bands of love and confidence. The last sixteen years of his teaching were spent in the Indian service in Ariz., Wash., N. Mex. and other states. He is survived by his wife and a daughter, Miss Grace Viets and two brothers older than he, one of whom lives in Wisconsin and the other in Pa. He was of a family of five boys.

An Appreciation by Winslow M. Mead

Andrew H. Viets, native of Ohio and one time resident of Ashtabula, Ohio, died at his ranch in Coleman Co. Apr. 25th in the seventieth year of his age.

While the announcement of Prof. Viets' death may not receive more than a passing notice from the casual reader now resident of northern Ohio, there are hundreds of men and women, not only in Ohio, but in other states to whom this announcement will be the cause of sincere grief and in whom it will awaken thoughts and recollections of younger days when as students, they sat under Prof. Viets' tutelage.

Prof. Viets, in the late "70"s and "80"s, was one of the best known and highly respected men in northern Ohio. Born in the town of Conneaut he found himself at an early age almost the chief support of a widowed mother and several brothers, some younger, some older than himself.

He had no natural school advantages and no educational advantages excepting such as he secured for himself by indomitable energy and by a sacrifice of everything but the actual necessaries of life. He was an honor man at the old Kingsville academy when that institution, now hardly more than a memory, was one of the brighter lights in the world of advancing education. Like so many struggling boys of his period, and anxious for an education and not having worldly facilities for acquiring it, he turned his attention to teaching and alternately was teacher and student.

He soon displayed remarkable ability as a tutor and after presiding over schools of the "Select" kind (a semi-private school) in Richmond, Andover and of the towns of the County, he was made principal of the High School in Jefferson. This was at a time when all of the States and cities were giving attention to advanced education and to increasing educational facilities. In spite of the fact that there was little to do with at Jefferson, almost at once the "Jefferson Educational Institution" as it came to be known, came into prominence because of the enthusiasm displayed, the discipline maintained and the encouragement offered to young men and young women who had been without educational advantages and who were inspired with a desire for real education.

After some years spent in Jefferson, Prof. Viets had charge of the schools in Bloomfield, Ohio. Because of the fear that he had a tendency to tubercular infection, he sought the milder climate of Texas. This was in 1884 and here, in Coleman, and at other rapidly-growing towns in Texas, he repeated the success in an educational way that had crowned his efforts in Ohio. Almost as soon as he located in Texas, while land was so cheap as to be regarded as almost valueless, he purchased a large ranch and there for the first time he began the construction of what he regarded as a "home." The idea of an outdoor life combined with agricultural pursuits appealed to him but he was not able to humor himself in this regard and in order to complete his ranch home as it has been planned, he was forced to again take up teaching. He entered the Indian service and in this service he remained in the States of Wash., Nev., Ariz. and N. Mex., until at the age of sixty years he gave up teaching and returned to his ranch home.

His abandonment of school work was absolutely due to a firm resolve which he made early in life, that as he had been successful at school work he owed it to himself and to his fellow-man to devote his best energies to this work until his energies should begin to wane and he arbitrarily fixed the period when one's "downhill climb" must begin - at sixty.

The last ten years were spent by Prof. Viets as a farmer, ranchman and as a model citizen, for while he made no pretensions to model citizenship, his principle of being true to one's-self and living up to that principle made him perforce almost the idol of his friends and fellow townsmen.

He may have believed in heredity, but, if so, he also believed that an inherited weakness could be overcome and mastered by an application of will-power, right thinking and correct living. To the young man whom he met it was not what has been your advantages for education, but what are you individually anxious to do; what sacrifice of luxuries are you willing to make. This, with him, was the whole thing in a nut shell. If a young man wanted and willed, he could and he would - and in hundreds of cases he did, for such colleges as Harvard, Yale, Cornell, Ann Arbor, Ohio State University, Oberlin and many other institutions carry on their alumni rolls the names of men, who but for Prof. Viets' inspiring influence would never have thought of a college career - would have neither thought it possible, or if possible, worth while.

These men Prof. Viets to the day of his death remembered by name, held frequent correspondence with many of them and referred to all of them as "my boys" and not one of these but that takes pride in being, or having been regarded, as one of Viets' boys. Prof. Viets knew boys as only few men know them. He knew boys as Mark Hopkins and Dr. McCosh knew college men. His love of boys, his enthusiasm to get a boy interested in himself, and the less promising the boy seemingly the greater his enthusiasm and interest, amounted almost to an obsession. A part of the secret of his success with boys was likely due to that fact that Prof. Viets did not have extravagant ideas as to the future possibilities. He was modest himself and moderate and he never overstated a case.

Prof. Viets, though a professing Christian, and all his life identified with the Methodist Church, was a living creed of the Unitarian faith for to him the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man constituted the all.

Prof. Viets was married in 1877 to Miss Emma Cadwell of Richmond, Ohio, a sister of the late Judge J. P. Cadwell of Jefferson. Besides his widow, a daughter, Miss Grace Viets, who was educated in Jefferson and Cleveland survives him.

It is not easy for one who knew Prof. Viets thoroughly and intimately for forty years to write of him because one does not like to be extravagant even in speaking or writing of a friend. He was not a great man as the world knows greatness but he was great in that he adopted a course involving high moral principles and held to that course. This course did not take him to mighty heights nor where the spotlight played but it held him to a test of the manly and homely virtues and gave him as a reward all he wished for - peace, happiness, contentment and a loving regard for his fellow men.

Prof. Viets, though proud of his Ohio birth, was equally proud of his adopted State. He was wont to say that he and Texas "came into the Union the same year, and it were well they should remain together to the end." It is fitting that his mortal remains have found a resting place under the Lone Star State's soil.

If a gifted writer could have known him for forty years as I have known him, and knowing had understood him, and understanding were to set down an appreciation of Viets the man, as he was, as he lived, recording the spirit of his attainments, such a writer would not be fulsome in his praise but the simple story he could tell would be a classic.

i. Jessie Grace, born January 12, 1880 in Bloomfield, Trumbull County, Ohio; died March 26, 1923 in Los Angeles, unmarried.

Obituary, Native American

Miss Grace Viets died in Los Angeles on Monday March 26, 1923 at the age of forty-two years. Miss Viets was for some years engaged as "Camp Matron" at our East Farm Sanitorium, during which time she was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. A. H. Viets. Prior to service with us Miss Viets had held various assignments, among them a prolonged stay with the Hopi as field matron at Chimopori Village. At the time of her reported death she was outing matron in Los Angeles.

Miss Viets was the daughter of the former Supt. A. H. Viets of Santa Fe and other schools from whom, and her splendid mother, she received the heritage and training, responsible, mainly for her fine womanhood. Hers was a life of unselfish and efficient service in the continued face of physical limitations that would have long since eliminated one of less strong character and determination.

Funeral services were conducted by the pastor of the Presbyterian Church, the services being attended by hundreds. Interment was made in Coleman cemetery.

Mrs. Viets died near Coleman, Texas, in April 1934.

281. (Edward Walton^{6}, Barzillia G.^{5}, Roswell^{4}, Seth^{3}, John^{2}, John^{1})

Edward Walton Viets, son of Barzillia Granger and Hannah (Bushnell) Viets, was born in Conneaut, Ohio, July 28, 1847. He was educated at the Cleveland Homeopathic Medical College. His life work has been the practice of medicine and surgery, for a time at Lock Haven, Pennsylvania, and later at Plymouth, Indiana, where he resided. He married February 15, 1870 at LaPorte, Indiana, Ella Munday, daughter of Reuben Munday, a descendant of Lord Elgin of England. Her mother was Eleanor Waeir of Scottish descent. Dr. Viets died August 25, 1901; his widow died June 27, 1908. Child:

488. i. Bessie Munday, born March 8, 1873.

282. (Byron Bushnell^{6}, Barzillia^{5}, Roswell^{4}, Seth^{3}, John^{2}, John^{1})

Byron Bushnell Viets, son of Barzillia Granger and Hannah (Bushnell) Viets, was born in Conneaut, Ohio, June 2, 1849. He studied at the Homeopathic College in Cleveland, and was professor of ophthalmology and otology in the Cleveland Medical College, oculist to the Huron St. Hospital, and lecturer in the training school for nurses.

Dr. Viets married Catherine Adelaide Matson, born in Ottawa, Illinois, January 20, 1848, daughter of Norman and Charlotte (Viets) Matson. [See No. 134.] They lived in the beautiful home of his parents at 1448 Lake Road which later served as Conneaut's first country club. The family lived in Cleveland and summered in Conneaut. During one summer, Dr. Byron performed a cataract operation on H. R. Benson, the next door neighbor, on Mr. Benson's kitchen table! Dr. Viets was renowned in this field and ahead of his time in this procedure, it is said. [History of Ashtabula County, Ohio, - Then and Now.] Both Dr. Viets and wife died in Los Angeles, California, he on October 30, 1931 and Mrs. Viets on December 18, 1926. [Data from Louise Passmore-Legeza, now residing in the home on Lake Road.] Children:

491. ii. Ida Viola, born March 30, 1856.
492. iii. Seymour Leonard, born June 8, 1858.

292. (Catharine^{6}, Byron^{5}, Abner^{4}, Abner^{3}, John^{2}, John^{1})

Catharine Viets, daughter of Byron and Milla (Kingsley) Viets, was born in Fowler, Ohio, July 5, 1831 and died in West Salem, Wisconsin, September 29, 1876. She was married in 1852 in LaCrosse, Wisconsin, by the the Reverend William Card to Almanzo Eldred, born in Otsego County, New York, January 26, 1818. He was one of the first settlers of Wisconsin, the first sheriff of LaCrosse County, a hunter, and Indian scout, and was made a medicine man by the Winnebago Indians. He died May 10, 1904. Children:

i. William Eldred, born August 3, 1854 in LaCrosse, Wisconsin; married there on May 2, 1875 Nellie Tiffany, born in County Lathraus [?], Ireland, February 2, 1859. She died October 13, 1918; Mr. Eldred died May 3, 1935. Three children (Eldred).
ii. Milla Eldred, born in Neshonac, Wisconsin, February 15, 1857; married in Sparta, Wisconsin, on September 30, 1874 Irbenri D. Howe, born in East Cobleskill, New York, August 31, 1849, son of Benjamin S. and Olive (Rulandt) Howe. He died in San Jose, California, April 12, 1900; Mrs. Howe died in May, Idaho, January 7, 1941. Her daughter, Mrs. Hesner, wrote of her mother, "She made friends wherever she was, as she had a very lovable disposition." Seven children (Howe).
iii. Milton Eldred, born in West Salem, Wisconsin, January 14, 1860; married May 9, 1893 Jessie May Fairchild, born in Lee County, Illinois, January 4, 1872, daughter of Charles and Samantha (Mikesell) Fairchild. Mr. Eldred died January 21, 1935 in San Diego, California. One daughter (Eldred).

293. (Apollos Kingsley[6], Byron[5], Abner[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Apollos Kingsley Viets, son of Byron and Milla (Kingsley) Viets, was born in Fowler, Ohio, October 30, 1833 and died in West Salem, Wisconsin, December 10, 1888. He married in Warren, Ohio, July 31, 1859 Aurelia Leete.

Apollos Kingsley Viets, at the age of about eighteen, was attacked by the California gold fever and, in company with a large caravan, made the perilous overland journey from Omaha, Nebraska, by ox-team, the trip taking from six to nine months. They were often attacked by the Indians, losing a considerable number of their small company. At night they formed their wagons in a circle with the oxen in the center and guards outside. Many are the tales of adventure and hardships told of this terrible trip, of hand to hand conflicts with the Indians, the war whoop waking them in the dead of night, of days and weeks with little water or food, of the immense herds of buffalo, etc.

After six or seven years in California, Mr. Viets returned to the LaCrosse valley, and in 1858 went to Ohio, where he married, soon afterwards removing to West Salem, where he engaged in the mercantile business very successfully. He was also postmaster at the time. In 1863 gold was discovered in the Black Hills of Dakota and Mr. Viets made another overland trip. After a year's absence he returned to take charge of his business enterprises at home, where he was a grain dealer and stock buyer, and owned a hardware store and a general store. About 1875 he disposed of his various business interests and opened a drug store, which he ran successfully until the time of his death.

He was considered a good financier, and one whose judgment was sought on important matters. At his death he owned a handsome residence in West Salem, several business blocks, and a fine drug store. He was a charter member of the Masonic Lodge in West Salem. He held important town offices and trusts of various nature.

Obituary, July 15, 1937, newspaper unknown

Mrs. Aurelia Leete Viets, 97, whose genealogy dates back without a break to 1209 in the reign of King John, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jessie Leissring, early Thursday evening. One of the oldest residents living in LaCrosse, Mrs. Viets was born on September 24, 1839 in Brookfield, Ohio, daughter of Dr. George Leete and Jane Chew. Dr. Leete was fifth in descent from Gov. William Leete of Guilford, Connecticut. Gov. Leete, born in 1612 at Huntingtonshire, England was governor of the New Haven and Connecticut colonies from 1677 to 1783 [sic]. Mrs. Viets lived in West Salem ten years after the death of her husband on December 10, 1888 before joining her daughter in LaCrosse.

At West Salem Mrs. Viets was a member of the Congregational Church and the Eastern Star Masonic Lodge. Surviving are two daughters, two sons, eight grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

The Rev. G. Paul Stowell, pastor of the Congregational Church of LaCrosse will conduct the services Saturday at 4 p.m. Interment will be made in the West Salem cemetery.

Cassius Marcellus Viets, son of Byron and Milla (Kingsley) Viets, was born in Waupun, Wisconsin, September 19, 1845 on the first visit of his parents to the state. During the early sixties he was on the frontier in Montana, mining and fighting the Indians. He went to Kansas with his brother Leander in 1870 and shortly after to Colorado where he engaged in stock raising and mining. He was a story teller of frontier life and Indian warfare, and a reader of science. He did considerable excavating in the cliff-dwellings of southwestern Colorado. He worked one year for the museum of Harvard University, and one of his collections went to the World's Fair in Chicago.

In 1903 he made a trip overland by wagon from Rifle, Colorado, to Missoula, Montana, in search of better opportunities. The original destination was the wheat country of Alberta, but after wintering in Montana he returned the following summer to Rifle. He was accompanied on this trip by his wife, daughter Edna, and sons Stanley and Floyd. He spent his remaining years on a small ranch near Rifle and retained an active interest in current affairs until his death on February 11, 1921.

Mr. Viets married on March 15, 1874 Elwelda Olsen in Weston, Las Animas County, Colorado. She was born in Winnebago, Oshkosh County, Wisconsin, September 18, 1852, daughter of Oliver Olsen from Norway and Lois (Buskirk) Olsen. John Oscar Viets, son of Hobart Benoni and Amelia (Higgins) Viets, was born January 21, 1863 in Barlow, Kentucky; married August 4, 1883 Sarah Elizabeth Cox, born September 13, 1866 in Harmony, Indiana, daughter of John Harrison and Melvina (Shirley) Cox. She died April 9, 1933 and is buried in Mt.

Pleasant Cemetery in New Harmony. Mr. Viets died at age ninety-four, May 8, 1957 and is buried beside his wife.

From newspaper clipping, no name, no date [1956?], Poseyville, Indiana:

> One of North Posey County's best-known senior residents is looking forward with great interest to the approaching election when he will cast his vote for Dwight D. Eisenhower for President of the United States.
> The 1956 election will round out 72 years of balloting for John O. Viets of Route 2, Poseyville, who will observe his 94th birthday Jan. 21. Viets is particularly proud of that record and doesn't hesitate to say all of his votes were in the GOP column. "I never did scratch my ticket," he says, "but there have been times I didn't vote in township elections because a Democratic friend was running for trustee."
>
> He lost his first vote in 1884 when Grover Cleveland defeated James G. Blaine to become the first Democratic President since the Civil War.
>
> In good health and moderately active, Viets still resides in his farm home west of Stewartsville with his son Ishmael. His wife, Sarah Cox Viets, a member of a pioneer Robb Township family, died in 1933. He has two other sons, Hobart of Poseyville, a retired teacher, and Percy of Evansville.
>
> Viets scoffs at physical checkups, medicine, and "miracle drugs." His only medicine, he says, was hard work and plenty of it. He takes life in stride and doesn't believe "worry ever helped anything." He attributes his longevity to outdoor work and insists a man isn't old until he stops looking at pretty girls. . . .

Mr. Viets suffered a fall when returning from the election polls, breaking a hip which resulted in his death. Children:

541. i. Hobart, born March 28, 1885.
ii. May, born April 18, 1887; died April 28, 1887.
542. iii. Ishmael, born January 17, 1890.

315. (Samuel Willis^{6}, Seymour S.^{5}, Samuel^{4}, Abner^{3}, John^{2}, John^{1})

Samuel Willis Viets, son of Seymour Samuel and Maria (Olds) Viets, was born in Windsor. From Granby vital records: "Samuel Willis Viets, age twenty-four, of Windsor and Caroline Terry of Granby, aged 19, married June 27, 1849." Caroline Terry, born November 1831 in Connecticut, was a daughter of Stephen and Caroline (Case) Terry.

Mr. Viets learned the trade of cabinet-maker in the Windsor chair works, but followed the business of moving buildings with his brother-in-law, Edward Merriman. Later he carried on this business on his own account in Jersey City, New Jersey, New York City, and on Long Island. He moved in 1856 to Forester, Michigan, where he was superintendant of an important building and mechanical firm, erecting numerous mills and other buildings, being the architect as well as the builder. He held the office of clerk and treasurer of Forester Township for eighteen years and was director of the public schools for twenty years. He received little schooling himself, having never attended school after he was fourteen years old, but was an extraordinary mathematician and a great reader.

In politics he was a life-long Democrat. His religious connection was with the Methodist church. He was a man of high moral character, his word was as good as his bond, and he used no profane language. He was disabled during the later years of his life by a stroke of paralysis and died March 8, 1899 leaving a widow and seven children. His widow died January 12, 1918. Children:

From the Hartford Courant, February 1940

> P. Frederick Viets began working for the Courant in February 1910. At that time the paper had no Sunday edition, its daily circulation was not far above 12,000, it had only sixteen carriers, and its circulation department, of which he was the newest member, had a personnel of three.
>
> He was put to work "ringing doorbells" in the hunt for additional subscribers. In the 30 years of his able and devoted service to the paper, Mr. Viets has seen its daily circulation increase nearly fourfold, and has watched with pride the sturdy growth of its Sunday edition. . . . In 1910 there was but one edition of the Courant printed; now there are four. . . .
>
> Today the circulation department, of which Mr. Viets has been manager since 1921, controls 500 carriers who deliver the Courant daily, and approximately 600 who deliver the Sunday issue. Its salaried office personnel has, in the 30 years of Mr. Viets' experience, grown from three to forty-four. . . .
>

office which he occupies in the Courant's new enlarged and efficiently centralized circulation department.

The early death of Mr. Viets' father made it necessary for him to go to work at the age of 14 years. He was in his early twenties when he obtained his first job with the Courant and that job required him for the five years following to solicit subscriptions throughout the territory of Greater Hartford and as far away as Winsted and Willimantic. At first, as he expressed it, "My own shoe leather carried me around most of the time. Finally, however, the paper bought me a bicycle with which to cover city dealers and check on carrier deliveries. . . . "

Mr. Viets, whose first important job in the department was that of supervising city carriers, who moved up from that position to the city circulation managership, and finally to being manager of the entire circulation department in 1921, effectively sums up the efficiency of his staff by saying "Thirty years ago the Courant was the best distributed paper in Connecticut, and it still is!"

Mr. Viets retired on April 1, 1947. Child:

567. i. Russell Mahl, born August 29, 1914.

338. (Francis Hubbard[6], Benjamin E.[5], Dan[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Francis Hubbard Viets, son of Benjamin Erskine and Anna (Hubbard) Viets, was born in Granby September 16, 1854. When he was fourteen years of age his family moved to the eastern part of the town. He attended with the family, during his early years, the Baptist Church in Tariffville, three miles distant, occasionally going to the Episcopal Church of his Grandfather Viets. He taught at his old home school in East Granby during the winter of 1872-3 taking great delight in his work and in the progress of his pupils.

Entering the Connecticut Literary Institution in Suffield he took the first prize for excellence in declamation in 1874 and the first prize for excellence in debate in 1875. He was graduated in June 1875 at the head of a class of eleven and delivered the valedictory address. He entered Brown University the following September and was graduated in 1879 with the degree of A.B. He then pursed the theological course at Yale University and was graduated in 1882 with the degree of B.D. Upon his graduation he accepted a call to the Congregational Church in Riverton and was ordained there the following October. At the anniversary of the Connecticut Literary Institution in 1883 he delivered the alumni poem.

After a ministry of five years in Riverton he accepted a call in May 1887 to the two Congregational churches of East and North Woodstock where he remained in charge of the two parishes for nearly twelve years, receiving into the churches during this period one hundred new members. During his last seven years there he was an active member of the school board of Woodstock. Concluding his services for the Woodstock churches March 1, 1899 he accepted a cordial invitation the following September to minister to the Congregational Church of Buckingham and while there began the work of preparing a genealogy of the Viets' family. He later resided in Waltham, Massachusetts, where he and his family made their home. He died there June 8, 1934.

Francis H. Viets married on May 23, 1883 Mary Elizabeth Smith who was born in Providence, Rhode Island, December 12, 1857, daughter of Amos D. and Maria (Waterman) Smith. Mary Elizabeth Smith was graduated from the Providence High School in 1876 and from the Rhode Island State Normal School in 1879 after which she taught four years in one of the grammar schools of Providence with gratifying success. Mrs. Viets died May 24, 1938 in Waltham. Children, born in East Woodstock:

i. Marion Amelia, born November 21, 1887. Taught in the Waltham school. Unmarried.

570. ii. Ruby Elizabeth, born March 5, 1889.

571. iii. Paul Winthrop, born April 18, 1894.

Note: Francis Hubbard Viets was the compiler of the 1902 Viets Genealogy and much of the material in this book up to 1902 comes from that earlier Viets family history. Additions to it were made both by H. Isabel Viets and Dorothy Viets Schell. Some data came from his records in the Springfield, Massachusetts, library.

339. (Edward Bradford[6], Benjamin E.[5], Dan[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Edward Bradford Viets, son of Benjamin Erskine and Anna (Hubbard) Viets, was born in Granby January 27, 1857. He was educated in the public schools and at the Connecticut Literary Institution in Suffield, but more completely in business and in the school of life where he was an apt learner. He went, at the age of twenty-one, to Hartford where he was in business for several years. After 1889 he was a conductor on the street cars in Chicago, and later was in business in the same city.

He married in Joliet, Illinois, August 17, 1886 Lillie Melissa Boardman Maxwell, daughter of George H. and Melissa (Matteson) Maxwell. Mr. Viets died in Chicago January 25, 1912. Mrs. Viets died in Wheaton, Illinois, June 10, 1932. No children.

340. (Scott Benjamin[6], Benjamin E.[5], Dan[4], Abner[3], John[2], John[1])

Scott Benjamin Viets, son of Benjamin Erskine and Anna (Hubbard) Viets, was born in East Granby May 4, 1859. He attended a few terms at the Connecticut Literary Institution, was in the employ of a manufacturing firm in Waterbury for a time, and afterwards resided at the old homestead in East Granby where he conducted the farm. He and his family later resided in West Hartford for a number of years. He married in 1882 Chloe Marietta Viets [see No. 579], daughter of William Ansel and Sarah F. (Alderman) Viets, born in 1860. She died in July 1936 in West Hartford; Mr. Viets died in October 1943. Both are buried in Elmwood Cemetery, East Granby.

From Encyclopedia of Connecticut Biography, 1919-1923

> The Viets farm lies on either side of East Granby street, and is crossed by the tracks of the Central New England Railroad. It extends to the top of the hill, but has fully twenty-five acres of good tobacco land. In the twenty-five acres on the ridge there is one of the best trap rock quarries in the State. It is one of the most picturesque locations in the State and from the ridge can be seen the spires of Hartford, the city of Rockville, and the Heublein Tower on Talcott mountain.
> This is the farm to which Benjamin E. Viets came in 1869 and which then comprised one hundred acres. He repaired and remodeled the buildings which are now among the best in town. Scott Benjamin Viets has since added considerable acreage to the farm, including the Richard Phelps farm, which adjoined it on the south. The buildings include two houses and a tobacco shed 125 feet long, besides the usual farm outbuildings. This is the farm which the State of Connecticut bought in January, 1918 for the site of the proposed State prison. It is generally conceded to be a wise acquisition, as it is a most desirable piece of property and well suited to the purpose. Mr. Viets has grown five or six acres of tobacco annually, and until two year ago ran quite a large dairy. He has always kept several acres in corn. He is a Republican and served for four years as town treasurer, although he never aspired to political honors.

Children, born in East Granby:

i. Ethel May, born June 26, 1883. Unmarried. Died 1968. Buried in Elmwood Cemetery, East Granby.
ii. Bernice Lucia, born December 14, 1885. Unmarried. Died August 5, 1967. Buried in Elmwood Cemetery, East Granby. She was a stenographer at the Phoenix Insurance Company. [Obituary.]

John Berthrong Viets, son of James Rollin and Cordelia (Rouse) Viets, was born in East Granby June 27, 1853. He received a good business training under his father and at Hartford Business College, spent several years in Boston, and was afterward connected with a large importing house in New York City. He married in Chicago August 1, 1893 Mrs. Katharine Burton (Pease) Tourtellote, born in Norwalk, Ohio, October 24, 1859, daughter of David Harlow and Sarah (Burton) Pease. David Pease was a son of Erastus (of Somers) and Clarissa (Hume) (of Windsor) Pease, and a grandson of Stephen Pease of Somers, who was engaged in the Battle of Stillwater at the taking of Burgoyne. Mr. Viets died June 19, 1908; his wife died March 27, 1928 and both are buried in the Pease family lot in Norwalk, Ohio. No children.

359. (Helen Mary[6], James R.[5], John[4], Luke[3], John[2], John[1])

Helen Mary Viets, daughter of James Rollin and Cordelia T. (Rouse) Viets, was born in East Granby August 17, 1854. She was educated in the local schools and in Miss Catharine Beecher's Seminary in Hartford, from which she was graduated in 1873. On December 17 of that year she was married to the Reverend Frank Barrows Makepeace, son of Lysander O. and Esther (Dunham) Makepeace of Attleboro, Massachusetts. He is descended from the earliest English settlers in New England, at least three of his grandparents having had ancestors who had settled in Massachusetts before 1640.

The Reverend Makepeace held pastorates in Gloucester, Andover, and Springfield in Massachusetts, and at Champlain, New York, and Trinity Congregational Church in New York City. During his ten-year pastorate for the North Church, Springfield, nearly three hundred members were added to the congregation. He was a corporate member of the American Board, and was entrusted with many important offices. The Reverend Makepeace spent his later years in Granby. Mrs. Makepeace died in Waterbury. Children:

i. Walter Dunham Makepeace, born April 27, 1875 in Gloucester, Massachusetts. He married on June 19, 1906 Ethel M. Sperry, born in Waterbury December 25, 1878, daughter of Mark L. and Julia (Porter) Sperry. Mr. Makepeace died in Waterbury, August 27, 1942. His widow died there on July 16, 1945. Five children (Makepeace).

   Walter Makepeace attended the Springfield, Massachusetts, High School, was graduated from Williston Academy in 1892; he attended Phillips Andover; B.A. Yale University in 1897 and a Master of Philosophy at Yale in 1898. In 1900 he was graduated from the Yale School of Law. That year he was admitted to the New York Bar and practice law with his brother Frank in New York City until 1907 when he settled in Waterbury.

   While at Yale Mr. Makepeace took several prizes, received the Foote Fellowship for post graduate work, and spent a year in the study of psychology and philosophy. During his student law career he was editor of the Yale Law Journal. At graduation he won the Townsend Prize for excellence in composition and delivery. He served in the U.S. Navy in the war against Spain. He served as Waterbury's coroner, chairman of the G.O.P. town committee in 1916, Liberty loan campaign manager, chairman of the Waterbury War Bureau, and was in the Ordnance Department in Washington, D.C., holding rank as captain.

In 1918 he was promoted to Major Judge Advocate in the army and after the war became judge of the district court of Waterbury until 1926. He was for many years Lieutenant Colonel Judge Advocate in the U.S. Army Reserve Corps and was the fuel administrator for Waterbury in the great coal strike. He served as president of the Naugatuck Valley Yale Alumni Association, and of the Associated Yale Clubs of New England, member of the Yale Alumni Advisory Board, and secretary of the American branch of the International Migration Society.

In 1940 he wrote to H. Isabel Viets, "Since 1930 I have not been active in public affairs but have lived quietly at home." However in the spring of 1942 he was appointed by Governor Hurley as a member of the state rationing board.

ii. Helen Eva Makepeace, born July 17, 1876 in Gloucester, was educated in the public schools of Andover and Springfield, Massachusetts, and Smith College from which she was graduated with a B.A. degree in 1899. In college she was a member of the Philosophical and Biological Societies, assisted in the laboratory, and afterwards took post graduate work at the Woods Hole Biological Laboratories in 1899 and 1900. She was prominent in college athletics, and entered largely into the life of the institution. She taught in Mrs. Mead's School in Norwalk. She married June 2, 1906 Ralph S. Lillie, born August 8, 1875 in Toronto, Canada, son of George Waddell and Emily (Rattray) Lillie. Mr. Lillie was a professor at the University of Chicago. Two children (Lillie).

iii. Frank Barrow Makepeace Jr., born July 17, 1878 in Champlain, New York, was educated in the public schools of Springfield, Massachusetts, and graduated from Yale University in 1901. He won prizes in English literature and athletics and was a member of the University choir and glee club. Mr. Makepeace was a lawyer in New York City. He married October 24, 1908 Lucetta Plum Banks, born January 20, 1874 in New York City, daughter of David and Lucetta Plum (Graham) Banks. Mr. Makepeace died in the summer of 1942 in Texas. Four children (Makepeace).

360. (Henry Rouse[6], James R.[5], John[4], Luke[3], John[2], John[1])

Henry Rouse Viets, son of James Rollin and Cordelia T. (Rouse) Viets, was born in East Granby February 17, 1856. He was educated in the public and select schools of East Granby and the Hartford High School; he was in business in Boston for many years. He married June 29, 1882 in Monson, Massachusetts, Annie Rebecca Tufts, born in Lynn, Massachusetts, January 6, 1860, daughter of Colonel Gardiner and Margaret A. (Harris) Tufts. Margaret Harris was born in Ipswich, Massachusetts, December 10, 1828. Mrs. Viets was a descendant of Governor John Endicott and Governor Thomas Dudley of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Colonel Tufts was a native of Lynn and "was during the Rebellion specially distinguished for conspicuous and consistent loyalty." He was appointed by Governor Andrew as military agent of Massachusetts at Washington from July 1862 to July 1870, the first appointment of the kind by any governor. Colonel Tufts held office under eleven governors of Massachusetts, was visiting agent of the state board of charities, and was superintendent of the state primary school at Monson and the Massachusetts Reformatory in Concord. A marble bust in the senate chamber of the state house in Boston commemorates his memory.

Mr. Viets died August 4, 1935 in Hingham, Massachusetts. The widow resided in Hingham with her son and daughter and died at the age of ninety-eight in Norwell, Massachusetts, in 1958. [Massachusetts VR, FHF#0954762.] Children, born in Lynn, Massachusetts:

He was educated in the public schools of his native town and in Hartford high school. He was for several years engaged in mercantile pursuits in New Britain. In 1885 he became connected with the General Electric Company of Lynn, Massachusetts, and held a responsible position with that company.

He married April 6, 1886 Emily Tracy Couch, born January 21 1862 in Middlefield, daughter of J. O. Couch. She was a direct descendant of Captain John Couch who in 1774 was appointed Captain by the General Assembly of the colony of Connecticut for its defense, and in 1776 was captain under George Washington, and was sent with his company to aid in the defense of Fort Washington. She died August 29, 1908 in Brookline, Massachusetts, and was buried in Middlefield, Massachusetts. No children.

Obituary, Mrs. Emily Couch Viets, newspaper unknown

> By the passing of Mrs. Viets many persons have lost the presence of a friend who, by the choice qualities of her mind and generous impulses of her life, had greatly endeared herself to them. She was educated in the public schools of Middlefield, Conn. (where she was born January 21, 1862) and in Bradford academy. Her home was a center of cheer and encouragement for every good purpose and effort, and for all whose trials were known to her. She was buried in Middlefield, Conn.

Mr. Viets married for his second wife on November 7, 1905 Mrs. Caroline MacIntyre Parsons, born in Bridgeport September 3, 1862. She died October 6, 1933 in Lynn, Massachusetts. Alfred Watson Viets, son of George Watson and Delia (King) Viets, was born in East Granby September 30, 1850. He married October 26, 1885 Lillie Gardner, born November 3, 1857 in Skaneateles, New York, daughter of Sylvester and Malinda Gardner. She was a very capable woman, a former teacher, and one who looked well to the ways of her household. Mrs. Viets died in Thomaston September 17, 1934.

Obituary, Alfred Watson Viets, newspaper unknown

At the age of eighteen Alfred Viets went to Nebraska, then onto the steamboats on the Missouri River, where he spent ten years, working between Sioux City, Iowa, and Fort Buford, Montana. This was before the railroads had come into the West. In 1879 with his brother Wilbur, he moved by ox team from Nebraska to Dakota Territory and took up a homestead on section 9 of Fairmount Township, where he lived to see a new country developed. The nearest post office at that time was Breckenridge, Minnesota, and the nearest flour mill was at Fergus Falls.

Having a longing for the hills and valleys of his native land, he sold his homestead in 1912 and located near Walden in Montgomery Township, Orange County, New York, where he had a beautiful farm in the valley of the Walkill river where he resided until his death which occurred February 7, 1917, from a prolonged illness from hardening of the arteries. He was a kind, considerate husband and father and commanded respect wherever known.

He was a charter member of Fairmount Lodge No. 39, I.O.O.F., having helped organize that lodge, also a member of the Yeoman Lodge of Des Moines, Iowa.

Children, born in Fairmount, North Dakota:

Seth Allen Viets, son of Allen and Lorinda (Smith) Viets, was born at Copper Hill, East Granby, April 17, 1842. He attended schools in Windsor and Hartford when a boy as well as the school in his own district. Later he attended Wilbraham Academy and Fort Edward Institute. After spending some time at farming in Granville, Massachusetts, and in Windsor he went to West Suffield in 1868. There he commenced driving the stage and carrying the mail and passengers between there and Springfield, Massachusetts, a distance of about fifteen miles. He continued this until the winter of 1882. He also conducted a general store during a part of this period, disposing of this business in 1886. He took up the growing of tobacco which he followed up to the time of his death. In 1902 he was appointed agent for the Bowker Fertilizer Company which he successfully carried on until 1921.

On November 15, 1870 he married in the West Suffield Methodist Church, Mary Jane Rowley, born in West Suffield March 27, 1848, daughter of Gad and Caroline (Case) Rowley. Mr. Viets died in his home December 25, 1923 after a few hours' illness. Mrs. Viets died June 28, 1916 in her home.

Obituary, newspaper unknown

Mrs. Viets was an active member and worker in the Methodist church as long as her health permitted and was one of its oldest members. She was church treasurer for several years before her death. She was a person of genial disposition, and will be missed by a wide circle of friends. The funeral was held in the Methodist church June 30th.

iii. Wheeler J. Jr., born August 1894 in Connecticut.

426. (Ann E.[7], Elam[6], Salmon[5], Hezekiah P.[4], John[3], John[2], John[1])

Ann E. Viets, daughter of Elam and Jane Adeline Viets, was born about 1843 probably in New Fairfield. She married Selah Bevans, born about 1846 in Connecticut. [Danbury, Fairfield County, Connecticut, census, 1850-1880.] Child:

i. Elizabeth Bevans, born about 1873 probably in Danbury.

427. (Henry B.[7], Elam[6], Salmon[5], Hezekiah P.[4], John[3], John[2], John[1])

Henry B. Viets, son of Elam Viets, was born August 27, 1843 in New Fairfield, Connecticut. He served in the Civil War in Company B, 23rd Regiment Infantry, then re-enlisted in the 1st Regiment, CV, Heavy Artillery. He married first, June 1868 in Danbury, Alice Alida Crosier, born November 22, 1851 (calculated from age at date of death) in Middlefield, Massachusetts, daughter of Lewis A. and Mary A. (Snow) Crosier. They separated and she apparently moved to Dalton, Massachusetts, with the children. [1900 census, Berkshire County, Massachusetts.] She died in Dalton March 17, 1929 [VR, Dalton]. Henry B. married second, a widow, Julia F. Ganon on June 7, 1916 at Brewster, New York. She had previously been married to George E. Bircham on October 25, 1896 and to John Ganon on November 29, 1907. Henry B. died October 14, 1923 in Danbury.

Note: There seems to be a discrepancy in the ages of their children. Henry B. listed four living children on his application for a pension in 1898--these appear as numbers i, iii, v, and vi. However, the dates of birth given for these do not fit with other data. It may be that George L. and Henry L. are one and the same person. Children, by first marriage:

650. i. Ida M., born April 1870. [VR, Dalton marriages.]
ii. Darius A., born June 1873?
651. iii. William D., born October 1873. [VR, Dalton, death certificate.]
652. iv. George Lewis, born January 3, 1875. [VR, Dalton.]
v. Mary A., born March 1875?
vi. Henry L., born June 1877.

Obituary, Montreal Gazette, April 22, 1949

First Blinded Veteran Dies at Toronto Home

Alexander G. Viets, a founder of the Canadian Institute for the Blind and the first Canadian soldier to be blinded in the First World War, died at his home here.

Mr. Viets was a signatory to the charter granted the institute and a vice-president of the organization. He was for many years employed by the Imperial Life Insurance Company.

Born at Digby, N.S., he lived for some time in Calgary. He served in the South African War and enlisted in 1914 with the Princess Patricia Light Infantry. He was wounded at Ypres in 1915.

467. (Robert Botsford[7], John M.[6], Botsford[5], Roger M.[4], Roger[3], John[2], John[1])

Robert Botsford Viets, son of John Moore and Jane Snow (Roberts) Viets, was born in Digby, Nova Scotia, January 29, 1880. He married in Ottawa, Canada, September 25, 1920 Helena Campbell Hughson, born in Albany, New York, May 21, 1886, daughter of Ward Campbell and Aurelia (McBean) Hughson (V.E.L. of Glengarry, Ontario). Mr. Viets died July 15, 1952 in Ottawa; Mrs. Viets died there June 5, 1980.

Robert Viets wrote to H. Isabel Viets:

> I was born in Digby, educated at the local school, at King's Collegiate School, Windsor, Nova Scotia, and took a law course (not the full course) at Dalhousie University, Halifax, being admitted to the Nova Scotia Bar in 1901. A couple of years later I came to Ottawa and served as private secretary to two Ministers of Finance, enlisting in May 1916 in the 207th Bn., C.E.F., going overseas as Captain in that unit in 1917. The 207th was immediately broken up, as were most of the reinforcing units at that time, and after a period in England I went to France and joined the 38th Bn., C.E.F. as Lieutenant. At that time all Captains had to revert if they wanted to get to France.
>
> I did ordinary trench service, then was in the Paschaendale show (a rotten sort of business), invalided to England in November, returned in February 1918 and after a lot of messing around in the trenches and behind the line got into the Amiens Show and was wounded August 10, 1918, invalided to England and in October my Minister sent for me so I came back here [Ottawa], got married in 1920 and as Winston Churchill says, "lived happily ever after." I had a breakdown in 1935 and retired from the Civil Service. I blame the final blow on a business trip to Washington in August when it was 100 or so in the shade--but I guess it was coming to me anyhow. At the time I was Solicitor to the Treasury in the Department of Finance of Canada.

Children, born in Ottawa, Canada:

688. i. John Campbell "Peter," born September 11, 1921.
689. ii. Roger Digby, born November 27, 1923.

Returns From Far East

Capt. Warren Viets, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Viets returned to his home last Thursday after receiving his honorable discharge from the army at Fort Devens, Mass. He entered the army on April 6, 1942, and had been on overseas duty in India and China the past year.

The return trip from Shanghai to Seattle, Wash., was made on the Anti-Aircraft Carrier USS Anzio, and took twenty days for the entire trip. He has been awarded the Good Conduct Medal, American Campaign Ribbon, Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon, the Central Burma Ribbon, two battle stars, one for the battle of Burma and one for the battle of China.

He was also awarded the Award of Merit, the citation reading in part as follows: "Corp. Warren Viets has successfully participated in one of the largest convoys ever to traverse the tedious, treacherous and torturous Stillwell and Burma Roads, as a member of the 382nd Air Service Group, conquering K and C-rations, roads, wind and dust storms, landslides and °impassable' roads in the worst part of the year."

His brother, Private Robert Viets, whom he had not seen for thirty-eight months returned last Monday to Fort Dix, N.J., after spending an 84-day furlough at the home of his parents. He was honorably discharged at Boise, Idaho in October 1945, and has re-enlisted for three years. Included in the gifts that Warren brought home to his mother was a set of hand-carved ivory pepper and salt shakers from India.

Obituary, January 21, 1948, the Hartford Courant?

Miss Ruby Elizabeth Viets, 58, of 122 Dale street, Waltham, prominent in the teaching profession and in the First Congregational Church, died yesterday afternoon following an illness of several months. At the time she was taken ill she was an instructor of English at Waltham High School. She had taught in the English International College in Barcelona, Spain, and in other schools.

She was born in Woodstock, Conn., a daughter of the late Rev. Francis Hubbard Viets and the late Elizabeth (Smith) Viets, and she was a direct descendant of Roger Williams. Her education was in Providence, R.I., schools, continued in Concord, where she was graduated from its high school, and later from the Fitchburg Normal School, now the State Teachers' College. She received her A.B. degree from Radcliffe College and studied at the Breadloaf School of English at Middlebury College, Vermont.

Before going to Barcelona, Spain, Miss Viets taught in the Newton public schools for nine years, and in Spain for three years, returning to this country, she became head of the English Department of the Waltham School for Girls, now the Chapel Hill School. She resigned to join the Waltham High School faculty in 1938.

Miss Viets was a member of the College Club of Boston, the College Club of Waltham, the Appalachian Mountain Club, the Boston Branch of the Foreign Policy Association, and the New England Association of Teachers of English, and a member of the First Congregational Church of Waltham and its Women's Association.

Her father was a retired Congregational minister. He died in 1934 and her mother in 1938. They came to make their home in Waltham in 1915. Surviving are a sister, Miss Marion Viets, a teacher in the Somerville public schools, and two nieces, Mrs. Edwin Ginn of Boston, and Miss Barbara Viets, of New York City. Their only brother died in 1937.

Funeral services will be held in the Wentworth Chapel, 30 Prospect street, Waltham, Saturday, Jan. 24, at 2 P.M., when the Rev. Harold G. Leland, pastor of the First Congregational Church, will officiate.

Cremation will follow in the Newton Cemetery Crematory and burial of the ashes will [be] in Cranston, Rhode Island.

From Burpee, History of Hartford County, Connecticut, 1633-1928

What can be achieved on a Connecticut farm, so often abandoned, was heralded throughout the state this year of 1928 when Charles Palmer Viets of the town [East Granby] was one of only three to win a certificate like an honorary degree from the Connecticut Agricultural College, in recognition of service in the advancement of agriculture and rural life. Mr. Viets, a farmer's lad from his birth in 1863, got his schooling in the local schools and at Dr. Beach's in Windsor Locks. At the age of nineteen he started a milk route. In 1888 he married and bought a farm, where he has raised stock and poultry with tobacco as a cash crop. When his son became a partner with him, he made traffic in cattle a side line, helped promote the tuberculin test and was an official and director in organizations formed in the interests of agriculture.

603. (Harriet Isabella[7], Seth A.[6], Allen[5], George[4], Luke[3], John[2], John[1])

Harriet Isabella Viets, daughter of Seth Allen and Mary Jane (Rowley) Viets, was born May 26, 1874 in Suffield and died September 18, 1953 in a nursing home in Glastonbury. She did not live to see her manuscript on the Viets family published. In the material she left was a tiny spiral notebook in which she had set down a few thoughts, hand written in pencil as a preface to her book. This was surely a rough draft as her manuscript was all carefully hand-printed in ink, with any errors in printing carefully corrected.

In this preface she wrote:

> After a visit to Newgate Prison and home of Capt. John Viets in 1935 the compiler [herself] became more deeply interested in the Viets family. After a few months I felt that the Genealogy that had been published in 1902 should be written up to date as there was much to be added in 36 years. Consequently the following year the work of doing this was begun.

Certainly had it been known what a task lay ahead the compiler would never have attempted it. It has been a long laborious task, although it has afforded much pleasure in the acquaintances and friends gained by doing it.

The writer in nearly every case has tried to get the records from living members direct, but as in all families there are some who are not interested so consequently they had to be omitted. . . .

From a letter to DVS, January 5, 1989 from Charles Kingsbury, grandnephew of H. Isabel Viets:

. . . Harriet Isabella Viets was her correct name; however, she always went by H. Isabel Viets or Isabel (Miss Viets to many) and to our family was always "Aunt Isabel." She was your typical maiden lady (old maid). If she were here today I'm sure she would scoff at "Ms." and prefer to be called "Miss."

Slight of build and only about five feet tall, she wore her gray hair in a braid rolled on top of her head, had wire rim glasses and wore black tie shoes. Typical dress of the day for the senior citizen, I guess.

She lived in the Hartford area as long as I can remember. She did live with my family for a while but preferred to live alone. Much of the time I can remember she lived in a two room apartment on the second floor on Vine Street in Hartford, furnished with a few family antiques and cooked her meals on a hot plate. She loved to play "Chinese checkers" and took great pride in winning although I can remember beating her on a few occasions much to her disappointment.

She was a very frugal person having limited funds which were quite small even by today's standards. She probably spent most of her money on postage stamps as you can probably tell from her material that I gave you. She was a former school teacher who devoted her later years to her Genealogy and corresponding with relatives all over the country, as well as making several trips to the library gathering information and writing it down longhand (printed), occasionally asking my sister Judith to type it for her. She always carried her cloth bag and would take the bus and come and visit, often bringing along the correspondence so my mother and our family could read it and feel a part of her work I guess.

I am sure she took great pride in her work and received much pleasure in gathering the information on others while trying to put the pieces together. I really think she felt she would accomplish this, not realizing the monumental task which you are now seeing to fruition, and one which we should be thankful for.

The strange part of all this is that for one who spent so much time gathering this information on others she was a private person to the end. It was her request that she be cremated and there be no "publicity" of her death. . . .

604. (Laura Mary[7], Seth A.[6], Allen[5], George[4], Luke[3], John[2], John[1])

Laura Mary Viets, daughter of Seth Allen and Mary Jane (Rowley) Viets, was born in West Suffield May 18, 1879. She married in South Windsor, September 28, 1907 Frederick M. Southergill, born May 3, 1875, son of Thomas and Elizabeth (Rockwell) Southergill. Mr. Southergill died May 28, 1917 and his widow died June 8, 1947. Children:

i. Elizabeth Viets Southergill, born April 12, 1910 in East Windsor Hill; married Lewis A. Kingsbury, born in Hartford May 25, 1903, son of Albert N. and Sarah B. (Leppens) Kingsbury. Mrs. Kingsbury died January 31, 1952. Mr. Kingsbury died August 12, 1961. Three children (Kingsbury). Their son, Charles Kingsbury, gave the data collected by H. Isabel Viets to DVS and much of it has been used in the preparation of this book.

ii. Rockwell Mills Southergill, born August 20, 1915; married November 30, 1939 Nelle Scavullo, born September 6, 1911.

688. (John Campbell[8], Robert B.[7], John M.[6], Botsford[5], Roger M.[4], Roger[3], John[2], John[1])

John Campbell "Peter" Viets, son of Robert Botsford and Helena Campbell (Hughson) Viets, was born September 11, 1921 in Ottawa, Canada. He was educated in Ashbury College in Ottawa and at Toronto University where he received his B.A. degree. He qualified as a lieutenant of infantry and in 1944 was made captain of an artillery regiment. His citation for his military service follows:

Captain John Campbell Viets, Military Cross, Royal Canadian Artillery

On April 23, 1945, Captain Viets, 6 Canadian Field Regiment, R.C.A., was acting as forward observation officer with "D" Company Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders of Canada who were attacking Kirchatten. The attack was successful, but at approximately 5 p.m. a strong counter-attack developed against the company position. Due to the thickness of the woods the enemy was soon in very close contact.

Captain Viets, due to mines, was unable to get his carrier forward of company headquarters. Even with using a remote control he was unable to obtain observation and at the same time remain in direct communication with his guns. He accordingly posted his assistant under cover of a house and boldly went forward past the leading infantry to a point of vantage. There, standing cooly under heavy enemy fire, he directed the fire of his guns on the attacking enemy, shouting his orders back to his assistant.

He controlled the fire of his guns with great skill and with a complete diseregard for his own safety, bringing the fire to within forty yards of his own position, though he himself was completely without cover. So accurate was his fire that the enemy was thoroughly disorganized and the counter-attack routed. The flanking battalion was then able to continue its advance and the larger moves of other formations proceeded unchecked.

This officer, both by his example of personal bravery, which was an inspiration to the infantry, and by the skillful use of his fire, was very largely personally responsible for the success of the local action with its consequent effect of bringing to a successful conclusion the brigade operation.

After his service he returned to Canada and entered Osgoode Law School in Toronto.

He married in Toronto, Ontario, August 5, 1949 Mary Elizabeth Johnston, born April 22, 1923 in Toronto, daughter of William and Elva Maude (Brown) Johnston. He died November 24, 1952 in Ottawa. Mrs. Viets married second Horatio Nelson Lay. Children:

Benoni Viets

From Simsbury, Connecticut: Births, Marriages & Deaths, Transcribed from the Town Records, Albert C. Bates, 1898, p. 42:

> Benoni the Son of Margret Willcocksun decd born december ye 7:1714-15 baptised November 6th 1715.

From "The Connecticut Willcocksons," George E. McCracken, The American Genealogist, Volume 59, No. 1, January 1983, p. 40:

Sergeant Samuel[2] Willcoxson, fourth son of William[1] Willcockson by his wife Margaret _____, was born at Stratford, Connecticut about 1640, and died at Simsbury, Connecticut, 12 March 1712/13, leaving by way of probate a document dated 31 March in the same year whereby the heirs of Samuel Willcoxson, namely the children of Samuel Willcoxson of the town of Simsbury, late deceased, intestate, Samuel Willcoxson, William Willcoxson, Joseph Willcoxson and Margaret Willcoxson, she signing by mark, appointed as distributors Thomas Holcomb, Samuel Case, John Pettebone, Samuel Pettebone and Joseph Case (C. W. Manwaring's Digest of Early Connecticut Probate, Hartford District 2:331), witnesses: Joseph Pettebone, Samuel Tuller and Joseph Strickland. On 6 April 1712 administration was granted sons Samuel, William and Joseph. On 18 Dec 1722, James Cornish and John Humphries appraised at 2 pounds the house owned by Sergeant Samuel Willcoxson deceased, since distributed to Margaret Willcoxson, daughter of deceased.

The aforesaid father, Samuel Willcoxson, married at an unknown date but by 1666, Hannah Rice, daughter of Richard Rice of Concord, Massachusetts, by his first wife Elizabeth _____. Hannah was still living in 1708 when her father mentioned her in his will but not living when her husband died in 1713. They were at Windsor by 1666 and he was a deputy to the General Court in 1689, 1694-1701, 1710-1712.

Issue:

i. Samuel, b. Windsor, 15 April 1666, d Simsbury, 13 Sept. 1713, shortly after his father. . . [gives marriage, issue, and details of distribution of his estate].
ii. William, d. Simsbury, 22 March 1732/3.
iii. Joseph, m. Simsbury, 29 April 1703, Abigail Thrall,. . . he is said to have d. Canton, 4 Dec. 1770, aet. 95.

iv. Margaret, d. unm. Simsbury, 21 Dec. 1714, perhaps in childbirth; gave birth to an illegitimate son Benoni Willcoxson, bapt. Simsbury, 7 Dec. 1714/15, d. there. 6 Nov. 1715. [This is an error! The first date, 7 December 1714/15, is his birthdate; the second date, 6 Nov. 1715, is a baptismal date.] On 6 March 1715/16 admin. was granted on her estate to her brother Joseph who said in his accounting that she had left no lawfull issue, strictly true, and the unlawful issue was then dead. [Not true.] On 8 Feb 1715/16 the court decided that the estate should descend to the illegitimate child whose previous death was not mentioned in the record, though it may have been told orally to the court. [He was still living!] The administrator, however, appealed, and there may be a paper at Hartford which will show what ultimately happened. [See next item.] If the child inherited his mother's estate, then the next of kin would have been his mother's brothers, as I dare say his father was unknown, and whatever estate he would have had [was] from his mother (see Manwaring 2:451). The giving of this name Benoni to the child suggests that his mother was then dead. Margaret had been admitted to Simsbury Church full communion on 18 Dec. 1705.

From Manwaring, A Digest of Early Connecticut Probate Records, vol. 2:

p. 45: Willcoxson, Margaret, Simsbury Invt. 78 pounds, 12 shillings, 2 pence. Taken 21 December 1714 by John Case, Samuel Pettebone and Andrew Robe.

Court Records, Page 9-6 March 1715-16: Joseph Willcoxson, Adms., exhibited account. Allowed. Joseph Willcoxson moved this court for a distribution of the estate to the brothers and sisters of the deceased, there being no lawful issue. [Emphasis mine - DVS.]

p. 11: 8 Feb. 1715/16: This court decided it as their opinion that in this case the said estate doth rightfully descend to the child of the deceased, though an illegitimate issue. Joseph Willcoxson appealed from this decree to the Superior Court 3 September next.

From American Given Names, George R. Stewart, New York: Oxford University Press, 1979:

Meaning of the name "Benoni" -

Hebrew. Means son of my sorrow. The name occurs only once in the Bible (Genesis 35:18) in the pathetic story of Rachel's death in childbirth. "As her soul was in departing. . . . she called his name Benoni." Apparently considering this too much a name of ill omen, the father, Jacob, changed the name to Benjamin.

From Viets Genealogy, p. 20:

In the Simsbury records reference is made to property that came to Benoni Viets from his grandfather, Sargent Wilcoxson. The farm of Benoni Viets extended from near Newgate Prison southward about one-third of a mile on both sides of the highway, the house, now gone, standing on the east side under the peak.

APPENDIX B.

Documentation of the following two people as descendants of Dr. John Viets has not been established. The fact that both were in Connecticut at an early date would seem to indicate that they are indeed of this line.

Sylvester Viets

Sylvester Viets was born February 11, 1815. His early life was spent around Westfield and Russell, Massachusetts, and one of these places may have been his birthplace. He married in Enfield, Christian Lucinda Parsons on September 15, 1841. At time of marriage Sylvester Viets is listed "of Russell, Massachusetts." [Allen, History of Enfield, Connecticut.] Mrs. Viets was born February 1, 1819, daughter of Asahel and Christian (Terry) Parsons of Enfield. She died in Troy, New York, September 20, 1890.

From the facts above and by a process of elimination of possible parents, one might conclude that Sylvester Viets is a late-born son of John and Lois (Phelps) Viets. [See No. 38.] John Viets supposedly moved to Rome, New York. His daughter Lois married William Brumley. There was a William Brumley, head of household in Rome, New York, in the 1830 census. The household also listed an older male and female who would fit the ages of John and Lois Viets, as well as a young male fitting the age of Sylvester. This is based on conjecture and no documentation has been found as yet.

When a young man Sylvester Viets removed to Hazardville where he manufactured gunpowder. In 1856 he went to Schaghticoke, New York, where he engaged in the same business. He died in Troy, New York, February 2, 1899. From the pen of his daughter, Ida Euphrasia Adams:

> He was a fine looking and a very smart business man. He should have been a doctor as he was an expert on burns and very successful in many other cases; always seemed to know just what to do. But he seemed to choose to be a manufacturer of powder and very successful.

Children, born in Hazardville, Connecticut:

i. Ellen Lucinda, born June 22, 1842; died October 26, 1892; married Sylvester Thompson who died before 1865. She was listed as a widow with a son, Charles, age 1 year, 9 months, living with her parents in the 1865 New York census. One son, Herbert E. Thompson, resided in Springfield, Massachusetts; has five daughters and several grandchildren.

ii. Ida Euphrasia, born November 1, 1845; died in Troy, New York, November 18, 1937. She married in 1870 Charles Adams, born September 23, 1844 in Troy. Three children (Adams).

iii. Homer Sylvester, born April 16, 1847 in Connecticut; died in Springfield, Massachusetts, July 24, 1933.

iv. Herbert A., born February 1, 1853; married November 7, 1878 Marian Williams, born March 4, 1854 in Nashua, New Hampshire, daughter of Charles and Eliza A. (Weston) Williams. Mr. Viets died in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, July 24, 1929 and was buried in Troy, New York. He was president of Fuller-Warren Company and was the H. A. Viets mentioned on page 190 of the Viets Genealogy. One daughter who married for her first husband, Harold Bowen, and second, George Barker. Two children: Harold and Dorothy Bowen. Resided Wayne, New Jersey.

These facts are from records sent to H. Isabel Viets by Ida Euphrasia (Viets) Adams, daughter of Sylvester Viets, and from Parsons, Parsons Family: Descendants of Cornet Joseph Parsons.

Benjamin Viets

Benjamin Viets of Lodi, Athens County, Ohio, was born between 1780 and 1790. An archive sheet in the Mormon library in Salt Lake City gives his place of birth as "Germany?" and his marriage to Lucy Kent, daughter of Andrew and Maria (Ketcham) Kent, as taking place in England. However, this sheet has many question marks on it and the information may not be reliable. He had a daughter born in Hartford, Connecticut, in 1804 which would lead one to believe that Benjamin is of the Dr. John Viets' line.

Benjamin Viets is listed in the 1830 and 1840 census of Athens County. It appears that he had a wife, two daughters, and a son (or grandson?) living in the household in 1830. There are marriage records in Athens County for a Sally Veits [sic] to Reuben J. King in 1830 and for an Eliza Veits [sic] to Rufus P. Cooley in 1823. Benjamin Viets sold property to Rufus Cooley in 1836. No further record of Reuben J. and Sally (Veits) King has been found.

Benjamin may well have been a son of Hezekiah Phelps Viets [see No. 36] as he fits the right time period, and his tie to Hartford would fit the circumstances also.

Children:

i. Eliza Ann, born May 28, 1804 in Hartford.

ii. Sally. Married in Athens County, Ohio, in 1830 to Reuben J. King.

The following is from a pedigree chart of Jess Bryan Coleman Jr. of San Diego, California [Athens County Historical Society, Athens, Ohio]. Efforts to contact Mr. Coleman were unsuccessful.

Eliza Ann Viets, daughter of Benjamin and Lucy (Kent) Viets, was born May 25, 1804 in Hartford, Connecticut. She married December 20, 1823 in Athens County, Ohio, Rufus P. Cooley. She died in Lodi, Athens County, April 26, 1874. Mr. Cooley died there May 14, 1852. [Bishop Cemetery, Lodi, Athens County, Ohio.]

Children:

i. Benjamin J. Cooley, born ca 1834; married January 11, 1859 Eliza Miles.
ii. Reuben Cooley, born ca 1836.
iii. Minerva Jane Cooley, born January 10, 1842 in Pomeroy, Meigs County, Ohio; married August 13, 1859 George Henry Coleman. She died December 6, 1911 in Bald Knob, White County, Arkansas.
iv. Mary Cooley, born ca 1846; married November 23, 1864, Richard Watts.

Excerpts from letters written by Roger Viets

From Isaiah Wilson, A Geography and History of the County of Digby, Nova Scotia, 1900. From a letter written September 20, 1796 to the secretary of the Missionary Society after having reached Digby:

> . . . my situation at Digby is very agreeable to me, the people show the greatest affection for me, and are universally and strongly attached to the British Constitution, and to his Majesty. But they have been for their loyalty stripped of their property, and although they have formerly been possessed in general of substantial estate, they are now reduced to extremely low circumstances.

From Manuscript file, Data Re: [Viets] Family of Simsbury - John; and Rev. Roger of Digby, Nova Scotia, Connecticut Historical Society Library, Hartford, Connecticut.

From letters sent from Digby, Nova Scotia, to his brother Abner Viets of Granby, Connecticut:

> 10 April 1795
> . . . Anna and Patty are both married. Anna to Joseph Williams [?], a Sailor. Patty to John Beyea the Name is pronounced B.A., Master of one of the King's Packet Boats that passes between this Place and St. John's. . . .
> 11 April 1797
>
> . . . Polly lives at St. John's in New Brunswick and has a Son about 2 years old. Anna lives near us in Digby and has a Daughter about 14 Months old. . . . I should be glad to hear that my Mother is living & well now in her 80th year. . . .
>
> 26 March 1807
> . . . I have met with a most severe Loss, which almost distracts me! It pleased God to take away my oldest Son Botsford in the Prime & Vigor of Life. He died 12 January of a violent Nervous Fevor. Tho this is perhaps as healthy Country as almost any in the World; yet I have lost a Wife, two Children and two Grandchildren since I came here. By the Death of Botsford I am left very desitute of Help . . . If your son comes, the sooner he comes in the Spring the better. About the second or third Week in April Vessels will be at New York from Digby, but if he goes to New York & finds no Vessel from Digby; he will find some bound to St. John's in New Brunswick or to Annapolis. Annapolis is 18 Miles from here. St. John's is about 40 Miles across the Bay of Fundy. If he comes to St. John's; let him immediately enquire for John Beyea his name sounds B.A. at the lower Cove St. John's. Betwixt St. John's & Digby there is a King's Packet goes once pr Week; Beyea is Master of one of the Packets & goes once every Fortnight. He married my Daughter Martha. Let Dan make known who he is, & he will meet with a kind reception; & he may come over to Digby with B.A. . . . Botsford has left many good Cloaths; . . . many Carpenters, Joiners & Shoemaker's Tools; which your son may use. . . . If your Son Dan is dead, or is unwilling to come; have you not another son that will come; & if not, has not Brother Luke or Seth a Son that will come. But I should rather have Your son than any. . . .

19 June 1809:

. . . As I grow very old; more than 71 years, & you are not young; And as We are both subject to Mortality; it is very necessary that We should come to a reckoning & sign the Reckoning the sooner the Better. . . . There is nobody in these Parts that I should be willing to trust with the Business of Settling our Accounts, except those who could not be spared from their Business here. My oldest son Botsford is dead. My other son Roger has the care of a Grammer School at St. John's in New Brunswick . . . My Son in Law who married Anna is not Trustworthy. My other Son in Law John Beyea, who married Patty is engaged in the King's Packet betwixt Digby & St. John's & could not lose his office for 500 pounds. . . . Relative to what my Nephew Roger Griswold owes me, I hope & trust it is well secured. . . . My Brother in Law Benjamin Buckingham has written to me. . . . P.S. Give my best Respects to our honor'd Mother; Sister Griswold, and my other Brothers & Sisters and all my Relations & Friends. And to all others, who enquire after me, especially my Brother Luke. I wish you would inform me how the church goes on, who is your Minister of the Church in Simsbury and Granby . . .

. . . This letter weighs but a little more than half an ounce, and it is a single piece of paper. The post office can demand of you for postage no more than 20 cents or 25 cents at most. If they say it weigh an ounce and demand a dollar postage, insist on seeing it weighed. Most of the postmasters in all countries are a little oppressive and not over honest.

28 December 1809

. . . Respecting Myself & Family. I feel the Infirmities & Pains of old Age coming fast upon me in my 72nd year of Age. You begin to grow old too. My Wife was never a very healthy, hearty Woman; but She is able yet to walk about & do some Work. Anna & Botsford have both been dead some years; Anna left 4 Children, one of whom is since dead - Botsford never was married - My Daughter Martha is married to John Beyea at St. John's across the Bay of Fundy about 40 Miles from Digby. She has 5 Children living & has lost one - My Son Roger is an Assistant Clergyman at St. John's & has a School there besides. Tis a Grammar School supported by the Province of New Brunswick. . . . Roger is married to Eliza Knutton a very worthy, good Young Woman, and has one Child a son about 6 or 8 months old. . . . Give my affectionate Respects to all my Relations & Friends, especially to my honored Mother who will be 92 years old if She live till the 10th March next . . .

A letter from Digby, Nova Scotia, to his wife, visiting in New York, 1st August 1806. This is to his second wife, Mercy and the step-mother of his children:

My Dear Wife:

I write to you often, not knowing whether any of my Letters will ever come to your hand. But the chief satisfaction I find is in writing to you. I wrote to you 2nd July by the Lord Sheffield; again 19th July by the Hibernia. To my Brother Abner Viets about the 14th July, hoping the Letter might meet you at Simsbury.

This Letter I intend to send by way of St. John's as there are no Vessels to sail from Digby for New York soon; I shall inclose this in a Letter to Bishop Moore or Revd. Mr. Beach at New York. I received a Line from Bishop Moore 30th June who said you were at his House & rcd. the 65 Dollars of him. I was glad to find that you were able to walk to Bishop Moore's. Mrs. Ray tells me that Patty Lewis was sick; and you would not leave New York 'till she had recovered. If so I fear you will remain 'till the Sickness comes on & probably will prove fatal to both you and Patty. Hetty wrote to you and to Patty inclosed in mine by the Lord Sheffield. Botsford said he would write to you but did not.

Should you be taken away by Death, which God forbid, I should, as to this World, be of all men nearly the most miserable; & my Family would be [illegible] & embarrased in this Country as I will explain to you, when I see you again. Should you be absent from Us one year from this Time, We should be in a worse condition than We were when you first came here. Hetty keeps steady at home, works hard and does the best she can; but what can such a girl do at the Head of such a Family, so many hired People and Visitors. She does the best she can & ought not lose her Reward.

As you went from home, sick, Weak, old & lame, had a long Passage, enough to kill an hearty Woman, and going into a sickly Place in the hottest of Weather and just as the tremendous yellow Fever is coming on, & having the fatigues of tending and nursing a sick Girl. All these things expose your precious Life so much as to give me constant Anxiety Day & Night, and grieve me more than my own Infirmities, which are neither few nor small.

My Cramp is a little easier, but I am attacked by the Rheumatism & Toothach etc. But do not give yourself so much concern for me as to spoil the Comfort of your Visit: But take all the Ease & Comfort you can; None of these Pains and Ailments put my Life in immediate Danger. All Matters considered; I do not think it would be for Patty Lewis's own Benefit or Comfort to return. The circumstances of our Family have Become such that We cannot pay so much attention to her or take such Care of her as her Friends & Relatives in the States I suppose can. This Country does not seem so healthy for her as for most others. She has no Relations in Digby but you; but I suppose has many in the States. I suppose She has some Property there. I do not say these Things from any Want of Friendship or Esteem for her: But I actually think She will do better in the States than here. There is little or no chance to get into good Business or to get a good Husband in this Place, but much better chance where she is.

I wrote of much in my former long Letters as leaves me little more to write. I know of none very sick here. Sarano Jones is married to a very Young Widow at Granville, which has almost broken the Heart of Mrs. Hughston & her Daughters.

There is such a Drought here as never was known in the memory of Man. Almost every Thing is scorched up. The mowing Ground suffers most. The Pastures have no Grass, & the Cattle can scarce live in the Woods. The Potatoes are going fast. People offer to sell their Cattle at half Price, a good cow for 3 pounds.

Roger has come home, with his Cloaths in Tatters, and few left. I have expended about 8 pounds for new Cloaths for him, & he wants almost as much more. Had you been here you would have saved some Pounds. Nancy Hecht & Jane Totten have been into the House but once each, & then staid but a few Minutes. Mrs. Wisal comes often, & often talks about you.

For 3 or 4 Weeks Things went on according to your Plan; but now they are falling into the same Way as they were before you came here exactly so or rather worse. I am confident you have that Regard for my Comfort, and for the Preservation of my Family and Property that you will make your Visit as short as you conveniently can. I should think 1 Week at New York going and 1 returning. One Week at Simsbury and 4 Weeks at Norwalk would be Sufficient. In 8 or 10 Weeks Visit you may see a great many Friends & say a great Deal to them.

Mrs. Ray has returned laden with Plunder. Like the Israelites She has spoiled the Egyptians.

Were I sure this Letter will come to your Sight I would draw it out 4 Times as long as it is. Since I began my Letter I hear the Sickness is very bad in New York. As you are detained there to [illegible] of poor Girl I fear you will be overtaken by the terrible [illegible]. This gives me the utmost Anxiety Day & Night. Alas! Alas! if you should be called away, what will become of me, & my poor Family! left without an Head & without a Guide!

Whatever else you forget; remember to get as many Garden Seeds as you can, especially Cucumber & Cabbage, and indeed all Sorts. New York is not the Place but the Country to get good Garden Seeds. Enquire for them at Norwalk, Stanford, Simsbury, etc. etc. I intend if I should live and you should return to sow treble the seeds in that garden that I have ever yet sown in one year; provided I can get garden seeds.

My earnest wish and constant Prayer is for your Welfare, both temporal & spiritual. I hope you make it your principal Concern to trust in God thro' Christ and be prepared for an happy future State which may God grant! Should I never see you again I heartily thank you for your innumerable Instances of goodness & extreme Kindness to me. Give my best Respects to all your Friends & Relatives. We live in clover at the highest Rate; Botsford will have it 2d; & Roger & Hetty are well pleased with it. We have a great Deal of Company. Mr. Norris has been here. Jack Taylor is here now. Some come to see Roger, some to see Hetty. Some to see me, etc. etc. Our Expense of living is double what it was when you were here.

Since I began this Letter, Botsford has cut his Wrist in the joint with a Chisel - Willoughby has run an old rusty Nail in his Foot; he behaves worse & worse - Hetty does the best She can; but what can such a young girl do with such a Family - Sulah Muir returned here last Sunday - David Rutherford last Monday, neither of them [with] any letter from you - David Rutherford called at Mr. Noah Jarvis and Nobody at Home - had had 4 Days Passage - You know where to direct to me, but I know not where to direct to you. I fear you have forgotten me & your other Digby Friends. Give my kindest Respects to all your Friends & mine. May God Bless & preserve you and them here and hereafter. I remain with all Gratitude & Affection your loving Husband, Roger Viets

To Mrs. Mercy Viets

P.S. Mr. Warwick & Mr. Wiswal are now canvassing for an Election for the Town of Digby. Mr. Warwick has the Start at present by 49 Majority; doubtless Warwick will gain the Election.

P.S. Botsford, Roger & Hetty all promised to write you. Hetty has written one to you & to Patty Lewis.

APPENDIX D.

From Person & Place, A Canadian Garland, Boston, G. K. Hall & Co., 1974, a poem written by Roger Viets, Digby, Nova Scotia, Canada:

Annapolis-Royal.

The King of Rivers, solemn, calm and slow;
Flows tow'rd the Sea, yet fearce is seen to flow;
On each fair Bank, the verdant Lands are seen,
In gayest Cloathings of perpetual Green:
On ev'ry Side, the Prospect brings to Sight
The Fields, the Flow'rs, and ev'ry fresh Delight;
His lovely Banks, most beauteously are grac'd With Nature's sweet Variety of Taste.
Herbs, Fruits and Grass, with intermingled Trees
The Prospect lengthen, and the Joys increase:
The lofty Mountains rise in ev'ry View,
Creation's Glory, and its Beauty too.
To higher Grounds, the raptur'd View extends,
Whilst in the Cloud-top'd Cliffs the Landscape ends.

Fair Scenes! to which, should Angels turn their Sight;
Angels might stand astonish'd with Delight.
Majestic Groves in ev'ry View arise,
And greet with Wonder the Beholder's Eyes.

In gently Windings, where this River glides,
And Herbage thick its Current almost hides;
Where sweet Meanders lead his pleasant Course,
Where Trees and Plants and Fruits themselves disclose;
Where never-fading Groves of fragrant Fir,
And beauteous Pine perfume the ambient Air;
The Air, at once, both Health and Fragrance yields, Like sweet Arabian or Elysian Fields.

As this delightful Stream glides tow'rd the Sea,
Thou Royal Settlement! he washes Thee;
Thou Village, blest of Heav'n, and dear to me.
Nam'd from a pious Sov'reign, now at Rest,
The Last of Stuart's Line, of Queens the best.

Amidst the rural Joys, the Town is seen,
Enclos'd with Woods and Hills, forever green:
The Streets, the Buildings, Gardens, all concert

To Please the Eye, to gratify the Heart.
But none of these so pleasing, or so fair,
As those bright Maidens, who inhabit there.

Your potent Charms, fair Nymphs, my Verse inspire,
Your Charms supply the chaste, poetic Fire.
Could these my Strains, but live, when I'm no more,
On future Fame's bright Wings, your Names should soar.

Where this romantic Village lifts her Head, Betwixt the Royal Port and humble Mead;
The decent Mansions, deck'd with mod'rate Cost,
Of Honest Thrift, and gen'rous Owners boast;
There Skill and Industry their Sons employ,
In Works of Peace, Integrity and Joy;
Their Lives in Social, Harmless Bliss, they spend,
Then to the Grave, in honor'd Age Descend:
The hoary Sire and aged Matron see Their prosp'rous Offspring, to the fourth Degree:
With Grief sincere, the blooming Offspring close Their Parent's Eyes, and pay their Debt of Woes;
Then haste to honest, joyous Marriage Bands,
A newborn Race is rear'd by careful Hands:
Thro' num'rous Ages thus they'll happy move
In active Bus'ness, and in chastest Love.

The Nymphs and Swains appear in Streets and Bowers,
As Morning fresh, as lovely as the Flowers,
As bright as Phoebus, Ruler of the Day, prudent as Pallas, and as Flora gay.

A Spire majestic rears its solemn Vane,
Where Praises, Pray'r and true Devotion reign;
Where Truth and Peace and Charity abound,
Where God is fought, and heav'nly Blessings found.
The gen'rous Flock reward their Pastor's Care,
His Pray'rs, his Wants, his Happiness they share.
Retir'd from wordly Care, from Noise and Strife,
In sacred Thoughts and Deeds, he spends his Life;
To mod'rate Bounds, his Wishes he confines,
All Views of Grandeur, Pow'r and Wealth resigns;
With Pomp and Pride can chearfully dispense, Dead to the World, and empty Joys of Sense.

The Symphony of heav'nly Song he hears,
Celestial Concord vibrates on his Ears,
Which emulates the Musics of the Spheres.
The Band of active Youths and Virgins fair,
Rank'd in due Order, by their Teacher's Care,

The Sight of all Beholders gratify,
Sweet to the Soul, and Pleasing to the Eye.

But when their Voices found, in Songs of Praise,
When they to God's high Throne their Anthems raise,
By those harmonious sounds such Rapture's giv'n,
Their loud Hosannas waft the Soul to Heav'n:
The fourfold Parts, in one bright Center meet,
To form the blessed Harmony complete.
Lov'd by the Good, esteemed by the Wise,
To gracious Heav'n, a pleasing Sacrifice.
Each Note, each Part, each Voice, each Word conspire T'inflame all pious Hearts with holy Fire;
Each One, in Fancy seems among the Throng
Of Angels, chanting Heav'ns eternal Song.

Hail Music, Foretaste of celestial Joy!
That always satiat'st, yet canst never cloy:
Each pure, refin'd, ecstatic Pleasure's thine, Thou rapt'rous Science! Harmony divine!

May each kind Wish of ev'ry virtuous Heart
Be giv'n to all, who teach, or learn thine Art:
May all the Wise, and all the Good unite,
With all the Habitants of Life and Light,
To treat the Sons of Music with Respect,
Their Progress to encourage and protect.
May each Musician, and Musician's Friend Attain to Hymns divine, which never end.

"In the life of almost every man, however low or humble his state, however obscure or private his station, are things which, could they be known would be useful, and were they well told, could be entertaining to the living.

"The child must be gratified in having on record the chief incidents of a parent's life. Friends, too, and acquaintances must be pleased with a memorial of transactions in which themselves, or their progenitors have been concerned.

"Such notices are of use, and should be encouraged for the sake of preserving a knowledge of family connections and genealogies."

Bishop Alexander Viets Griswold (1766-1843).
